Virginia Tech Plays in Collegiate Baseball's Best League

Virginia Tech AD Jim Weaver and ACC Commissioner John Swofford at the announcement that the Hokies would be joining the ACC.

THE TRADITION

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 56th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 109 national championships, including 57 in women's competition and 52 in men's. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 145 times in men's competition and 92 times in women's action.

The Wake Forest Demon Deacons captured the league's first baseball national title in 1954, the inaugural season of ACC baseball. The Miami Hurricanes, who joined the ACC for the 2004-05 campaign, have claimed four national titles (1982, 1985, 1999, 2001) over the past 27 years.

In 2008, the ACC produced another record season as it led all conferences by placing three teams in the College World Series. Each of those three representatives entered the NCAA Tournament as national seeds – Miami at No. 1, North Carolina at No. 2 and Florida State at No. 4.

In addition, the conference saw NC State, Georgia Tech and Virginia also make the NCAA Tournament field to give the ACC six total teams in postseason play. It marked the sixth time in ACC history that at least six of its teams received a bid to the national tournament.

Over the last 12 years, the current 12 ACC schools have combined for 78 NCAA Tournament appearances, winning 61.4 percent of their games (262-165) and taking 20 trips to the College World Series.

Overall, ACC teams won a record 265 nonconference games in 2008, while losing just 76, a winning percentage of .777. The ACC has posted a non-conference winning percentage of .600 or better each of the last 17 seasons. The league stands 4,178-1,636-20 in non-conference games since 1990.

The 2008 season marked the third year of division play for the ACC, as Florida State won its second straight Atlantic title and Miami captured the Coastal Division title for the first time since joining the conference. The 2008 ACC Championship, which was held at The Baseball Grounds of Jacksonville in Jacksonville, Fla., for fourth straight year, again featured a round-robin format.

Top-seeded Miami secured its first ACC Baseball Championship crown with an 8-4 win over Virginia in the May 25 finale. The five-day tournament featured three of the nation's top-four ranked teams in North Carolina, Miami and Florida State, but Virginia played the role of spoiler. The Cavaliers defeated North Carolina on the opening day, and then outlasted Florida State. But Miami, which swept through the tournament with three straight wins, didn't let the Cavaliers pull off the hat trick. The Hurricanes' Dave DiNatale was named the Baseball Championship MVP after a regular season in which Florida State's Buster Posey dominated most statistical categories en route to ACC Player of the Year honors and North Carolina's Alex White was voted ACC Pitcher of the Year.

The Championship attracted 55,970 fans to its seven sessions, marking the fourth straight season in which at least 55,000 fans had attended the event in Jacksonville. Session 6 on Saturday, May 24, which featured a matchup between Florida State and North Carolina, attracted a tournament-high of 12,872 fans.

FSU's Posey wound up as only the fourth player in ACC history to win the league's Triple Crown, leading the league in batting average, home runs and RBIs. He swept virtually every national honor, including the Dick Howser Trophy, the Johnny Bench Award, the Golden Spikes Award and the Brooks Wallace Award. Posey was one of five ACC players to be taken in the first round of the June Major League Baseball Draft and one of 54 to be chosen overall.

One of the most profound seasons for ACC baseball came in 2006, when the league established several records. It marked the first year of divisional play for the conference, as Clemson claimed the Atlantic Division title while North Carolina took home the Coastal Division crown. The league combined for a 255-86-1 record, setting what was then an ACC mark for non-conference victories in a single season. Not only did the ACC finish with the most wins (31) and the highest winning percentage (.674) among the 29 other conferences competing in the NCAA postseason in 2006, but the ACC also set a league record for the most teams (4) to make it to the CWS. With a 31-15 record, the ACC posted a winning percentage of .674, the thirdbest postseason showing in conference history. In addition, a new tournament attendance record was set at the 2006 ACC Championship as 73,251 fans attended the five-day event in Jacksonville.

The ACC has consistently infused Major League Baseball with talented players. The current 12 ACC schools have had 648 players selected in the MLB Draft since 1994, including 50 first-round picks. The conference's five student-athletes chosen in the first round in 2008 extended the ACC's streak of at least one player selected in the first round to 17 consecutive years.

The 2008 opening round saw three ACC players drafted among the first 12. Florida State's Posey went fifth overall to the San Francisco Giants, and the Cincinnati Reds made Miami first baseman Yonder Alonso the seventh selection. Miami second Wake Forest first baseman Allan Dykstra went 23rd overall to the San Diego Padres, and the Minnesota Twins made Miami pitcher Carlos Gutierrez the No. 27 pick.

The ACC has produced four No. 1 overall picks in North Carolina's B.J. Surhoff in 1985, Florida State's Paul Wilson in 1994, Clemson's Kris Benson in 1996 and Miami's Pat Burrell in 1998.

2007-08 IN REVIEW

The 2007-08 academic year saw league teams capturing four national team titles and 12 individual NCAA crowns. In all, the ACC has won 43 national team titles over the last 12 years. The ACC has won two or more NCAA titles in 26 of the past 28 years.

A total of 140 ACC teams placed in NCAA post-season competition in 2007-08. League teams compiled a 119-69 (.633) mark against non-conference opponents in NCAA championship competition. In addition, the ACC had 154 student-athletes earn first team All-America honors this past year. Overall, the league had 258 first, second or third team All-Americans. In addition, the ACC produced 10 national Players of the Year and five national Coach of the Year honorees.

THE CHAMPIONSHIPS

The conference will conduct championship competition in 25 sports during the 2008-09 academic year - 12 for men and 13 for women.

The first ACC championship was held in swimming on February 25, 1954. The conference did not conduct championships in cross country, wrestling or tennis during the first year.

The 12 sports for men include football, cross country, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, wrestling, baseball, tennis, golf and lacrosse. Fencing, which was started in 1971, was discontinued in 1981.

Women's sports were initiated in 1977 with the first championship meet being held in tennis at Wake Forest University. Championships for women are currently conducted in cross country, field hockey, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, tennis, golf, lacrosse, softball and rowing with volleyball deciding its champion by regular season play.

A HISTORY

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members - Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest - drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Suggestions from fans for the name of the new conference appeared in the region's newspapers prior to the meeting in Raleigh. Some of the names suggested were: Dixie, Mid South, Mid Atlantic, East Coast, Seaboard, Colonial, Tobacco, Blue-Gray, Piedmont, Southern Seven and the Shoreline.

Duke's Eddie Cameron recommended that the name of the conference be the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the motion was passed unanimously. The meeting concluded with each member institution assessed $200.00 to pay for conference expenses.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first, and only, withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation.

The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when the Georgia Institute of Technology was admitted. The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964. The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State University. The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of the University of Miami and Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. On October 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league's 12th member starting July 1, 2005.

Durham Bulls Athletic Park to host tournament May 20-24, 2009

Tickets to the 2009 ACC Baseball Championship at Durham Bulls Athletic Park in Durham, N.C., are now on sale.

The 2009 tournament is scheduled for May 20-24 at the 10,000-seat home of the minor league Durham Bulls, the Triple-A affiliate of the Tampa Bay Rays. Built at an initial cost of $16 million, Durham Bulls Athletic Park opened in 1995 and was designed by HOK Sport, whose many projects include Baltimore's Oriole Park at Camden Yards, Cleveland's Jacobs Field, Colorado's Coors Field and the Carolina Panthers' Bank of America Stadium.

Over the course of the week, eight schools will compete in round-robin format for the ACC's automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament. The top two teams in both the Atlantic and Coastal divisions will qualify for the ACC's tournament, along with the next four teams with the best conference winning percentage.

To order tickets to the ACC Baseball Championship, call (919) 956-BULL.

Coming in 2010: Fenway Park!!!

After a one-year stop in Durham, the ACC will take its 2010 conference tournament north to historic Fenway Park in Boston, home of the 2004 and 2007 World Series-champion Red Sox.

English Field

Scenic English Field continues to provide Virginia Tech with a first-class campus setting for college baseball, day or night. The field, which was officially dedicated during a special ceremony on April 8, 1989, is named for the late E.R. 'Red' English and his wife, Ruth, who provided financial support for construction of the field.

Located at the intersection of Rt. 314 and Duckpond Drive, English Field features 1,033 permanent chair-back seats in its concrete stands. The seats were made possible through a contribution by an anonymous donor. The stands also include easy-access handicapped sections, which are located at the top of the stands on each side of the center section.

In the summer of 2008, the terracing of the hill along the third base/left field line was completed to provide fans with a new, unique and comfortable way to take in the action. When added to the permanent seats in the grandstand, the new terracing allows for well over 3,000 fans to be accommodated at any given time. The terracing includes a sloping, paved walkway to allow for wheelchair access and easy navigation.

The terracing had other effects as well, as it required the fencing down the left field foul line to be realigned and the bullpens to be re-done. The right field line was done as well to keep things symmetrical, and as a result, all of English Field's fencing, including the outfield wall and the backstop wall, is padded in a forest green color much like one would see at many major league parks.

A completely new drainage system was installed during fall 2005, along with a new eight-foot wooden outfield fence and a new net backstop behind the plate. The previous spring, a new scoreboard and message center were added along with additional landscaping and a concrete patio behind the stands.

Prior to the 2004 season, a new lighting system was installed. The Hokies played their first baseball game under the lights in Blacksburg on April 28 of that year, defeating VMI, 8-0.

A permanent press box was completed in January 1997. The two-story building located at the top of the stands behind home plate provides a working area for game operations workers and media, as well as two broadcast booths. It also houses a concession stand and restrooms, and a brand-new sound system that was installed in 2008.

The field, which was constructed by the S. Lewis Lionberger Company, has dimensions of 330 feet down the lines, 375 feet in the power alleys and 400 feet to center field. The natural grass surface is composed of a mixture of rye and bluegrass.

Other features include spacious dugouts faced with Hokie Stone, bullpens that are located near each dugout and a practice hitting cage along the right field line. Security fencing was added in January 2003. The landscaping also allows for further expansion of the facilities as needed, as evidenced by the renovations that got underway in 2008 and that continue with the new indoor hitting facility.

E.R. English, a native of Altavista, Va., played as an offensive and defensive guard on Virginia Tech football teams from 1930-33 and graduated from Virginia Tech in 1934. English contributed to Tech athletics for over 50 years and was one of the founders of The Student Aid Association in 1949. He served as president of that organization two of its first three years. English received the most outstanding alumni award at Tech in 1984.

Through a generous gift from alumnus George Sampson, the home team dugout was named for long-time Tech baseball coach G.F. 'Red' Laird during a ceremony on April 12, 1991. Laird recruited and coached Sampson at Tech.

The Hokies opened play at their new home with a 7-2 victory against George Mason University on March 22, 1989, and went on to post a 17-7 home record during their first season in the facility. Heading into the 2009 season, Tech's 20-year mark at English Field is 325 wins, 167 losses and three ties.

Prior to the opening of English Field, Tech played its home baseball games at Tech Park, where it compiled a 431-122-1 record over 34 seasons.

English Field's makeover continues to improve atmosphere for Tech baseball

As a part of Virginia Tech's ongoing commitment to the improvement of its athletics facilities, ground was broken in December of 2008 on a new indoor hitting and pitching facility that will allow Tech baseball players to work on any aspect of their game at any time of the year.

"I fight for facility enhancement when it comes to the development of our team," head coach Pete Hughes said of the new building. "Three years ago, no one was even mentioning the idea of a hitting facility, so that tells you where we are as a program and where we're headed in the eyes of our administration; it's purely invested in the development of our players. Our administration invested on that premise alone, and as a baseball coach, that's all you want – the support from your administration when it comes to the development of your players. That's exactly what that hitting building represents."

The new facility, which will be about 8,000 square feet, is being built beyond the left field fence near Rector Field House and is expected to be ready for use by the start of the 2009 fall practice season. The top floor, which is where the batting and pitching areas will be housed, will be level with Rector and will have steps leading down to the field level. It will include three areas for hitting, including retractable batting cages, and two areas for pitching. The bottom level of the building will be built into the hill and will be a storage area for field maintenance equipment.

ENGLISH BALL STRIKE OUT AT BAT 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 R H E HUKIES DO D HUKIES D HUKI

The construction of the hitting building comes on the heels of English Field's most recent project, the terracing of the grass-covered hill that runs down the third base/left field line. The hill had long been a favorite of Tech fans who wished to spread out and relax while watching the Hokies, but the renovation has made it more comfortable and accessible. The terrace looks much like one would see in an outdoor amphitheatre and features a series of steps/seating areas constructed with VERSA-LOK walls and sod-type pads. There is about seven feet of space between each terrace, so there is plenty of room to put blankets down and for children to play.

"I think it's awesome; it's just what we had in mind," Hughes said of the terracing. "It caters to our clientele, which is families and the student body. Rather than going the route of 2,500 metal bleachers, we met two needs – we created more seating and we created a better venue. Very few projects come out better than what you had in

At right is an artist's rendering of the exterior of what Tech's new hitting and pitching building will look like. Below is a shot from the recently completed terraced-seating area at English Field. mind, but that's what happened with the terracing. They did an unbelievable job. It is as unique as any other facility in college baseball."

Coinciding with the terracing project was the realignment of the left and right field foul line fences. Both were cut in tighter to the playing field, significantly reducing the foul territory in the outfield. This change not only provides a new element to the play on the field, but it also allows the terraces to get a little closer to the action, both increasing room for attendance and giving fans a new and unique viewpoint from which to watch the game. This renovation also included the addition of new bullpens.

"I can't emphasize enough how important the changes to our facility and the investment in our program has been," Hughes said. "It sends a great message of commitment. We're gradually becoming a player in the ACC in every single sport, and I think that's what [Tech athletics director] Jim Weaver has in mind for us."

After Paying Dues in 2008, Young Hokies Return in 2009 Looking to Reap the Rewards

Head coach Pete Hughes and his staff head into the 2009 baseball season a lot more confident in the Hokies' abilities than at this point a year ago. Whereas last season's roster possessed boatloads of talent but not much certainty, the new campaign starts with that gap not quite so wide. The Hokies have overhauled their roster over the past two years and 2008 served as a way to evaluate all of that newfound talent. Now that players have carved out roles for themselves, 2009 looks to be an instrumental year in turning a slumping program back into the proud winner it once was. Here's a look at each of the positional areas:

INFIELDERS

To see just how much the Tech program has changed, simply take a look at the infield – not one person from the anticipated regular lineup was even on the roster in 2007. Four Hokies who will definitely see plenty of time on the field include redshirt senior Ty Hohman, redshirt sophomore Michael Seaborn, and true sophomores Tony Balisteri and Austin Wates.

The key to the whole operation will be the play of Balisteri at shortstop. He started 32 games in that spot a year ago and had the up-and-down season that one would expect from a freshman, both at the plate and with the glove.

"Tony is our most athletic infielder," Hughes said. "He makes plays that no one else on our team can make, but he needs to make the routine play. And he needs a nice, consistent approach at the plate where he puts the ball in play more often. If he can do that, our infield will be really solid."

The coaches are really hoping Balisteri can lock himself in at short and be consistent from day-to-day, simply because that allows them to move Hohman around to wherever he is needed. Hohman, a second-year transfer whose first season as a Hokie was cut short by a facial injury, is as reliable as it gets at any of the four infield positions, including first.

"Tyler has been so steady," Hughes said. "I feel comfortable putting him anywhere in the infield. We can use him as a swing guy if one of those others isn't playing consistently."

The others include Wates at second and Seaborn at third. Both had impressive offensive seasons as freshmen, but needed to tighten things up defensively, and that seems to have been taken care of in the fall.

First base will be a by-committee situation after losing stalwart Sean O'Brien to graduation. If Balisteri gets comfortable at short, Hohman could play first. It could be true freshman Ronnie Shaban, a versatile two-way guy who is also able to play second, third or short, or it could be the 6-foot-6 Matt Blow, who spent much of his time last year as a designated hitter. It could even be catcher Anthony Sosnoskie, who worked at first in the fall as a means of finding a way to keep his bat in the lineup when he gets a day off from behind the plate. Basically, it looks like whichever extra infielder is hitting the best is going to be the one manning first.

Other players expected to add depth to the infield include redshirt sophomore Brandon Lower and redshirt freshman Matt Shoemaker.

OUTFIELDERS

Hughes isn't fretting about the outfield situation in 2009, and that probably has something to do with the fact that he has six players to put out there in any combination, while being able to feel good about how they'll perform.

"That's our most competitive position on the team," Hughes said. "Any one of those six guys can start for us and I wouldn't be worried. I feel really good about our chances to win with any of those guys out there. Competition is healthy on teams like ours where we are trying to change a losing mindset and get onto the ACC landscape."

Those six players include seniors Klint Reed and Sean Ryan, redshirt junior Steve Domecus, juniors Steve Bumbry and Mike Kaminski, and redshirt freshman Buddy Sosnoskie. Though all six will contribute, the opening day starters figure to be Domecus in left, Ryan in center and Sosnoskie in right.

Redshirt sophomore Michael Seaborn expects to be a source of power in the lineup and a reliable defender at second or third base.

Domecus comes to Blacksburg after one season at Moorpark College in California, where he played after spending his freshman year at UC Santa Barbara. He's a versatile athlete who can hit and run, and he's good enough at catcher that he will regularly spell Anthony Sosnoskie behind the plate. But because of his well-rounded game (he was drafted by the White Sox last summer), he figures to see a lot of time in left.

Ryan started nearly every game in center a year ago and is likely to do so again. He is one of the better defenders in the ACC and has greatly improved his offensive game, hitting .305 in 2008. He will also look to be a force on the base paths by attempting more steals now that his once-ailing hip is completely healthy.

Buddy Sosnoskie was expected to contribute a great deal last year as a two-way player, but shoulder surgery delayed his Hokie debut until this season. He won't factor in on the mound in 2009, but he should see a great deal of time in the lineup because of his offensive talents and his potential to be a leadoff hitter.

While those three players might lead the pack at the start of the season, don't count out the other three.

"Kaminski, Reed and Bumbry will be breathing down their necks to get into the lineup either every day or in a platoon situation," Hughes said. "We have some options if Domecus catches – we can slide another outfielder in there right away."

Reed started 38 games in right last year and should see an upswing in production now that he has made the adjustment to Tech after playing his first two years for VMI. Bumbry has seen extensive time at all three outfield positions during his two seasons in Blacksburg, and Kaminski is a promising power and speed threat who arrives with two years of eligibility following two seasons at Cuesta Community College in California.

Other players who could fill in if needed include senior Luke Padgett, redshirt freshman Mickey White and true freshman Andrew Rash. Redshirt freshman Buddy Sosnoskie will be a regular in the batting order this season after missing last year with a shoulder injury.

CATCHERS

The Hokies will have three capable catchers at their disposal in 2009, and it starts with junior Anthony Sosnoskie, who has steadily improved since splitting time as a freshman.

He played in all 45 games in 2008 before missing the final 10 contests with a broken cheekbone, and he finished among the team leaders in many offensive categories. He followed that up with a brilliant summer, finishing as the runner-up for MVP honors of the Southern Collegiate League. Hughes thinks that production can go even higher if he gets some rest this season.

"I'd like to rest Anthony a couple of times per week," Hughes said. "We asked him to do a lot last year. It's hard to play every day at that position and still maximize your offensive abilities. It wears you out."

Spelling Sosnoskie, who will likely serve as the first baseman or the designated hitter when not catching, will be Domecus and sophomore Chris Kay. Domecus, who will play left field as well, is very athletic behind the plate for his size (6-4, 220 pounds) and could probably start every day if not for Sosnoskie's presence.

Kay, a former Georgia state class 5A player of the year, will also see some time behind the plate. Not much was known of Kay's ability until Sosnoskie went down with the injury last year, but he started the season's final 10 games and performed rather impressively. He proved that he could handle the duties of playing in the ACC as a true freshman and that should bode well for some opportunities in 2009.

"I think catcher is our most skilled position right now," Hughes said. "We have three capable guys, and that's been a major area of concern for us the last two years. All three of them can catch every day at the ACC level. It's good to have a lot of talent at that position."

DESIGNATED HITTERS

The designated hitting situation will be a lot like what is going on at first base – whomever is swinging the bat well is going to play.

"We won't have a typical DH - a guy who plays there just because he doesn't have a position," Hughes said. "I try to avoid recruiting those players. Whoever DH's for us is going to be a good enough athlete to play in the field as well, but it just so happens that because of numbers, that's how they get their bat in the lineup. It's going to be whoever can hit the most and bring some energy."

So who fills that role? It could be whoever the odd man out in the infield is that day, any one of the six outfielders who is riding a hot streak, Anthony Sosnoskie when he's not catching, Blow, or even redshirt freshman pitcher Marc Zecchino. While rehabbing his elbow from the Tommy John surgery that caused him to miss last season, Zecchino tried his hand at swinging the bat in the fall and did such a good job that he could be the DH once in a while. Kay is another option in case he's not getting enough cuts with all of the catching depth this year.

STARTING PITCHERS

While the Hokies' team ERA in 2008 was too high for their liking, the season proved to be extremely beneficial because it allowed a lot of pitchers to work through their struggles and find a role that is best suited for them.

"We had so many question marks last year with freshmen because you don't know how they are going to react," Hughes said. "Now I know what we're getting, and it's better than what we saw last year. We have a better grasp of what our guys are capable of and we like that."

The most obvious result of last year's growing pains is that two-thirds of the 2009 weekend starting rotation spent much of last season coming out of the bullpen. Redshirt senior Rhett Ballard and sophomore Justin Wright figure to be options No. 1 and 2 against ACC foes this year after each smoothly made the transition from reliever to starter a season ago.

Ballard set a Tech record for relief appearances with 34 in 2007 and was on his way to doing it again last year with 19 before becoming a starter in early April. While he didn't earn the wins to prove it, the 6-6 submariner became the Hokies' most valuable pitcher because of his ability to work deep into games, let alone the fact that he led the team in strikeouts with 74.

"I think Rhett's gone under the radar around the league," Hughes said. "I don't think people appreciate what he does, but we sure do. He will pitch on Friday nights because he can handle it, he's going to extend the game and it helps our bullpen for the rest of the series."

The left-handed Wright was almost an afterthought before the 2008 campaign but wound up as one of the team's biggest surprises. He was so successful out of the bullpen in 17 relief appearances that the coaches tried his hand at starting against VCU in early April. Though he only threw 2.1 innings in that game, his workload steadily increased until he went the distance in an upset of No. 1 Miami in May.

Joining Ballard and Wright in the weekend rotation will likely be Sean McDermott, a lefthanded sophomore who took his lumps in 16 appearances (seven starts) as a freshman. His struggles were never a matter of talent or mentality, but rather that he had never thrown so much during his days in the wintery northeast and he was simply running out of gas.

Junior Josh Wymer and freshmen Mathew Price and Luke Erickson will be the main candidates for the mid-week starting roles, pitching for the Hokies in games that are just as important as the ones that come on weekends against ACC competition. "I don't want to undersell those mid-week starting jobs," Hughes said. "We're not at a point to talk about preferential wins – winning on any day is important for our program right now. First of all, we need to win on Tuesdays and Wednesdays if we want to be considered for at-large bids to the national tournament, which is our ultimate goal. And second of all, it builds confidence and you feel good heading into the weekend after having won on Tuesday and Wednesday. Those are going to be really valuable spots for guys to win so they can get us going and get Ws on our record."

Wymer was actually the Hokies' opening day starter in 2008 and ended up leading the staff with five wins, while Price, a 34th round draftee of the Atlanta Braves, and Erickson, a talented lefty from Richmond, Va., possess great potential.

"When you have a program with depth and competitiveness, those mid-week starting jobs are auditions to bump somebody out of a weekend job," Hughes said. "I want kids who are starting in the middle of the week to try to prove me wrong and to show me that they belong pitching on the weekends. I'll be curious to see if those young guys have the competitive spirit to do that."

RELIEF PITCHERS

The Hokie who made the biggest improvement in the offseason was 6-5 right-hander Jesse Hahn, and he also represents the biggest change in the pitching staff heading into the 2009 campaign. Hahn started a team-high nine games in 2008, but his stuff has become so electric that the Hokies intend on using him as a lights-out closer this season.

"The age-old question is what do you do with that arm?" Hughes said of Hahn. "Do you start him once a week? Or do you roll the dice with him as a closer and run the risk of not getting to a save situation? We think our program is better now to the point where we are going to be in save situations. We couldn't do that last year, and that's why Rhett became a starter. It's not written in stone, but I think we're good enough with enough depth to get to save situations this year."

But as Hughes alluded to, there is no reason to have a dominant closer if you don't have the middle relief to reach him when you need to. That's where pitchers like juniors Ben Rowen, Kyle Cichy and Rob Whitley, redshirt sophomore Brandon Fisher, and even Wymer factor in.

"Those guys are going to be the most valuable part of our team," Hughes said. "They're going to have to bridge the gap from our starters to our closer. The middle relievers have to know their job and come in and get it done every time we ask them to. They have to be consistent and pound the zone."

Also adding depth out of the bullpen will be redshirt junior Dave Zappacosta, redshirt sophomore Danny Farris and freshman Clark Labitan. Zecchino could contribute when he becomes 100 percent healthy, as could Shaban when he is not serving in another role. Sophomore Jake Peeling will likely sit out the year as he rehabs from shoulder surgery.

From the Virginia Tech athletics department's side of things, the March 18th baseball exhibition with the New York Yankees in Blacksburg was, to say the least, a challenge.

There were months of planning, preparations and brainstorming. Tough decisions were made. Hours were spent credentialing media, staffing security, and getting English Field ready for the most famous visitors it will ever see. There were countless jobs to be done, and at times, it seemed as if the actual game would never arrive.

But early on in the process, Tech head coach Pete Hughes said something that kept it all in perspective.

"With all the meetings and interviews and work that goes into an event as big as this," he said. "It's easy to forget what we're actually doing, and we can't let that happen."

What the Hokies were doing was playing host to the most recognizable sports franchise in the world - the NEW YORK YANKEES. And it wasn't just for kicks - the Yankees organization was honoring a classy commitment made in May of 2007 to do whatever it could to help the Blacksburg community's ongoing healing process from the campus tragedy of April 16, 2007.

And the day went off with hardly a hitch. Over 100 members of the media were in town to chronicle one of the most unique events in Tech or Yankee history, one in which 5,311 fans crammed into English Field for a day of remembrance of what was, and for a celebration of what is yet to come.

In this day and age, there are so many instances in sports where the actual game is an afterthought. With college bowl games and their week-long hoopla, the NBA and its mid-game entertainment, and the NFL and its sponsorships and advertisements, often times the reason for all of it - what goes on between the lines - becomes secondary.

But on March 18th in Blacksburg, that couldn't have been more false. The Yankees decided to honor Tech's fallen and connect with Tech's future by doing what they do best - playing the game of baseball. What happened at English Field that day was not just an 11-0 victory by the Yankees, but a special moment shared between grown men who've realized their dreams, young men who still have a chance to reach theirs, and thousands of fans who got to witness it while imagining theirs.

A DAY TO REMEMBER

2008 Review

A 2008 TIMELINE OF HIGHLIGHTS

February 23: Virginia Tech began its 115th season of play by defeating Pittsburgh, 7-3, in a tournament held on Coastal Carolina's campus, pushing its opening day record to 58-55-2. Of the 21 new faces on Tech's roster, five saw action in the game, including starting pitcher Josh Wymer.

March 18: The Hokies played host to the New York Yankees in an exhibition for the ages. See the spread on pages 10-11 for more on this special day.

March 25: The Hokies' bats exploded in emphatic fashion at James Madison, as they recorded a season-high 19 hits, 18 runs and 17 RBIs to win 18-11.

March 28: Though the Hokies lost 10-1 to Virginia, senior Jose Cueto tied an ACC and Tech single-game record by hitting two triples.

April 4: Tech won its first ACC game of the season over Maryland thanks to three home runs by Sean O'Brien. The redshirt senior went yard in three consecutive at-bats – the last two of which gave Tech a lead, including the final 8-7 margin – to become the first Hokie to hit three dingers in a game since 2002.

April 11: In just his second start since 2006, pitcher Rhett Ballard tossed the first of Tech's two complete games on the year by striking out a then career-high nine batters in a 7-3 win at Wake Forest.

April 12: It was a game of firsts for the Hokies in Winston-Salem, as they defeated Wake Forest 13-4 behind freshman Tony Balisteri's career-high three hits and first collegiate home run. After winning game one against the Demon Deacons the previous day, the 13-4 win gave Tech its first ACC series win since March 11 of 2007, and it was the first time Tech had ever claimed the first two games of an ACC set. The 13 runs tied for the most ever scored by Tech in an ACC game, and the nine-run advantage proved to be the largest margin of victory for Tech in ACC play.

April 16: Playing on the one-year anniversary of the campus tragedy in which 32 people were murdered, the Hokies banged out 16 hits, while limiting Liberty to just four, to record an 11-1 victory in Lynchburg, Va. Liberty paid tribute to the victims in a classy gesture before the game, but was limited to just five base runners by Tech's staff. In fact, Tech retired 19 of the last 20 Liberty batters, including 13 in a row at one point.

May 4: Ballard struck out a Tech season-high 11 batters in just six innings against Presbyterian in game one of a doubleheader, a number that topped his career high from April 11.

May 7: Freshman Austin Wates tied Cueto's record from March 28 with two triples to give him a total of six on the year, a mark that led the ACC at season's end. The six triples tied for the third most hit by a Hokie in a single season.

May 10: The Hokies stunned No. 1-ranked Miami, 7-6, in the first game of a doubleheader to record their second victory over a top-ranked team in three seasons (Florida State in 2006). Freshman pitcher Justin Wright was the story of the game, as he struck out a career-high seven batters in going the distance to toss his first complete game.

May 17: Needing a victory to equal their highest ACC win total since joining the league and to better their winning percentage from 2007, the Hokies fell to Duke, 7-5, in the season finale to finish with a 23-32 record. Sean Ryan hit his first career home run.

Third-year head coach Pete Hughes looks back on the 2008 season

"Although they're not the numbers we want yet, our pitching numbers were better. Our hitting numbers were better and our strikeouts were down. Looking at our philosophies on the game, the program and how it should be production-wise – we've started to improve in the areas where a championship baseball team is supposed to. We're growing.

"We had 17 or 18 guys who played in their first Division I game last year, and they did it in the ACC. In some ways, I consider last year my first year. We inherited a team with 10 seniors and I only got a chance to bring in one guy, so I look at last year as the first year of our 'program.' And that's not to take anything away from 2007 and the people who were involved in it because they were great kids, but I'd rather judge things on the 21 new guys we brought in after a full year of recruiting.

"We didn't restock the roster by going the junior college route; we did it by going the long-term, developmental route. By doing so, you take steps back to move forward, and that's what we're doing. There were a ton of instances where we lost so many close games last year, and that's due to inexperience and youth. The best thing about that is all of those new guys are a year older, they've been in the fire and made their mistakes, they know what's expected of them and they know what atmosphere they're playing in now.

"Because of that, I think they're going to thrive this year. I look at last year as an unbelievably beneficial year for us because of all of those kids getting the experience needed to become a winning team. We sacrificed and paid the dues last year – now those kids need to start reaping the benefits of playing young in the best league in the country."

Meet the Coaching Staff

Pete Hughes took over the reigns of the Virginia Tech baseball program in the summer of 2006, following the retirement of Hall of Fame coach Chuck Hartman after 28 years at Tech and 47 years as a head coach. Hughes has earned a reputation for producing results on the field and in the classroom during his 12 years as a head coach on the collegiate level, and two seasons into his Blacksburg tenure, that reputation is proving to be true. With Hughes and his staff having rebuilt the roster through tireless recruiting efforts, Hughes appears to have the Hokies poised to post their best record since joining the ACC.

"I am pleased and proud that we have been able to attract an outstanding young head coach to follow one of the winningest coaches in NCAA history," said Jim Weaver, Tech director of athletics, when announcing Hughes' arrival. "Pete Hughes is familiar with the Atlantic Coast Conference and knows Virginia Tech, having competed against us in recent years in both the BIG EAST and the ACC. He also knows that we want to be a nationally competitive baseball program. I believe Coach Hughes is the right person for Virginia Tech at this moment in time."

Before arriving at Tech, Hughes, 41, spent the previous eight seasons as the head coach at Boston College, where he compiled a 250-181-2 record. He also was the head coach at Trinity University in Texas for two seasons (1997-98), guiding the Tigers to a 52-30 mark.

Prior to Hughes' arrival, Boston College averaged 13 wins a season over 35 years. During their eight seasons under Hughes, the Eagles averaged 31 wins per year. In 2005, he led BC to a school record 37 wins and his squad was named the Division I New England Baseball Team of the Year.

During his first two seasons at Boston College,

Hughes guided his teams to back-to-back singleseason school marks for win improvements (nine). He took over a team that finished 17-23-1 during the 1998 season and coached it to a 26-21-1 record in 1999. The following season, the Eagles posted a 35-20 record and made just their second-ever appearance in the BIG EAST Tournament.

Hughes was named BIG EAST, New England and ABCA/Diamond Division I Northeast Region Coach of the Year following the 2000 season. He also earned BIG EAST Conference Coach of the Year honors in 2002 and was the New England Coach of the Year again in 2005. Hughes took the Eagles to the BIG EAST Tournament a total of five times in seven seasons.

In 2006, Boston College posted a 28-25-1 record during its first year of Atlantic Coast Conference competition and finished fourth in the Atlantic Division. Among the Eagles' ACC victories were three wins against the Hokies in Blacksburg, along with two wins versus Georgia Tech and a victory against Clemson, both of which went on to participate in the 2006 NCAA College World Series.

Thirty-one players (plus VT's Warren Schaeffer) who were coached or recruited by Hughes at BC have been drafted or signed pro contracts, and four have received All-American honors. Pitcher Chris Lambert was selected in the first round of the Major League Baseball Draft by the St. Louis Cardinals in 2004, becoming the first-ever Boston College player to be selected in the opening round. He made his major-league debut with Detroit in 2008. Twentyeight of those 32 players were undrafted out of high school, a further testament to his commitment to developing and helping players reach their full potential.

Even more impressive was the Eagles' academic success under Hughes. During his eight seasons at Boston College, the baseball program had a 100 percent graduation rate.

At Trinity University (Texas), Hughes inherited a team that had averaged 11 wins per season in each of the previous 17 years. In just two years with the program, Trinity averaged 26 victories and won 63 percent of its games under Hughes, setting the school record for wins (33) and earning a regular season conference championship during his second and final season in 1998. Hughes began his coaching career at Hamilton College in New York in 1990-91 and found himself torn between football and baseball. During his year at Hamilton, he served as an assistant in football and held the top assistant and recruiting coordinator jobs for baseball. He continued his dual-sport coaching roles in the very same capacities at Northeastern University in Boston from fall 1991 through spring 1996. When he started his stint with the Huskies, he was the youngest full-time assistant coach in the Division I-AA football ranks, but when he left, he was headed to the state of Texas to be a college baseball head coach.

As a player, the Brockton, Mass., native was a four-year standout as a third baseman on the diamond and a four-year starter at quarterback on the gridiron at Davidson College (1986-90). Hughes was captain of the baseball team as a senior in 1990 and graduated that year with a bachelor of arts in sociology/anthropology.

Hughes and his wife Debby have five children, sons Thomas, 12, Hal, 10, Dominic, 8, and PJ, 4, and a daughter Grace, 6.

Pete Hughes On ...

Coaching Philosophy

"My goal is to never get out-competed or out-worked, and to be very aggressive and force the action no matter where we are playing or who we are playing. That's always been my style and I think kids who have bought into that mindset have reached their potential and then some."

Academics

"As far as evaluating our program from top to bottom, academic performance will always be at the top of my list. We are going to overachieve in the classroom. Without a doubt, performance and effort in the classroom correlates to performance and effort on the baseball field."

Graduating Players

"That's my job. I have a huge responsibility to do that. The only kids I want to coach are kids who are motivated to graduate and are motivated academically. I don't want to coach anybody who has different ideals than that."

Conditioning

"Strength and conditioning is the quickest way for us to have success. Our strength coach, Terry Mitchell, and his staff have done an unbelievable job with out program. Based on midyear testing, this is the strongest team I've ever coached."

Community Involvement

"I think it's important for kids at this stage to get out of their comfort zone ... to get out and do more than what they are doing in their regular academic and baseball lives. Doing things other than athletic-related activities together is healthy for the team and healthy for the individuals. My family and I have raised over $300,000 for cancer research over the years. There are bigger things out there other than college athletics – and our players need to know that."

The Right Kid

"I just love high energy, competitive kids who care about being good students and good people. When you find that, then you've got something to work with ... then you look to see if they can play."

Meet the Coaching Staff

DAVE TURGEON Associate Head Coach

Dave Turgeon is in his third season as the Hokies' associate head coach and pitching coach. He arrived in Blacksburg by way of Duke University, and in addition to several coaching stints in both college and the minor leagues, he also had an extensive playing career that traveled him around the globe.

Turgeon was the first staff member named by head coach Pete Hughes. The two are not strangers, however, as Turgeon coached under Hughes at Boston College, and the two were teammates during their collegiate playing days at Davidson College.

"Dave has been an unbelievable asset in carrying on the winning tradition of Hokie baseball," said Hughes. "In his six years at the college level, he has become one of the most respected recruiters and evaluators in the country. Also, Dave will get the best out of our pitching staff. Instructionally and being able to motivate on a daily basis, he is the best I've ever been around."

Turgeon was the associate head coach and recruiting coordinator at Duke University during the 2006 season. He spent the 2005 and 2004 seasons as the associate head coach/pitching coach at the University of Connecticut and oversaw the pitching staff and recruiting for Hughes at Boston College during the 2002-03 academic year.

While a member of the BC staff, Turgeon worked directly with current Detroit Tigers pitcher Chris Lambert, who was the St. Louis Cardinals' first-round draft pick and the 19th overall selection in 2004. During his tenures at Boston College and UConn, both teams saw their earned run averages drop and they both set records for wins.

Turgeon has an extensive background as both a player and manager in the professional ranks to go with his collegiate coaching experience.

Prior to joining the staff at Boston College, Turgeon enjoyed a 13-year professional playing career – the first five in the field where he advanced to the AA level, and the last eight as a pitcher where he rose to the AAA level. He then managed and coached three years in the Cleveland Indians organization.

From 1987-90, Turgeon was an infielder in the New York Yankees system and played for both Stump Merrill and Buck Showalter. From 1991-1999, he played in Holland (1991), France (1992), Taiwan (1993-96, 1998) and Mexico (1997-99). In 1998, he returned to the United States and played for the Rochester Red Wings, the Baltimore Orioles' Class AAA affiliate.

During his professional playing days, Turgeon was a three-time all-star selection in Taiwan. He also captured 1998 Player of the Year honors with the Reynosa Broncos, a Class AAA team in the Mexican League.

After concluding his playing career, Turgeon served in various coaching capacities with the Indians. He managed the Burlington Indians of the Appalachian League in 2000 and the Mahoning Valley Scrappers of the New York-Penn League the following season. In 2002, Turgeon worked at the Indians' extended spring training in Winter Haven, Fla.

The Groton Conn., native is a 1987 graduate of Davidson College, where he earned a bachelor's degree in history. Turgeon was a three-time All-Southern Conference selection at third base for the Wildcats. He earned allregion honors his senior year, when one of his teammates was freshman Pete Hughes. In 2005, Turgeon was inducted into the Wildcat Hall of Fame, and in 2006, he was inducted into the St. Bernard High School Hall of Fame in Uncasville, Conn.

Turgeon was the third in his family to play professional baseball. His brother, Steve, played in the St. Louis Cardinals organization, while his other brother, Mike, was a minor league player of the year and batting champ with the Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Giants organizations.

Turgeon and his wife, Theresa, have four children; Calli, Allisa, Christian and Francesca.

MIKE GAMBINO Assistant Coach

Mike Gambino joined the Virginia Tech staff as an assistant coach in the summer of 2006 not only with playing and coaching accolades on his resumé, but with professional scouting experience as well. Now in his third season in Blacksburg, he serves as the Hokies' recruiting coordinator and works with Tech's infielders and hitters. Much like associate head coach Dave Turgeon, Gambino has a history with head coach Pete Hughes, having both played and coached for him at Boston College.

"We are very fortunate to have someone with Mike's extensive background on our staff," Hughes said. "We believe his talents as an instructor and as a recruiter/ evaluator are instrumental in carrying on the winning tradition of Hokie baseball. I have had the pleasure of both coaching Mike and working with him. He is loyal, a tremendous worker and a true competitor – all qualities that we need to have in our program to win in the ACC."

Gambino, 31, came to the Hokies from the Detroit Tigers, where he worked as a regional scout. Gambino was an infielder for Hughes at Boston College from 1995 through 2000, earning the team's leadership award as a redshirt sophomore in 1997-98. He was named second-team All-New England and made the BIG EAST

Gambino's Philosophy On ... Hittina

"First and foremost, our hitters need to get a good pitch to hit. You can have the best swing in the world, but if you consistently swing at bad pitches and pitches out of the zone, it becomes very hard to have success at the plate.

"After that, my overlying theme is to 'keep it simple.' I don't believe in a 'cookie cutter' approach to hitting – or making every hitter do the exact some thing at the plate. There are a few basic things that all good hitters must do, but there are numerous ways to do them. Our guys have all had some level of success to get here, so let's figure out what it is that they do well and help them stay there. Hitting is all about comfort, and if you manufacture swings, players cannot ever really get comfortable.

"As a team, we'll stress a short, quick and inside approach to the baseball, with good extension through the baseball. We'll focus on our situational hitting – especially our two-strike approach – and getting a good pitch to hit. We will not spend a lot of time trying to rework swings and make all of our guys look the same, as that is counterproductive, in my opinion."

Academic team following the 1999 season. In 2000, Gambino collected a school record 78 hits on the way to earning first-team All-Big East, All-New England and All-Northeast Region honors.

Following his collegiate playing career, Gambino spent two seasons as a minor league infielder for the Boston Red Sox. In February 2002, he became a special assistant to the Red Sox Major League staff. In that capacity, he assisted the coaching staff with all on-field activity and aided the scouting department with coordinating the Amateur Draft.

Gambino was a coach for the Lowell Spinners, the Red Sox Short Season-A team in the New York-Penn League, from June-September 2002. He worked with hitters and infielders and coached first base for the Spinners. He also assisted with all game and prospect reports. When the season concluded, the Red Sox sent Gambino to the Major League Baseball Scout Development Program.

In January 2003, Gambino returned to Boston College as a volunteer coach for Hughes. He coordinated the developmental program for hitters and infielders, and also coordinated BC's summer baseball camps.

After two seasons with the Eagles, Gambino moved back to the pro ranks in November 2005 to become an area scout for Detroit, working in the Northeast and Deep South (Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi).

Gambino, who received a bachelor's degree in English and theology from BC, is a native of Garrison, N.Y.

Mike Kunigonis

Volunteer Assistant Coach

Mike Kunigonis, a former coach at Radford, Canisius and Niagara, is in his first season with the Virginia Tech baseball staff as a volunteer assistant coach. His duties include working with Tech's outfielders, assisting with the hitters, coordinating the Hokies' camps and clinics, and helping with the in-house and everyday recruiting efforts. He also coaches first base for the Hokies.

"This will be Mike's fourth Division I program, so he's got some tremendous experience and a great resume for a young guy at this stage of his career," Tech head coach Pete Hughes said. "He's been a full-time coach before so he's been on the recruiting trail and he will be able to help us out there. He will bring a lot to our program and is a nice addition to our staff."

Kunigonis spent the 2008 season at nearby Radford University, where he served in a similar capacity as a volunteer assistant. Before coming to the New River Valley, he spent five seasons as a full-time assistant, including three at Canisius and two at Niagara.

Prior to beginning his coaching career, Kunigonis starred for four seasons at American International College and was named an All-Region, All-Conference and All-ECAC first baseman as a senior in 2001. He hit .413 that year and received the Butova Sportsmanship Award for excellence on and off the field.

The Worcester, Mass., native earned a bachelor's degree in criminal justice and sociology from AIC in 2001, and he completed his master's degree in sport administration while at Canisius in 2006.

John Shifflett

Athletic Trainer

Athletic trainer John Shifflett is in his second year as a graduate assistant in the Virginia Tech training room, and he begins his first season as the full-time athletic trainer for the baseball team.

In his time at Tech, Shifflett has worked with the Hokies' football team and men's soccer team, as well as the cheerleading and HighTech dance squads. He joined the baseball team in the fall of 2008, and will travel with the team on all road trips.

Shifflett arrived at Tech by way of Averett University in Danville, Va., where he earned a bachelor's degree in athletic training in 2007. While at Averett, he worked with the football, men's basketball and baseball teams.

In addition to his collegiate work, Shifflett has completed a pair of internships with NFL teams; the Indianapolis Colts in the summer of 2006, and the Philadelphia Eagles in the summer of 2008. He is on schedule to earn a master's in education from Tech in May of 2009.

Shifflett will be assisted this season by a trio of student trainers: Hannah Moody, Nikki Moore and Maria Santalucia.

RECRUITING

One thing that the Virginia Tech coaching staff takes enormous pride in is its recruiting efforts and abilities. After welcoming 21 newcomers as part of the staff's initial signing class in 2008, the Tech roster features 10 more new faces in 2009. As a whole, the roster includes not only some of the best players in the Commonwealth of Virginia, but many other talented players hailing from nine other states.

Assistant coach and recruiting coordinator Mike Gambino on his recruiting philosophy:

"The first thing we will do is focus on recruiting the best players in the state of Virginia. This is a state that takes high school baseball very seriously. There are a lot of great players playing in successful programs for very good coaches, and we will do our best to find and recruit Virginia kids who fit the mold of what we want our team to look like.

"Beyond that, we would like to capitalize on the fact that Virginia Tech has a great reputation nationally – both in terms of the quality of the education and the state of its athletics program. That will allow us to recruit the whole country to find the right players.

"Coach Hughes is great to play for because he expects and demands a lot out of his players (on and off the field) and will do everything in his power to make sure a player works hard, plays hard and competes. He's also very honest and upfront, both with praise and constructive criticism, and his players always know where they stand with him. When you play for him, you know you will get the most out of your ability.

"All of the above helps give us a model for the type of player we want in our program. We look for tough, competitive kids who want to come in and outwork and out-compete everyone, both athletically and academically. We look for kids who we feel will represent this university and its baseball program well in all aspects – on the baseball field, in the classroom and in the community."

Head coach Pete Hughes on his staff's recruiting model:

"Our first recruiting class was really about replenishing our whole program. We had to get depth and talent at nearly every position on the field. That's why we had a class of 21 guys; we basically had to recruit the entire roster from top to bottom. Instead of flipping the coin and going the junior college route to try for a quick fix, we went about it the right way with freshmen who, although we knew they'd go through growing pains, we knew they would become really good.

"Now that we've been through a year with a very young roster, we know what we have and what we don't have. That allowed us to go out and recruit kids who met specific needs of the program, not just overall depth. That means your program is growing, and now it becomes a lot easier. We went out and got guys who we think can play for us right away. We also focused on getting some maturity and a veteran presence, and we think we did that by getting three great junior college kids. They've really leveled off the youth that's in our dugout. I think it's a pretty good chemistry.

"To do all of this, we focused on the state of Virginia and the top players in the region like we always do. Then we took advantage of Virginia Tech's national reputation, went out to California and scoured the junior colleges. I think Coach Turgeon did an unbelievable job with that. We were thorough so we could find the right kids academically, personality-wise, and also someone who could play."

THE DUGOUT CLUB

The Virginia Tech Hokies Dugout Club is an organization designed for alumni, friends and fans of the university who have a special interest in Tech baseball.

In the past, the Dugout Club has helped fund facility improvements for the team, such as the renovation of the baseball locker room and the installation of lights at English Field. The efforts and contributions of the Dugout Club are essential in helping to continue and enhance the great baseball tradition at Virginia Tech.

Membership in the Dugout Club requires a minimum yearly donation, with various gifts associated with each level of membership.

For more information on how to join the Dugout Club, log on to www.hokiesports.com/baseball. There you will find membership levels, Dugout Club gifts and tax information, as well as a membership form.

Hokie Baseball thanks you for your support.

CAMPS AND CLINICS

The Virginia Tech baseball coaching staff runs numerous prospect clinics and youth camps throughout the year, offering a fun and upbeat baseball experience that provides instruction in all phases of the game from the current Tech coaching staff as well as current and former Hokie players.

"We do it to promote our program," Tech head coach Pete Hughes said of the camps and clinics. "We've opened up a lot of avenues to the community that weren't there before, and any sport in Hokie Nation begins and ends with community support. That's our lifeline, so the more we can do to get that community support and get people to English Field, it's going to benefit our program, and I think our camps have done that.

"From a recruiting standpoint, when you get to the older age groups, we get kids flying in here from all over the country. You and I both know that once you set foot in Blacksburg and on Virginia Tech's campus, you have a completely different perception than what was in your mind. The more we get people on our campus, whether they're coming for our camp or not, the more they get to see how beautiful and special of a place this is."

The camps have been an unbelievable recruiting tool for the Tech staff, as nine current Hokies were evaluated and signed thanks in part to their participation in Hokieball clinics.

HOKIEBALL!

Hokieball is an up-tempo, aggressive style of playing the game of baseball. Not only does it stress the fundamentals of the game, but it also stresses the importance of sportsmanship and hard work, both athletically and academically.

Summer League Ball

Since taking over the program before the 2007 season, the Virginia Tech baseball staff has stressed the importance of its players taking part in summer leagues.

"Summer baseball is a priority for us," head coach Pete Hughes said. "We will always work to get our kids placed in the best leagues in the country so they can develop and become better players. Our guys who want to reach their potential in baseball are going to play summer baseball at the highest levels."

Here is a complete recap of the 20 Hokies who competed in summer leagues in 2008.

33 Rhett Ballard

Captains: 3 Sean Ryan

11 Ty Hohman

Hughes says: "Tony is one of our most talented infielders. He can make plays that no one else can make, but he needs to make the routine plays, and we need him to put the ball in play more consistently at the plate. He had a very productive summer offensively and he made advances in both areas this fall. He will make us a really good defensive team if he can settle in at shortstop; it would give us more options. We're looking for him to keep growing and to become the player that we recruited, and he's shown spurts of that."

2008: Made 32 starts at shortstop, finishing the year with a .220 average ... Committed a team-high 17 errors, but was second on the team with 79 assists ... Made his first collegiate start in the opener against Pitt and went 1-for-3 with a run scored ... Also had a hit and a run scored in the second game with the Panthers ... Walked twice and smacked a double in an extra-inning loss to Coastal Carolina ... Was 2-for-3 with two RBIs in second game with CCSU ... Also had two hits in third meeting with the Blue Devils ... Had a two-run triple against JMU ... Delivered an RBI single in game one with FSU ... Had a two-run single against Longwood ... Tallied a career-high three RBIs in game two with Maryland ... Went 2-for-4 with two RBIs against VCU ... Was Fox Sports television's player of the game for game two with Wake Forest after going 3-for-5 with two runs, two RBIs and his first collegiate home run ... Also doubled in game two ... Went 2-for-3 with two runs, three RBIs and a triple at Liberty ... Went 2-for-4 in game one at Clemson with a double.

High School: Played his junior and senior seasons for Coach Paige Owens at Rockbridge County High ... Batted .482 as a senior with five home runs and 22 stolen bases, earning all-district recognition and All-Timesland honors by The Roanoke Times ... As a junior for the district champs, regional runners-up and state quarterfinalists, he hit .442 to earn the team's slugger and co-MVP awards in addition to another All-Timesland nod ... Was also selected for the Virginia Commonwealth Games in the summer of 2006 ... Played his freshman and sophomore seasons in New York, earning first-team All-Catholic honors while playing for a team ranked in the top five in the state among small schools.

Personal: Anthony Michael Balisteri, III ... Born 12/29/88 in Buffalo, N.Y. ... Son of Tony and Michelle Balisteri ... Enrolled in university studies.

Hughes says: "Rhett will be our No. 1 starter and he is invaluable because he is one of the most impressive physical specimens I've ever coached. He never gets tired and his pitch counts are way higher than anybody else's. I know he's consistent enough to throw enough pitches in game one of a series that the bullpen is not going to be burned out for games two and three. He's gotten better every year and I think he's one of the most consistent and productive guys in the league. As soon as we start winning, he'll get more respect around the league. I can't believe he didn't get drafted last year, but I'm glad he's back. He's evolved into a great kid, an unbelievable student-athlete and one of the top leaders in our program."

2008: Began the season as a reliever before transitioning to starting duty midseason ... Appeared in a team-high 26 games, including seven starts, and led the team with 75.1 innings pitched and 74 strikeouts ... Tied an NCAA record by hitting seven batters in one game against Duke on May 15, but almost went the distance, taking the loss after tossing 8.1 innings with only three earned runs allowed ... Struck out the side in the ninth inning of Tech's opener with Pitt ... Pitched one inning in the first game with Coastal Carolina, striking out two batters ... Took the loss in the second Coastal game, hitting three batters and allowing a run and two hits ... Earned a save in the second game of the CCSU series ... Picked up a win against Radford with 2.2 shutout innings that included six strikeouts ... Struck out three in 1.2 innings in game three at Georgia Tech ... Struggled in 1.2 innings against JMU, allowing five runs on six hits ... Tossed a season-high 3.0 innings in game two at UNC, and gave up only one unearned run, but was tagged with the loss after walking a career-high five ... Pitched a scoreless inning in game two vs. FSU before giving up a season-high seven hits and seven runs in game three ... Pitched two shutout innings in game two at UVa, then added 3.1 innings of one-run ball and six strikeouts in game three, but took the loss ... Picked up his second save by retiring the last batter against Longwood ... Made his first start since 2006 in game one against Maryland, and pitched a season-high six innings while fanning six ... Threw a complete game in game one with Wake Forest to earn the win ... Struck out a career-high nine on eight hits and two walks ... Allowed three runs (two earned) in his 132-pitch effort ... Took the loss in game one against NC State, allowing six runs on nine hits in six innings ... Closed out the ninth against Radford on April 22 to pick up his third save ... Got roughed up in game one at Clemson, allowing eight runs (five earned) on five hits and six walks in four innings ... Took the loss and then got pegged with another loss at VMI after allowing two unearned runs in relief ... Bounced back with a career-high 11 strikeouts in game one with Presbyterian and picked up the win while giving up just one unearned run in six innings ... Threw a career-high 137 pitches over 7.1 innings in game one with Miami, but took the loss.

2007: Appeared in a school record 34 games, all in relief ... Went 6-2 with a save and a 4.48 earned run average ... Hit a record 21 batters, but led the team in strikeouts (74) and walked just 27 batters in 64.1 innings ... Pitched in all three games during tournament at Coastal Carolina ... Allowed just one hit and no runs in 3.2 combined innings against ODU and Pitt ... Took a loss against Coastal, allowing three hits and three runs (two earned) in 1.2 innings ... Pitched 2.1 scoreless, hitless innings for a win against The Citadel ... Struck out five in that game ... Picked up a win against North Carolina A&T ... Picked up a save and a win against Georgia Tech ... Allowed three runs in four innings in game three at NC State, but picked up a win in extra innings ... Posted a career-high seven strikeouts ... Pitched two innings with three strikeouts in a win over UNC ... Took a loss at JMU, allowing three runs on three hits in the eighth inning ... Struggled in game three against Virginia, hitting four batters in two innings and giving up four runs ... Struck out three in 1.2 innings against Clemson ... Picked up a win with three scoreless innings against Richmond ... Gave up one earned run during two appearances against Miami ... Worked six innings for a win against Liberty, allowing three runs on two hits ... Allowed just one hit during his last five appearances ... Held opponents to a .220 batting average over the course of the season.

2006: Pitched in 19 games ... Made his first collegiate appearance with a start against West Virginia ... Pitched just 2.1 innings, allowing six hits and four runs in a loss ... Also started at Richmond and worked 4.2 innings without a decision ... Had four strikeouts in that outing ... Started at home against JMU and pitched just 2.1 innings in a no-decision ... Came out of the pen for 1.2 innings against FSU allowing one run on two hits and striking out three batters ... Started and pitched five innings at VCU ... Gave up two runs on six hits ... Did not get a decision ... Pitched 2.2 innings of relief in game three against Boston College ... Pitched a shutout inning of relief at Radford and came back the next night with four innings versus VMI to pick up his first win ... Worked seven innings of relief against Appalachian state, allowing just two unearned runs ... Started against Longwood and picked up a win, allowing one run in seven innings ... Pitched 3.1 innings of relief in game three with Duke ... Pitched one shutout inning at Clemson ... Started and picked up a win at home against VCU ... Pitched 5.2 innings ... Suffered a loss in relief against Charlotte ... Worked 4.1 innings of scoreless, hitless relief in second game at Virginia ... Finished with a 3-3 record and 6.22 earned run average.

Liberty: Redshirted during the 2005 season before transferring to Tech.

Hughes says: "Matt is fighting to get an everyday job. He did a really good job in the role we asked of him last year – a part-time player and a platoon guy. He was very good at pinch-hitting. He wants to expand that role and we hope he can. He's made some strides strength-wise and he is starting to drive the ball better. He's got huge power potential and he's fighting for the first base and left-handed DH jobs."

2008: Saw most of his time as a DH or as a pinch-hitter, finishing the year with a .290 average ... Saw his first action in game two against Pitt, entering the game as a pinch-hitter and moving to first base ... Singled in two at-bats ... Started as the DH in the second game with Coastal Carolina ... Picked up a key two-run single at Davidson and saw some action at third base ... Contributed a two-run double in the first Central Connecticut game ... Had another two-run double in the final game with CCSU ... Started at third against Binghamton and had two hits, an RBI and a run scored ... Hit his first home run, drove in two runs and stole a base against Fordham ... Recorded two hits against Longwood ... Doubled and stole a base in game one with Maryland, scored twice and drove in two in game two, and went 2-for-4 in game three ... Scored twice at Liberty ... Doubled in games one and three against NC State ... Had a pinch-hit single and a run scored in game 3 at Clemson ... Went 2-for-5 with three RBIs in game two with Presbyterian, including a walk-off RBI single in the bottom of the 10th.

Hughes says: "Steve is going to battle to get into the lineup this year. He's had a lot of experience here at Virginia Tech but he needs to be a more consistent performer offensively for us. Right now, he's going to have to compete like crazy and play more consistently to garner steady playing time in a suddenly very deep and competitive outfield."

2008: Started 35 games, with 16 in left field, 14 in right and five in center ... Began the season on fire before cooling off in conference play ... Hit .323 with four homers in non-conference games, but only .203 with one round-tripper in ACC contests ... Struck out a team-high 42 times on the year ... Hughes says: "Because of a lack of depth, we asked Kyle to do a lot of things last year. He had an unbelievable summer, he's been around the league once and we think that will lead to a lot more productive outings than he had last year. He needs to be a reliable guy out of the pen to bridge the gap to our closer. He needs to be consistent in the zone and with his tempo and approach, and he's talented enough to do that."

2008: Was one of Tech's most called upon relievers, making 16 appearances and tying for the team lead with three saves ... Pitched two innings in the second Pitt game, allowing four hits and five runs, four earned ... Walked four batters and struck out three in that outing ... Hughes says: "Steve is valuable because he has played at the Division I level. We have a lot of youth on this roster, so we had to be careful about what type of guys we brought in from junior college. They needed to demonstrate leadership, maturity and productivity, and Steve does that. He is as athletic as any kid I've coached from the catching position, so much so that he's one of our top outfielders defensively. He'll play outfield and he will be spelling Anthony Sosnoskie behind the plate. He can run, he plays with high energy, he doesn't strike out and he has a really short, strong swing. He can also change the game on the bases because he is a really mature base runner. We have a lot of options with him."

Moorpark College: Was selected in the 38th round by the Chicago White Sox in the Major League Baseball First-Year Player Draft in June after playing the 2008 season in Moorpark, Calif. ... Played 39 games for Coach Mario Porto, and hit .370 with 10 home runs and 42 runs driven in ... Was named first-team all-league and made the All-Southern California team.

High School: Lettered four years for Coach Mike Firenzi at Marin Catholic, where he was a three-time captain ... Batted .394 with four homers as a senior and was named first-team all-league ... As a junior, he hit .404 with six homers and led the league in doubles, also earning first-team all-league honors ... Also lettered three times in both basketball and football ... Earned all-state honors at defensive end in football his senior year, and finished his career as the school's all-time leader in sacks.

Personal: Steven William Domecus ... Born 6/29/87 in San Francisco, Calif. ... Son of Mike and Linda Domecus ... Enrolled in economics.

Hughes says: "Luke is very talented but he needs to get more consistency within the strike zone. We expect him to help us win games right away. Freshmen figure out when they're ready to perform, but he's got the stuff to do it. He could vie for a mid-week starting position or he could be a reliable lefty out of the bullpen. He just needs to fine-tune his command."

High School: Excelled for Coach Tony Szymendera during his senior season at St. Christopher's School in Richmond, Va. ... Went 7-0 with a 0.39 earned run average and 98 strikeouts in 55 innings pitched to help his team to the state championship game ... Was named to the all-prep and all-state teams after earning Rawlings preseason All-American status ... Spent his freshman, sophomore and junior seasons playing for Coach Justin Houston at Berkeley Prep in Tampa, Fla. ... Also played basketball for four years.

Personal: Luke Allen Erickson ... Born 4/2/89 in Madison, Wisc. ... Son of Steve and Laura Erickson ... Enrolled in architecture ... Went to the same high school as sophomore Austin Wates for his senior year.

Hughes says: "Danny has a ton of ability, but he is working on control issues. If he can ever figure things out, which we hope he does, he's got a chance to be really good. He will add depth out of the bullpen this season."

2008: Did not appear in any games.

Pepperdine: Spent his freshman year in Malibu, Calif., where he threw 24.2 innings, going 2-1 with 16 strikeouts, 21 walks and a 4.38 earned run average ... Held opponents to a .163 batting average.

Hughes says: "Brandon has really improved; he's come a long way and he had a good fall. We expect him to be a middle reliever and he is pretty consistent in the zone. He's changed physically and he is in great shape. He's got some arm strength now and he's conditioned his arm to where we think we can use him out of the bullpen a lot during the week. He needs to increase his role from last year and I think he's committed to doing that."

2008: Finished second on the team in ERA with a mark of 3.65 ... Struck out 18 batters and walked nine in 12 appearances ... Led the staff in batting average against, limiting opponents to a .174 clip ... Made his first collegiate appearance on the mound with one inning pitched in game two against Pitt ... Struck out one batter and did not allow a hit or a run ... Allowed a run on two hits and struck out a pair of batters during an inning of work against Binghamton ... Pitched 2.1 innings of relief against Fordham, giving up one unearned run on one hit, while striking out two batters ... Fanned two batters in one inning of work against the Yankees ... Walked a career-high three in game two with FSU ... Pitched a perfect ninth inning at Liberty ... Went two scoreless innings in game one with Presbyterian ... Recorded career highs of strikeouts (3), runs (4) and earned runs (2) in game one with Miami.

2007: A walk-on who joined the team as a utility infielder and pitcher ... Took a redshirt year and concentrated on pitching.

High School: A four-year varsity performer at Craig County High School for Coach Eddie Helms ... Batted .527 his senior season, belting eight home runs and driving in 20 runs ... Hughes says: "We threw a lot on Jesse's plate last summer with academics and we got him committed to the weight room, so he didn't play summer ball. But it paid dividends and we think he could be one of the premier arms in the league; he's made such gains physically. He's going to be our closer right out of the gates and we'll see how that works. It's the age old question; do you want your best arm starting one day out of the week or do you want to see him in relief three or four times a week? If it plays out that we don't have enough save opportunities to get to him, we'll change things, but we think we will."

2008: Started a team-high nine times and was second on the staff with 64 innings pitched ... Went 3-7 with a 4.64 ERA ... Made his first collegiate start in the second game at Coastal ... Pitched six strong innings, allowing three runs (two earned) on five hits ... Struck out two batters and walked one ... Started and pitched well in 2-1 loss at GT ... Tossed 6.1 innings, allowing four hits and two runs, one earned ... Despite taking the loss, had a solid performance in game three at UNC, allowing just two earned runs in 6.0 innings ... Made his first relief appearance in game three with FSU, taking the loss after allowing seven runs (four earned) on seven hits in 2.1 innings ... Made his first mid-week start on April 1 against Radford, throwing four innings with three hits, three runs and three walks ... Pitched three innings in relief in game two with Maryland, then picked up a win after 2.2 frames of duty against VCU ... Took the loss in game three at Wake after allowing the winning run to score on a wild pitch in the ninth ... Struck out five in his start of game three with NC State, allowing three earned runs on six hits in 6.2 innings of work ... Was tagged with the loss in game three at Clemson before picking up a win in relief in game two with Presbyterian ... Allowed just one run on three hits and no walks in five innings against the Blue Hose ... Took the loss in a 100-pitch, six-inning effort in game three with Miami.

High School: Was lights-out in a pair of seasons for Coach Ed Harvey at Fitch High School, where he also played basketball for two years and football for one ... In 40 innings pitched as a senior, went 5-1 with 65 strikeouts and only six walks, tossing one no-hitter and three 1-hitters along the way ... Set a state record (minimum 35 innings pitched) by accumulating a 0.17 earned run average ... Set five other single-season school records, and earned Pitcher of the Year, all-state, all-area and All-Eastern Connecticut Conference honors ... As a junior, went 3-1 with a 0.48 ERA and six walks, while also batting .320 as a hitter ... Helped his team to a state title in 2006 and the ECC title in 2007.

Hughes says: "Ty is our most consistent guy out there, bar none. He's a great worker and a great leader. He goes about his business like he's been in this program for five years, and for a junior college transfer, that's very rare. We will throw a lot on his plate. He makes the routine play at all four infield positions and he plays with energy. He doesn't strike out and we think he could be a valuable offensive player."

2008: Played in 27 games before fracturing a cheekbone when he was hit in the face with a pitch in the Radford game on April 1, an injury that ended his season ... Started at three different positions during Tech's first three games ... Finished with 10 starts at third base, 14 at shortstop and one at second ... Didn't pick up his first hit until the Davidson game when he broke a 9-9 tie with a two-run single ... Scored two runs in game two against CCSU and drove in two during a win over Binghamton ... Was 5-for-8 during the Georgia Tech series ... Was 2-for-2 in games one and three, and picked up his first homer during game two ... Went 7-for-13 with six RBIs in the FSU series, and added three more RBIs at JMU ... Collected three hits, including two doubles, in the UVa series.

McClennan C.C.: Before transferring to Tech, played two seasons for Coach Pete Mejia in Waco, Texas ... As a redshirt sophomore, was named to the JUCO All-Star team after hitting .329 with 36 RBIs, four home runs and 20 walks ... Batted .311 with four home runs as a redshirt freshman.

Texas A&M: Redshirted during the 2005 season while recovering from shoulder surgery before transferring to McClennan.

High School: A three-year letterman for Coach Rick Lynch at Tomball High School, where he played third base and shortstop ... During his senior year, batted .371 with four home runs for the undefeated District 17 champs ... His team that year was ranked tops in the nation for six weeks, and he earned academic all-state honors, as well as a District 17 honorable mention ... Hughes says: "Chris is one of the most improved players on the team. He proved last year that he could come in and do a more-than-adequate job behind the plate during the last 10 games of the year when Anthony Sosnoskie was hurt. That gave him a ton of confidence. He was solid in the fall and he will give us depth at catcher and will fight for a DH job."

2008: Didn't see much action until an injury sidelined Anthony Sosnoskie for the season's final 10 games ... Picked up a start behind the plate in game two against Pitt ... Showed some freshman jitters with two passed balls, but also pounced on a ball that bounced away from the plate and threw out a runner attempting to score on the play ... Went 2-for-4 at the plate with a double and a run batted in ... Saw some action behind the plate in two of the three games with CCSU ... Had a sacrifice fly and caught three innings against Binghamton ... Became the No. 1 catcher when Sosnoskie suffered a season-ending injury in early May ... Had at least a hit in seven of the season's final 10 games, including an RBI single in game one with Presbyterian and a double against Liberty ... Went 2-for-4 with an RBI in game one with Miami ... Went 2-for-4 with a run scored vs. William & Mary.

High School: A three-year letterman for Coach Shane Amos at Walton High School, where he helped the team to the 2007 class 5A state championship ... Was named the class 5A state player of the year by the Georgia Dugout Club, a division of the Georgia Athletic Coaches Association, following a senior season in which he batted .439 with eight home runs and 46 RBIs ... He tallied 18 doubles on the year, giving him Walton's single-season and career records in the category ... He also ranks among the school's top three all-time in hits, RBIs and home runs ... In addition to his state player of the year accolades, was also tabbed the Cobb County Player of the Year and a first-team selection by the Atlanta Journal-Constitution ... Hit .395 as a junior with 30 RBIs and four homers, and .340 as a sophomore with 25 RBIs and four round-trippers ... Also played football for two years.

Personal: Christopher William Kay ... Born 9/26/88 in Cincinnati, Ohio ... Son of Michael and Christina Kay ... Enrolled in university studies.

Hughes says: "Clark is a talented little righty who competes hard and throws a lot of strikes. He's a guy who we want to use in short relief two or three times a week or as a situational right-hander. He has the stuff to do it and we liked what we saw from him in the fall."

High School: Lettered three seasons as a center fielder and pitcher for Coach Gene Watkins at Mira Mesa High in San Diego, Calif. ... Was named to the All-Eastern League first team as a senior after going 6-1 with nine saves from the mound and hitting .410 with two home runs and 40 runs batted in from the plate ... Was named to the Union Tribune All-Academic Team ... Earned the same honors after a junior season in which he batted .395 and sported a 1.27 earned run average with 27 strikeouts in 27.2 innings pitched.

Hughes says: "Sean is one of the most competitive guys in our program. We've worked on some mechanics with him and his velocity is back. The length of the season really wore him out toward the end of last year. It's something he wasn't used to, especially being a guy from the northeast. He's never thrown from January to May and he just got gassed, but he gained valuable experience throwing in the ACC and nothing affects him. We look for him to be a solid No. 3 starter for us on the weekends."

2008: Started seven games and appeared in 16, going 1-5 with a 6.32 earned run average in 52.2 innings ... Held Coastal Carolina to one hit over 5.2 innings in his first collegiate start but took the loss ... Allowed three runs, while striking out two batters and walking five ... Pitched seven shutout innings to register a win against Binghamton ... Allowed three hits, while striking out four batters and walking two ... Started game two at GT and took a loss after allowing six runs on seven hits over five innings ... Made his first relief appearance in game two vs. FSU and took the loss, allowing eight runs on eight hits and six walks in four innings ... Pitched in relief again during game two at UVa, and started against Longwood on April 2 ... Pitched three innings of shutout ball in game with Maryland, and two more against VCU ... Started game three at Wake and did not factor into the decision after allowing two runs on six hits and 5.2 innings ... Took the loss in game three vs. NC State after allowing six runs (four earned) in 1.2 innings of relief ... Fanned four in 2.1 innings at VMI ... Was saddled with the loss in a start against Liberty after allowing six runs (two earned) on six hits in an abbreviated start.

High School: Lettered all four seasons for Coach Bill Tompkins at Walpole High School, totaling a 25-2 record, 17 saves, 327 strikeouts and an 0.89 ERA ... Holds school records for most career wins, strikeouts and saves ... Went 10-1 as a senior, and was named the Bay State League MVP, the Daily Transcript Player of the Year, a Mass all-star, and an All-Scholastic honoree by both The Boston Globe and The Boston Herald ... Also as a senior, set a school record by fanning 22 batters in one game, and once carried a 59-innning scoreless streak ... Batted .343 while playing first base ... Was a Bay State League all-star as a junior, going 5-1 and hitting .310 ... His team won the 2005 Eastern Massachusetts championship when he was a sophomore, and he went 5-0 with nine saves, a 1.03 ERA and a .372 batting average ... Also lettered for three seasons as a tight end/defensive end in football, earning a Bay State League all-star nod in 2006.

Hughes says: "I'm so proud of Luke. I didn't think he had a shot of playing baseball after his eve injury, but he exceeded all of our expectations and had a pretty good fall. I'm excited that he's still with our program because of his leadership abilities. He is still fighting the eye injury and trying to recreate the player he used to be. Right now, he's a role player, and hopefully his vision will continue to get better in that eye. I'm rooting for him."

2008: After being named MVP of the team's fall world series, suffered a serious eye injury during preseason practice and missed the entire year.

2007: Played a number of roles while seeing action in 32 games ... Started at DH in the opener at Charlotte and collected a hit ... Picked up a single in three trips to the plate against Minnesota ... Started at third in all three North Carolina A&T games ... Had two hits, including a double and his first collegiate home run in game one ... Drove in four runs during the three-game series ... Contributed a two-run, pinch-hit double against Marist ... Picked up a pinch hit in the final game against UNC ... Started in left field against JMU ... Homered in game one against Virginia ... Started at third in game three versus Clemson ... Hit a decisive three-run homer against Richmond ... Started all three FSU games in left field ... Drove in a run in game three ... Was the starting DH during the Miami series ... Doubled as a pinch hitter in game three at BC ... Hit a solo home run at VMI ... Doubled and drove in a run during season finale against Wake Forest ... Ended up with 13 starts at DH, seven at third base and five as the left fielder ... Hit .500 as a pinch hitter (3-for-6) ... Carried an overall .237 batting mark ... Tied for the team lead in homers with four and added six doubles.

2006: Played in 36 games ... Picked up 20 starts as the designated hitter ... Added four starts at third base and one at first ... Batted .283 with 10 doubles and three triples ... Walked as a pinch hitter in his only plate appearance at Campbell ... Got his first start as the DH in the third Towson game ...

Contributed an RBI-double in three at bats ... Had a game-winning, two-run single in 12th inning at Richmond ... Started at DH against Liberty ... Used as a pinch hitter twice at Miami, but did not reach base ... Tied the third BC game with a pinch-hit double in the bottom of the ninth ... Started as the DH in home game against Richmond but did not pick up a hit ... Started at third base in the last game at Wake Forest and contributed a double ... Was the starting DH at Radford ... Contributed two hits, including a double, and drove in two runs ... Had two hits and scored two runs in second Georgia Tech game ... Posted a triple and double among his three hits in game three of the series ... Added two hits against Appalachian as the DH ... Had a pair of hits and a RBI against UNC, but struck out five times ... Went 3-for-4 against Marshall with three runs scored and two RBIs ... Tripled and doubled in that game ... Was 3-for-3 with three RBIs in win against Duke ... Doubled in a run in final game at Clemson ... Drove in two runs and scored two in home win against VCU ... Had just three hits over the final seven games of the season.

High School: Lettered four years for Coach Barry Godsey at Rustburg High ... Did a little of everything ... Saw action at third base and shortstop, as well as on the mound and in the outfield ... Hughes says: "Mathew has a lot of talent. We won't have a problem with his competitive spirit, and I don't think he'll be wowed by the atmosphere of college baseball. His stuff translates into him being very successful. Freshman pitchers are a flip of the coin, but he has a chance to win a lot of games for us. We're going to have him try to do it on the week days, as well as give us bullpen depth on the weekends. Then we'll see if he can expand his role. You never know when freshmen will figure things out, but he's good enough to do so, that's for sure."

High School: Enjoyed an outstanding career at The Walker School in Marietta, Ga., before being selected by the Atlanta Braves in the 34th round of the 2008 Major League Baseball First-Year Player Draft ... As a senior, led the county with 79 strikeouts in just 39.1 innings and had a 1.32 earned run average ... Also batted .400 with 11 stolen bases and was named to the all-county and all-state teams ... Went 7-3 as a junior with a Cobb County-best earned run average of 0.85 ... Struck out 64 batters in 52 innings pitched in 2007, and was the team's starting shortstop when not on the mound ... Also was a part of the starting pitching rotation as a sophomore, and played 141 innings of errorless ball at second base when not on the mound ... For the past two summers, was chosen as one of the top 20 players in Georgia to represent the state at the Sunbelt Classic in Norman, Okla., where Team Georgia won the tournament in 2007 ... He tied the tournament record with 14 strikeouts in one game in 2008 ... Also was a quarterback for two seasons in football.

Personal: Mathew Alexander Price ... Born 7/8/89 ... Son of Mike and Kelly Price ... Enrolled in university studies.

Hughes says: "Andrew is a corner infielder who has as much power offensively as anyone in our program. We think he can develop into a middle-of-the-lineup guy some day. He can play left field, third base and he's done some catching. His bat has a lot of thump in it and he's going to develop into a really good player here."

High School: Earned all-area, all-region and all-state team honors on multiple occasions for Coach Barry New at Westside High ... Played in the North-South All-Star game and was named the team's most valuable player after a senior season in which he batted .420 with seven doubles, 32 runs batted in, 30 intentional walks and a school-record 10 home runs ... Prior to his senior season, was ranked as the No. 1 catcher in 4A by Diamond Prospects and had tallied a .487 average with 14 home runs, 12 triples, 48 doubles and 94 runs batted in.

Personal: Andrew John-Grant Rash ... Born 11/13/89 in Anderson, S.C. ... Son of Frances and the late Alan Rash ... Enrolled in university studies.

Hughes says: "We think Klint is a really good player. He's going to be battling like crazy, but he brings great leadership and intensity to the team. He has all the things you need to help turn a program into a winning one. He's one of our toughest kids and we look for him to have a solid role in our lineup. He's a very good defender in the outfield and is definitely a better offensive player than he showed last year."

2008: Improved all year long as he made the transition to ACC baseball after playing two years at VMI ... Batted .287 with nine doubles in 38 starts in right field ... Made his Hokie debut in the series at North Carolina, starting all three games in right field ... Went hitless in 13 at bats ... Picked up his first two hits as a Hokie against BC, while also walking once and scoring twice ... Had a hit in all three FSU games, including a two-hit, three-walk, two-RBI performance in game two ... Tripled in game three ... Singled and scored in Tech's six-run, game-clinching ninth inning at JMU ... Picked up three of Tech's six hits in game two at UVa ... Went 2-for-3 with his first stolen base against Radford on April 1 ... Had another steal and two RBIs against Longwood ... Went 2-for-4 with a steal in game two

... Had a pair of 2-for-4 games vs. Davidson and VCU ... Picked up two hits in game one at Wake and two runs at Liberty ... Scored twice and drove in two against Radford on April 22 ... Started 27 straight games in right field before a day off in game two at Clemson ... Tied the game in the ninth inning at VMI with a sac fly ... Went 2-for-4 in game one with Presbyterian and had an RBI double against Liberty ... Went 2-for-4 with an RBI double in game one vs. Miami before hitting his first homer as a Hokie as part of a 3-for-4, three-RBI effort in game two ... Went 2-for-4 with a two-run double vs. William & Mary ... Went 4-for-11 in the Duke series with three RBIs, a double and a home run.

Virginia Military Institute: Played two seasons in Lexington for Coach Marlon Ikenberry, where he played in 97 games, starting 81 of them ... Batted a combined .321 while totaling 66 runs, 28 doubles, 59 RBIs, five home runs and 11 stolen bases.

High School: Lettered for three seasons under Coach Scott Preskitt at Lloyd C. Bird High School ... Batted .576 as a senior, earning first-team all-state honors as a second baseman ... Preceded that by hitting .574 during his junior year and being tabbed an all-state outfielder ... Was once named the Dominion District Player of the Year ... Is his school's all-time leader in hits, hits in a season, on-base percentage, doubles, batting average and slugging percentage, in addition to five other records.

Personal: Klint Kyle Reed ... Born 12/19/85 in Kerrville, Texas ... Son of John and Kerri Reed ... Enrolled in history.

Hughes says: "Ben fits the mold that we wanted out of our junior college guys. He's an unbelievable kid who is mature beyond his years. We feel that we can put him in any situation and nothing is going to affect him. He's very effective with his submarine delivery, and he's got stuff that I haven't seen before from that arm angle; he'll be fun to watch. He should eat a lot of innings, get a lot of appearances and help us bridge the gap to our closer, which is something that we had trouble with last year. He's going to be dependable out of the bullpen."

Los Angeles Harbor College: Before transferring to Tech, played two seasons for Coach Marco Alvillar in Wilmington, Calif. ... As a sophomore in 2008, he was named team MVP and selected to the All-South Coast Conference First Team ... In 40.1 innings pitched, he went 6-0 with five saves and a 1.34 ERA, while striking out 40 batters and walking just four.

High School: Pitched for Coach Evan Fujinaga at Palos Verdes High School, where he helped the team to the Pioneer League title and the CIF Division IV championship as a senior in 2006 ... As a senior, tossed 38 innings and put together a 4-1 record with two saves ... Had an earned run average of 1.47 and fanned 26 batters, while walking eight ... Also played four years as a defenseman for the Los Angeles Junior Kings ice hockey club team.

Personal: Benjamin Ramon Rowen ... Born 11/15/88 in Dunedin, Fla. ... Son of Michael and Darlene Rowen ... Enrolled in sociology.

Hughes says: "You talk about improving from one year to another; Sean didn't even think he could play Division I baseball two years ago, but he's grown and gotten more confident in his abilities and his productivity has gone up. He's a really good player. He's going to be our center fielder and he'll be one of the better defenders in the league, and he's also going to improve his offensive game. He wasn't even 100 percent healthy last year; he was playing with a bad hip. Now that he's healthy, we can take advantage of the running game with him. He had an outstanding fall and he will supply some really good leadership for us."

2008: Played outstanding defense in 50 center-field starts ... Had a career year at the plate, hitting .305 with 10 stolen bases, and was just shy of the team lead with a .301 batting average in ACC games ... Posted two hits, a stolen base and two runs scored in game two with Pitt ... Scored two more runs at Davidson, adding a hit, an RBI and another stolen base ... Drew three walks in the first Central Connecticut game ... Picked up three hits, including two doubles, in game three against CCSU ... Scored five runs against Fordham ... Also had three hits and drove in two runs ... Stole second after picking up a single in game two at UNC ...Collected two hits and two runs in the game with BC ... Tallied one hit in each FSU game, as well as two at JMU, to extend a career-long hitting streak ... Also had a steal and scored two runs against the Dukes ... Scored two runs in game one with Maryland before collecting two hits each in games two and three ... Scored twice against Davidson ... Had a career-high four hits in game one at Wake and scored twice ... Had an RBI double in game two ... Collected two hits each in game three and in the contest at Liberty ... Hit in each of the Clemson games, including three in game two ... Went 2-for-5 in each of the first two Miami games

... Tallied three hits, including a double, and two runs vs. William & Mary ... Led off in Tech's last 10 games and tallied at least a hit in seven of them ... Hit his first career home run in the final game of the season against Duke.

2007: Played in a total of 43 games, most of which with a hip injury that required surgery in June ... Started 18 games in right field, six in left and five in center ... Posted two hits and stole a base against The Citadel ... Had two hits in the UNCA game, including a double, his first extra base hit as a Hokie ... Doubled again and scored a run during a loss to Minnesota ... Was 2-for-3 with two walks and a run scored in game two against A&T ... Picked up a couple of hits in six at bats versus Georgia Tech ...Was 4-for-6 at the plate during the NC State series ... Had a pinch-hit, RBI-single in the win over UNC ... Picked up two hits at JMU ... Was 3-for-7 in two starts against Miami ... Drove in two runs with a pair of hits against JMU ... Scored three runs in a home win over Liberty ... Tripled at VMI ... Had two hits in a win at Duke ... Started the last five games in center field ... Finished with a .279 batting average ... Did not commit an error during the season and tied for team lead in assists from the outfield with four.

2006: Played in 29 games ... Picked up four starts in center field and four in left field ... Batted .235 and scored nine runs in limited duty ... Walked in a pinchhitting appearance during game two at Campbell ... Played briefly at Liberty ... Got a pinch-hitting opportunity in game two at Miami, but did not reach base ... Hughes says: "Mike was one of our most improved players this past fall, especially on the defensive end. He played a more-than-adequate third base, and he can also play second base and be pretty efficient at it. We think he has a chance to be a really solid offensive performer for us. He's got power and he had pretty decent numbers considering it was his first year of Division I baseball, let alone in the ACC. We think he could hit .310 with 10 homers. He's got that type of ability and he is playing more relaxed and more confident."

2008: Played a huge role for Tech after transferring from Kentucky, starting 45 games, including 41 at the hot corner ... Despite his small stature, displayed good power and tied for the team lead with eight home runs ... Batted .259 on the season, including a mark of .300 in non-conference games ... Started as the DH in the opening game and picked up his first collegiate hit ... Played third base in the second Pitt game and showed some pop with a triple and a solo home run ... Talent-wise, he's got the ability to be a two-way guy for us immediately out of the bullpen and as an infielder with the bat. He has power potential; he hit 21 homers in 32 games last summer. He will give us unbelievable depth offensively and another weapon out of the pen."

High School: Posted some impressive statistics for Coach Tim Lowery at Cosby High ... As a senior, hit .485 with nine home runs, a .939 slugging percentage and 18 walks from the plate, while going 6-1 with a 1.10 ERA and a .189 opponent's batting average from the mound ... Hughes says: "Anthony gets better every year. He's the poster child for our program and our approach to this league, and that's to go to work every day and bang it out and compete no matter what day it is. He's been productive because of that approach. He'll be so much better for us this year because we have enough depth at the catching position where he can rest and be a better offensive player. We wore him out last year and it showed on the offensive side. He might even play some games at first base to keep him fresh."

2008: Started 44 games at catcher ... Was second on the team with 15 doubles and 37 RBIs, and third with six home runs and a .315 average ... Hit safely in his first 10 games ... Started at DH in the second Pitt game ... Drove in two runs with three hits at Davidson ... Also scored twice in that game ... Scored three more runs in the first CCSU game ... Homered and drove in two runs in game two against the Blue Devils ... Had three hits and two RBIs during win at Radford ... Drove in two runs with a pair of hits, including a homer, in game two at GT ... Added four more RBIs in the Fordham game ... Picked up two hits and Tech's lone RBI in game one at UNC ... Had one of Tech's two hits against the Yankees ... Doubled against BC ... Doubled twice in game two with FSU ... Went 4-for-6 at JMU with a home run and another double ... Drove in Tech's lone run during game one at UVa, and one of Tech's two runs in game two ... Tallied two hits in back-to-back games with Radford and Longwood, including three RBIs vs. the Highlanders ... Went 2-for-4 with two runs scored in each of the first two Maryland games ... Homered against VCU ... Also homered in the first two games at Wake to make it three straight ... Had four RBIs in game one and two RBIs in game two ... Doubled in each of the first two games at Clemson ... Saw his season come to an end in early May when he broke a cheekbone after getting hit in the face with a pitch in practice.

2007: Got his first collegiate start against Pittsburgh ... Doubled in his first at bat and went on to score a run ... Started against UNC Asheville and posted two hits, including a grand slam in the 10th inning ... Homered again in game two against North Carolina A&T, driving in two runs ... Was 1-for-3 at VCU ... Had two hits in game two at Georgia Tech ... Drove in a run at Liberty and had a two-run, pinch-hit single against Marist ... Doubled and drove in a run during the win over UNC ... Started the last two games against Virginia and went 3-for-6 at the plate ... Picked up two RBIs on a pair of singles and scored two runs at home against VMI ... Singled and scored a run in game two at FSU ... Had a pinch-hit single in game three ... Doubled home three runs as a pinch hitter in game one versus Miami ... Doubled twice in the game two win at BC ... Drove in two runs and scored two ... Also had two hits in game one ... Posted three hits in game one at Duke ... Closed out the season with four hits during the Wake Forest series, scoring three runs and driving in three ... Batted .292 for the season, while playing in 37 games, including 27 starts ... Made the most of his 31 hits, driving in 27 runs ... Hit .313 in ACC games.

High School: Played a number of positions for Coach Mike Lockhart at Notre Dame Academy, earning four letters ... Helped lead the team to back-to-back Virginia Independent Schools state titles in 2005 and 2006 ... Saw action behind the plate, on the mound and at third base ... Named the MVP of the 2006 Baseball at the Beach tournament at Myrtle Beach, S.C. in 2006 ... Posted a .317 batting average as a junior with four home runs ... Was 6-3 on the mound with a 1.67 ERA on the way to first-team recognition on the Virginia Independent School all-state squad.

Personal: Anthony Edward Sosnoskie, Jr. ... Born 4/10/88 in Morrisville, Pa. ... Son of Tony and Marcy Sosnoskie ... Brother of redshirt freshman Buddy Sosnoskie ... Enrolled in public policy.

Hughes says: "We really missed Buddy last year after he had his shoulder surgery. He's a potential leadoff guy who could possibly start in right field. He's very athletic and has a chance to be an outstanding offensive player because of his short, contact swing. He is 100 percent healthy to hit and play the outfield now and he will bring a lot to the lineup. He's still a year away from being ready to come off the mound as the two-way guy that we recruited him as."

2008: Redshirted to recover from shoulder (labrum) surgery that he had in December of 2007.

High School: Earned four letters for Coach Mike Lockhart at Notre Dame Academy, helping the team to three consecutive Virginia Independent School state titles ... Hughes says: "Austin has a chance to be a great player if he builds off of what he did last year. Very few freshmen do what he did in this league, and he proved that he can play at a high level. We just need him to be consistent and to get better at every phase of his game, including on the defensive side of things. He had a few two- or three-game skids that freshmen sometimes fall into, but he has a chance to hit for power, steal a ton of bases and be one of the better defenders in our program and the league."

2008: Was one of the ACC's best freshmen ... Played in 53 games, starting 51, including 32 at second base ... Led off 21 times and finished the year second on the team with a .324 batting average ... Stole a team-high 15 bases, tallied a team-best 70 hits and led the ACC with six triples ... Worked his way into the starting lineup after coming off the bench in game two against Pitt and reaching base in each of his first three collegiate plate appearances ... Had two hits, including a double ... Stole two bases in game one against Coastal Carolina ... Collected two hits, two runs scored and a steal at Davidson ... Smashed a bases-loaded triple in game two against Central Connecticut ... Picked up three hits and stole two bases in a win over Binghamton ... Had three more hits in the win at Radford, including a double ... Tripled and scored two runs against Fordham ... Led the team at UNC by collecting five hits in 12 at bats ... Scored a run and stole a base in game two ... Had a pair of 3-for-6 games vs. FSU, scoring two runs in game two and three runs in game three ... Went 3-for-6 again at JMU, this time scoring four runs ... On April 1 against Radford, went 4-for-5 with his first collegiate home run ... Had two hits against Longwood ... Notched two RBIs in game two with Maryland and had two hits, including a double, in game three ... Collected three hits in each of the first two Wake games ... Doubled twice in game one ... Had a three-run triple in game two and also stole two bases ... Had two hits at Liberty ... Went 2-for-4 with what proved to be the game-winning home run in game two against NC State ... Had two RBIs against Radford, including the go ahead sac fly in the eighth inning ... Doubled in game three at Clemson ... Went 2-for-5 with two RBIs in game two with Presbyterian ... Went 3-for-4 with three RBIs and a steal in the second Liberty game ... Hit two triples in that game to tie a single-game school record and become the first Hokie since 2003 to record six in a season ... Doubled twice in game one vs. Miami ... High School: Spent his junior and senior seasons starring for Coach Tony Szymendera at St. Christopher's School ... In 2007, earned all-prep, all-state and all-metro honors in both baseball and soccer, while being named to the Virginia Independent Schools Athletic Association First Team on the diamond

... Also played on the Virginia Prep League basketball championship team ... Batted .449 with six doubles, two triples, seven home runs and 21 runs batted in as a senior, after hitting .500 as a junior ... Prior to moving to Richmond, played two seasons in all three sports at Garfield High School in Seattle, Wash. ... His soccer teams in 2005 and 2006 won state titles, and he once earned regional All-America honors from the National Soccer Coaches Association of America.

Personal: Austin Anthony Wates ... Born 9/2/88 in Seattle, Wash. ... Son of Luther C. Wates, Jr., and Tawnya Pettiford-Wates ... Enrolled in university studies.

Hughes says: "Mickey improved himself from last year, and that's what you want from every guy in your program. He will fight to get a role in our outfield and he will add good depth to our bench. He's a good-sized athlete who can run and he continues to get better."

2008: Was sidelined with mononucleosis early on and ended up redshirting.

High School: Broke numerous school records in his three seasons under Coach Greg Maynard at class AAA Albemarle High School ... Set career records in eight categories, including games played, at-bats, runs, hits, RBIs, doubles, home runs and total bases ... Single-season marks include a .552 batting average and 37 hits as a senior, and 11 doubles, six homers and 63 total bases as a junior ... As a senior, added 30 runs, 25 RBIs, five homers and 13 steals to earn first-team all-state, All-Northwest Region, All-Central Virginia and All-Commonwealth District recognition, in addition to being selected as the Commonwealth District Player of the Year and to the Virginia High School Coaches Association All-Star Team ... Batted .500 during his junior season to go with 26 runs, 26 RBIs, 35 hits and 11 steals, earning first-team All-Central Virginia and All-Commonwealth district honors ... Hit .324 as a sophomore ... He didn't pitch a whole lot in the fall because we wanted to make sure his arm stayed healthy, but we need him to build momentum from the good summer that he had and to help give us some bullpen depth. He's got the stuff to do it."

2008: Appeared in five games, starting three, but ended the year with a team-worst ERA of 15.15 ... Pitched 1.1 innings of relief in the second game against Coastal Carolina ... Gave up three hits but did not allow a run ... Started at Davidson and was touched for nine runs on 11 hits in two-plus innings ... Had four strikeouts and walked two batters ... Started and pitched 4.2 innings at Radford ... Allowed five runs on six hits and had six wild pitches ... Took the loss against Fordham, giving up eight runs, six earned, in 3.1 innings ... Pitched a perfect inning against the Yankees.

2007: Pitched in 10 games, six as a starter ... Saw his first action in relief at Charlotte ... Pitched one inning, allowing three runs on three hits ... Made his first collegiate start against Albany ... Pitched three innings, allowing three hits and two unearned runs ... Faced three batters in game one against A&T ... Started against Marist but pitched just one inning ... Picked up his first collegiate win by hurling six shutout innings against Radford ... Struck out six and walked just one, while allowing five hits ... Started and pitched three innings against Liberty in Blacksburg ... Gave up five runs, four earned ... Did not figure in the decision ... Picked up a win in a start at VMI with six shutout innings ... Struck out six and allowed just two hits ... Pitched 1.2 innings in a suspended game at Duke and took the loss ... Also picked up a loss in a home start against Charlotte, giving up six runs in four innings of work ... Finished 2-2 on the season ... Posted 25 strikeouts and walked 11 batters in 26.2 innings of work.

High School: Struck out 117 batters in 63 innings as a senior for Coach Scooter Dunn at George Washington High ... Posted a 6-3 record with one save and a 1.75 earned run average ... Also carried a .391 batting average, driving in 14 runs ... Earned first-team all-district honors as both a pitcher and designated hitter ... Was honorable mention all-region as a DH ... Named the Danville Register & Bee Player of the Year ... Finished with a 3-2 pitching mark as a junior ... Compiled a 2.64 ERA and struck out 75 batters in 48 innings of work ... Started game two with NC State and tied a season-high with 4.1 innings pitched ... Struck out three while walking four and giving up five hits and three runs ... Pitched a career-high 5.2 innings in a start in game two at Clemson ... Tossed five more innings in a start in game two with Presbyterian, striking out five on four hits and a walk ... Threw a complete game in just his fifth-career start to upset No. 1 Miami ... Allowed nine hits, four walks and six runs, but tied a personal best with seven strikeouts in a 132-pitch effort ... Went eight innings on 110 pitches, fanning four, to defeat Duke in the penultimate game of the season.

High School: Lettered for three seasons under coaches Jerry Mobley and John Colantuoni at Forest Park High School ... Was named the district, regional and all-area player of the year following a senior season in which he went 11-0 with two saves, 95 strikeouts and a 0.84 ERA in 73 innings pitched ... Also batted .349 as a first baseman/outfielder, earning second-team all-state and first-team all-metro and All-Examiner honors ... Went 8-1 with 115 strikeouts and a 1.03 ERA in 67.2 innings as a junior, was named the district, all-area and All-Examiner Player of the Year ... Also tossed two no-hitters and batted .389, getting named first-team all-region, in addition to honorable mentions on the all-metro and all-state teams ... His team won the district championship for the second time in 2007, in addition to being runner-up in the region and making it to the state semifinals ... Hughes says: "Marc is way ahead of schedule with his rehab from Tommy John surgery and we're excited about that. He was one of our most talented recruits last year and we missed being able to use him. I can't believe we're talking about him being on the mound this year, but it looks like that could be the case at some point. That would give us so many more options out of the bullpen and during the week when we need to win games. He actually hit in the fall. I let him do that because he's an athlete and a baseball player and I wanted to keep him busy with something other than his rehab, and he was good enough that he might play first base or DH once in a while."

2008: Underwent Tommy John surgery on his elbow in February and missed the entire season.

High School: Excelled for four seasons as a pitcher/shortstop for Coach T.J. O'Donnell at Raritan High School ... # ACADEMIC SUPPORT

The success of Virginia Tech's baseball program rests largely on the academic progress of each student-athlete. The academic performance of Tech student-athletes has improved each year due in part to the Student Athlete Academic Support Services (SAASS).

The Virginia Tech graduation rate for studentathletes has risen significantly in recent years and was a school-best 76 percent for 2007. This marked the fourth time in six years that Virginia Tech's student-athlete graduation rate has been 70 percent or better.

In addition to posting impressive graduation figures, current Virginia Tech student-athletes continue to excel in the classroom. For the 2007 calendar year, 501 3.0 GPA's were earned by student-athletes, student trainers, student managers, cheerleaders and HighTechs. These student-athletes and students from support areas were recognized at the Athletic Director's Honors Breakfast last spring.

Student-athletes are the most visible student component of a university. They entertain thousands of fans, students and alumni. Their athletic abilities and achievements are the primary focus for national media attention. Athletic events bring back not only faithful alumni, but are a welcome mat for potential new students.

Student-athletes devote many hours to practice, conditioning and training that are not required of all students. Due to their time commitment and their high visibility, it is an obligation and in the best interest of the university to supply these students with services which will allow them to maximize their academic potential.

The Virginia Tech Student Athlete Academic Support Services office is committed to providing fundamental and supplemental programming, consistent with university and NCAA policy, aimed at enhancing each student-athlete's educational experience.

Stakeholders of the office's mission include student-athletes and their families, the university community, coaches and athletics administrators. SAASS seeks to develop relationships with its stakeholders that are founded on trust and respect, and provides the following services to accommodate their needs:

- University and NCAA information
- Orientation
- Academic assessment
- The development of an effective student life program
- Appropriate referrals
- Monitored study environments
- Tutorial programs

- State-of-the-art technological learning assistance
- Student-athlete academic performance evaluations

The expectations of the Virginia Tech community are that each student-athlete achieves their maximum academic and athletic potential. With the proper assistance, facilities and encouragement, these potentials can become a reality.

SAASS provides programming for student-athletes from their freshman year through graduation. This includes a comprehensive orientation to Tech, study hall, mentoring, tutoring, academic monitoring, academic recognition and eligibility education. Additionally, student-athletes are referred to and encouraged to take advantage of other campus agencies charged with helping students in their academic pursuits.

During the summer of 2006, the SAASS office moved to the West Side of Lane Stadium. Here, student-athletes have access to state-of-the-art technology, quiet study facilities, individualized tutorial rooms, and direct access to the SAASS staff.

This complex is the focal point for the Athletics Department, both aesthetically and pragmatically, and provides a centralized place for studentathlete services.

Together, these spaces provide the student-athletes with a variety of study environments conducive to their success. Athletes can use these facilities between classes, after practice or in the evenings, with flexible hours tailored to make the most of a student-athlete's limited time.

Greg Beatty

Assistant Director SAASS

Greg Beatty is in his first year with Student Athlete Academic Support Services as an assistant director.

He provides all academic support services to make the baseball team as successful in the classroom as it is on the field. During the academic year, he monitors the athletes' academic progress in every class and also has one-on-one meetings with students when difficulties, such as school-related issues, adjusting to a new environment or helping the student-athlete find the right career path, arise. In addition to baseball, he also serves as the advisor for the women's soccer, golf, wrestling and lacrosse teams.

Beatty attended the University of North Carolina where he majored in business administration. After graduating, he worked for several years at UNC as a financial aid counselor before attending graduate school at the University of Texas, where he received his masters of education with a concentration in sport management. While at Texas, Beatty served many roles in the Athletics Student Services Office including study hall monitor, tutor, mentor and academic counselor.

During the 2007-08 academic year, Beatty completed an internship at North Carolina State University in the Academic Support Program for Student Athletes where he worked with the men's basketball and women's soccer teams. 2

Computer Services Department

Another example of Virginia Tech's commitment to providing its student-athletes with the best academic resources possible is the presence of the Computer Services department, under the direction of Tommy Regan and Chris Mayer.

Because all Tech students are required to own computers, the Virginia Tech athletics department helps its scholarship athletes fulfill that requirement by providing them with computers.

In addition to ordering computers for the athletes, the office also addresses computer service needs for the student-athletes and the entire Virginia Tech athletics staff.

SAASS Mission and Programs

The Virginia Tech Student Athlete Academic Support Services office is committed to providing fundamental and supplemental programming, consistent with University and NCAA policy, aimed at enhancing each student-athlete's educational experience. Following is a summary of the programs SAASS offers:

Athletic Transitions

All Freshman Student-Athletes A required course designed to ease the transition from high school to college.

Orientation

All Freshman and Transfer Student-Athletes Team and individual orientation sessions are scheduled.

Tutoring

All Student-Athletes Individual and group tutoring appointments are available on-site.

Advising-Counseling

All Student-Athletes SAASS works closely with each student's academic advisor within the college of their major.

Academic Progress

All Freshman and Transfer Student-Athletes Academic progress reports are sent from the student-athlete's professors to his or her athletic academic advisors twice each semester.

SAASS Computer Lab All Student-Athletes

The lab is a computer integrated learning environment conveniently located in Lane Stadium.

Academic Recognition Qualified Student-Athletes

Student athletes with a GPA of 3.0 and above are recognized at the end of each semester as members of the Athletic Directors Honor Roll.

Study Hall

All Freshman Student-Athletes and Upperclassmen with a GPA Below the Team Requirement

Study Hall is mandatory for all freshmen, transfers, and currently-enrolled students with an overall GPA below 2.30.

Academic and Athletic Eligibility All Student-Athletes

Academic records are monitored to ensure that all student-athletes are making progress towards their degree.

ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE

There's much more to athletic performance than weight training. Always striving to be on the cutting edge, Virginia Tech has combined strength and conditioning with nutrition and sport psychology to the benefit of its student-athletes. At Tech, these areas are part of the student-athlete's preparation for game day and for life.

Strength & Conditioning

Thanks to the direction of Assistant Athletics Director for Athletic Performance Dr. Mike Gentry, the Virginia Tech strength and conditioning program is among the best in the nation.

The baseball team trains in the Jim "Bulldog" Haren Weight Room. Located in Jamerson Athletic Center, the 5,000-square foot weight room was officially dedicated in September 1985 in honor of Haren, a former Hokie football player and long-time supporter of the Virginia Tech Athletics Department. Altogether, Tech has more than 22,000-square feet of strength and conditioning training space. Gentry, who received his doctorate in curriculum and instruction from Virginia Tech in 1999, is in his 22nd year as the director of strength and conditioning. His duties include overseeing the strength and conditioning training of athletes in all 21 varsity sports at Virginia Tech. He is aided by five full-time assistants.

Director of Strength and Conditioning for Olympic Sports Terry Mitchell, who worked in the Texas Rangers' farm system, serves as the full-time performance coach of the baseball team. Mitchell is a 1994 graduate of Lee (Tenn.) University, and he earned a master's in health promotions at Tech in 2004.

Terry Mitchell, seen above consulting with Sean Ryan, has developed a training program that is second to none. Not only does he put the Hokies through team workouts (below), but he makes sure each studentathlete (Austin Wates, left, and Ty Hohman, right) gets the the individual instruction that they need.

Assistant Director for Strength & Conditioning

Terry Mitchell, the assistant director for strength and conditioning, is in his seventh year working with the Virginia Tech. A graduate of Lee University, Mitchell earned his master's in community health promotions from Virginia Tech in 2004. He is an NSCA certified strength and conditioning specialist and holds various certifications from U.S. Weightlifting and the Cooper Institute. Off-season strength workouts consists of dynamic flexibility, speed, agility, strength training and mobility work. Mitchell uses an integrated approach in-season, where each training session involves some aspect of the components so players will not lose the benefits of off-season training.

Mitchell is a national level powerlifter and frequently competes in competitions along the East coast. He currently holds the drug free, Master's national and world record in the bench press event, which he set at the American Powerlifting Federation nationals in April 2006 with a lift of 529 pounds. He also placed second in the Master's division 220-pound weight class for the combined powerlifting competition that consists of the squat, bench and deadlift totals combined.

Mitchell is married to the former Terri Thompson, who serves as assistant vice president and controller for the Virginia Tech Foundation, Inc.

Nutrition

Eating healthy and choosing nutritious diets are important aspects of a Virginia Tech student-athlete's life and that's why in July 2002, the athletics department implemented the sports nutrition program. Amy Freel serves as the director.

Freel works individually with student-athletes to provide them with information they need on their diet. She provides individual players with diet counseling on issues such as gaining lean muscle mass, losing body fat, and eating choices to improve performance.

She also designs preseason menus, snacks and training table menus for the baseball team.

"It is extremely beneficial for our student-athletes to have nutrition education and counseling available to them in order for them to remain successful in their sports and outside of athletics," Freel said. "The individualized nutrition education allows the athletes and me to get very specific on their nutritional, personal and sport-specific goals."

Also in July 2002, the Virginia Tech Athletics Department purchased the BodPod body composition system. Tech is one of a handful of college athletic departments using this type of technology. The BodPod is found in many professional training facilities, such as the NFL and Major League Baseball. It accurately measures body composition (percent of body fat, lean muscle mass and fat mass) through air displacement within five minutes. Research has shown that an increase in lean muscle mass will increase athletic performance. The Sports Nutrition Program has helped countless Tech athletes maximize their athletic performance.

Nutritionist Amy Freel operates the BOD POD, which measures body composition.

Freel educates the team on supplements and gives a recipe book for all off-campus athletes.

Four times a year, she provides a body composition test on the athletes with the Bod Pod. The Bod Pod accurately measures the percent of body fat, lean muscle mass and fat mass through air displacement within five minutes. She has helped countless Tech athletes maximize their athletic performance.

Before coming to Virginia Tech, Freel worked at the Lewis Gale Center in Salem, Va., as a clinical dietitian. From 1999 until 2002, she worked in the student life office.

Freel earned a bachelor's in dietetics from Ball State in 1996. In 1998, she earned her master's in dietetics from her alma mater.

Freel has two sons – Ben (7), Matt (6) and a daughter Ashley (2). She and her husband Mike, reside in Blacksburg.

Dr. Gary Bennett Sport Psychologist Dr. Gary Bennett is in his eighth year at Virginia Tech as the Athletic Department's sport psychologist. Dr. Bennett coordinates the sport psychology department, which offers psychological and performanceenhancement services for all student-athletes. He works with studentathletes on a one-onone basis dealing with performance-related concerns in addition to off-the-field issues, and also offers various support groups, including injury-recovery groups.

On average, he will conduct 20 individual sessions per week in addition to meeting with teams as the need arises.

Dr. Bennett's work with teams includes implementing strategies designed to improve concentration and focus, goal-setting, and team cohesiveness.

Dr. Bennett received a B.A. in English from Centre College in 1981 where he was a varsity baseball student-athlete. He earned his PhD in Counseling Psychology from the University of Kentucky in 1995. Before coming to Tech, he completed his residency at the University of Cincinnati and worked in a psychiatric hospital while in graduate school.

Dr. Bennett currently resides in Blacksburg.

Sport Psychology

Virginia Tech offers another important service to all of its student-athletes – sport psychology. Dr. Gary Bennett coordinates the sport psychology department, which offers psychological and performance enhancement services for student-athletes. Bennett also works closely with the Cook Counseling Center.

Bennett meets with student-athletes on an individual basis for personal counseling and to discuss the mental aspects of the game. He also works on team building, communication and performance enhancement.

"I've always felt that sport psychology was an important element," Gentry said. "We want to be a holistic model of an athletics department, and we wanted to and needed to include sport psychology in that model."

"We try to address all the various factors that affect student-athletes' performance on and off the field," Bennett said. "We believe we can help athletes perform better by addressing those concerns."

The sport psychology department also offers an injury group to afford injured athletes the opportunity to meet with other injured athletes and talk about their recovery process. Injured athletes may also meet individually with the sport psychologists. On average, the psychologists conduct 20 individual sessions per week and meet weekly with teams as the need arises.

One of the sport psychology resources is the Dynavision 2000, a unique conditioning and training program designed to increase focus and concentration, improve coordination and visuomotor reactions and increase peripheral awareness. Virginia Tech is privileged to be one of only a handful of schools with this cutting-edge technology.

The response to the sport psychology program has been positive. The studentathletes are very receptive to the services offered by the doctors. The sport psychology office reaches out to athletes who may not have considered going to the counseling service that is offered to all students at Virginia Tech.

"It is a great resource for our coaches and our athletes," Gentry said. "We've improved a lot in areas of strength and conditioning, nutrition and in sport psychology. It's all about becoming a well-rounded athletic program and helping student-athletes. We want to give them all the resources we can, to put them in a position to be successful."

STUDENT LIFE

Led by the Virginia Tech Student Athlete Advisory Committee, Hokie student-athletes volunteered countless hours in the local community last year. In addition, over 400 Virginia Tech student-athletes earned a 3.00 grade point average during one or both semesters in 2007. The accomplishments are even more amazing in the context of the 2007-2008 athletic seasons being some of the most successful in Virginia Tech history.

The Virginia Tech Athletics Office of Student Life is under the direction of Reyna Gilbert, the Assistant Director of Athletics for Student Life, who came to Tech from Nova Southeastern University in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. Assisting Gilbert is Coordinator of Student Life Danny White. The programs and services implemented by the Virginia Tech Athletics Office of Student Life are inspired by the NCAA/ CHAMPS (Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success) Life Skills Program. The program has been previously honored for its commitment to serving the good of the student-athletes by the Division I-A Athletic Director's Association as a Program of Excellence.

STUDENT ATHLETE ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The Student Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) is made up of student-athletes assembled to provide insight on the student-athlete experience. The SAAC also offers input on the rules, regulations and policies that affect student-athletes' lives on NCAA member institution campuses. Two members of each sport team serve on SAAC each academic year. The leadership team during 2008-2009 is Ashley Owens (Women's Soccer) - President, Beth Walker (Softball) - Vice President, and Preston Lemon (Men's Tennis) - Secretary. Highlights of the 2007-2008 SAAC included the second annual toy drive competition among sports teams for the Montgomery County Christmas store, which collected over 1,400 toys, a canned food drive competition collecting over 2,000 food items for the local food banks and participating in Virginia Tech's Relay for Life.

The baseball team's SAAC representatives are junior outfielder Steve Bumbry and redshirt-sophomore first baseman/designated hitter Matt Blow.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Virginia Tech student-athletes are savoring their collegiate athletic experiences with the understanding that upon graduation, they will need to secure a job. The Student Life Office worked with Becca Scott, the Career Coordinator for Student Athletes within the Career Services Center, to create programs which increase the student-athletes awareness of how transferable skills learned through athletics (resiliency, time management, teamwork and competitiveness) could be beneficial in their academic field upon graduation.

Student-athletes had the opportunity to participate in an Etiquette Dinner held in January where over 80 student-athletes and coaches were in attendance. In the fall, the office also hosted its second annual Mock Interview Night with representatives from Wolseley North America, Northwestern Mutual Finance and the Virginia Tech graduate program. In addition to the mock interview night, student-athletes are offered workshops on topics such as resumé design, interview attire and job search information. Student-athletes are encouraged to participate in on-campus interviewing and eRecruiting along with securing internships and co-ops during their college careers.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

The Virginia Tech Athletics Office of Student Life is responsible for nominating studentathletes for academic honors and awards. Athletes are nominated for on-campus, Atlantic Coast Conference and national awards. Student-athletes with a 3.0 GPA are rewarded each semester by being honored on the Athletic Director's Honor Roll. The 2007 calendar year listed 432 student-athletes with this honor.

Paul LaPenna (men's cross country) and Claire Dickey (women's swimming and diving) received the Skelton Award for Academic Excellence in Athletics. The award is given to one male and one female student-athlete who demonstrate leadership, outstanding academic excellence and community involvement. The recipients of the award receive a $5,000 scholarship donated by Dr. Bill and Peggy Skelton.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

Virginia Tech student-athletes are more involved than ever in the local community. Having volunteered many hours in the schools, community groups and hospitals, the student-athletes are setting a high precedent for all involved with the program.

Under the "Hokies with Heart" umbrella, each sports team has a community partner with which it volunteers time and hosts at a home game to honor the partnership program. Each athletic team at Virginia Tech is encouraged to select one local charity or group on which to focus its philanthropic efforts throughout the year. The baseball team partners with both the Special Olympics and with Caring Bridge, a program that pairs volunteers with terminally ill children.

SPORTS MEDICINE

The Sports Medicine Department at Virginia Tech is constantly evolving to incorporate new ideas utilizing state-of-the-art resources for the betterment of all Hokie student-athletes. Under the leadership of Assistant Director of Athletics for Athletic Training Mike Goforth, the department is constantly improving and developing new strategies to provide the most current and comprehensive care.

Their team of certified athletic trainers, orthopaedic surgeons, Board Certified primary care physicians, chiropractors, physical therapists, sport psychologists, nutritionists, massage therapists and orthotists are available on site to manage the health care needs of Tech athletes. The staff continually looks for ways to enhance the services provided for their athletes as evidenced by their participation in local and national projects.

Tech is entering its eighth full year in the 4,300-square-foot Eddie Ferrell Memorial Training Room, which consolidated the training rooms that existed in the Merryman Center and Cassell Coliseum. The facility gives the training staff a centralized area to care for the needs of all Virginia Tech student-athletes. There is top-of-the-line equipment and a unique style of architecture, developed by Glenn Reynolds, AIA and Larry Perry as the consulting engineer.

The Ferrell Training Room nearly doubled the size of the former Merryman Center facility. Tech now has more than 10,000 square feet dedicated to sports medicine, placing in the top five percent nationally. The $10 million Merryman Center includes 2,400 square feet of medical space and a physician's suite. The suite is equipped with a new, state-ofthe-art X-ray system, a fluoroscopy unit and a minor procedure room. The training room also has offices for the staff, dozens of training tables, two cold tubs, whirlpools, an underwater treadmill, a Biodex System 3 and various other pieces of rehabilitation equipment and treatment modalities.

After the sports medicine staff diagnoses and treats an ill or injured athlete, the staff starts collaborating with the strength and conditioning staff to provide the best injury prevention and performance enhancing programs possible.

The range of benefits that athletes have access to includes custom orthotics, custom mouth guards, specialized DonJoy prophylactic bracing and many other options to help prevent or protect them from injuries.

The sports medicine staff also takes great pride in treating the athletes year-round. Special attention is paid to off-season activity. During this time, the staff will analyze past injury data from each participant and construct a preventative program that is followed over a nine-week period between the end of the season and the beginning of spring practice. This same procedure is followed during the summer.

"We value the off-season greatly within our department," Goforth said. "We have adopted the same mindset as our strength and conditioning staff. We look at our off-season time as an opportunity to get our athletes better as opposed to time off for our staff."

If physical therapy is needed, student-athletes can be seen by physical therapist Mark Piechoski in the Ferrell Training Room. Piechoski, a certified athletic trainer, physical therapist and strength and conditioning specialist, plays a large role in the overall program developed to return a large role in the overall program developed to return an injured athlete back to 100 percent. In addition, staff sport psychologist Dr. Gary Bennett is available to all student-athletes for personal and performance issues. Team chiropractors, Dr. Greg Tilley and Dr. Dale Reynolds, provide Tech athletes with specialized treatment for spine-related conditions and play a huge role in performance enhancement through various chiropractic techniques.

"Our goal is to provide the same high level of health care that professional and Olympic athletes receive," Goforth continued. "Our usage of specialist care is modeled after the NFL system and incorporates components of the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs."

Team orthopaedic surgeons Dr. Marc Siegel, Dr. Jim LeBolt and Dr. Demian Yakel bring a wealth of experience and skill to assist when athletes need orthopaedic consultation for certain types of sports-related injuries.

A vital part of student-athlete medical services is access to the Montgomery Regional Hospital's SWVA Center for Orthopaedics and Schiffert Student Health Center. Both facilities are staffed with qualified physicians and staff, and feature a wide variety of technologies designed to increase the level of care available to athletes.

Tech also maintains a special relationship with Montgomery Regional Hospital. Montgomery Regional Hospital is the choice for state-of-the-art equipment to perform surgeries, diagnostic imaging and processing of laboratory requests.

Certified athletic trainer John Shifflett works directly with the baseball team, attending practices and traveling with the team.

Athletic Success

Hokies have seen their success and visibility grow immensely over the past few years. For the ever-growing legion of Tech fans, the most exciting part is that the future looks even brighter.

On July 1, 2004, Virginia Tech officially became a member of the prestigious Atlantic Coast Conference - a move that has already helped the Hokie athletics program grow even stronger.

Tech competes at the Division I level of the NCAA, and with a total of 21 varsity sports, 11 for men and 10 for women, Virginia Tech provides generous opportunities for athletes (and fans) to get in the Hokie huddle.

Tech's nationally known football team has had unprecedented success over the past decade. The Hokies have played in 16 consecutive bowl games. Last year, the Hokies won 10 games and won the FedEx Orange Bowl in Miami. The Tech football team captured the ACC Championship last year for a second straight time – and third overall – after taking the title in 2004, its inaugural season in the league. The Hokies also won BIG EAST Championships in 1995, 1996 and 1999, and played for the National Championship in the 2000 Nokia Sugar Bowl.

In 2005, Spyridon Jullien won NCAA titles in the indoor weight throw and the outdoor hammer

Angela Tincher captured the 2008 National Player of the Year in softball for the Hokies, leading them to Women's College World Series last season. throw, bringing the school its first-ever NCAA Championships in any sport. During Jullien's senior year, he again won the weight throw during the indoor season and captured the hammer throw title at the NCAA Outdoor Championships.

The women's basketball team has advanced to the postseason 12 times in the past 15 years. The men's basketball team advanced to the quarterfinals of the NIT last year and finished with a 21-14 record, including a sweep of Virginia. Also, the women's track team captured the ACC Indoor and Outdoor Championships for the second consecutive year and hurdler Queen Harrison participated in the 2008 Olympic Games.

In the fall of 2007, the men's soccer program had its most successful season ever by advancing to the NCAA College Cup. The softball team advanced to the NCAA tournament for the fourth consecutive season and made its first-ever appearance at the softball World Series in Oklahoma City, Okla. Additionally, the softball squad won both the 2007 ACC regular season and tournament titles, and also captured the 2008 tournament.

The women's soccer team reached the postseason for the first time in its history during 2004 and earned the ACC sportsmanship award in 2005. The Hokies then returned to the NCAA Tournament in 2008.

In 2001, the Hokie golf team won a nation'sbest six tournaments, including the BIG EAST Golf Championship, and went on to record an eighthplace finish at the 2001 NCAA Golf Championship. In 2007, the Hokies tied for the ACC tournament title and last year advanced to the NCAA regionals once again.

Many individuals have also participated in NCAA postseason competition in recent years, including Hokies from wrestling, tennis, swimming, golf, cross country and track & field. Cross country runner Tasmin Fanning earned All-America honors for the second straight year in 2008, claiming third place in the nation's biggest race.

Prior to joining the ACC, Virginia Tech was a charter member of the BIG EAST Football Conference since 1991, and a member of the BIG EAST in all other sports except wrestling from 2001 to 2004.

Since Virginia Tech fielded its first baseball team in 1892, the Hokies have compiled an overall record of 1,876 victories, 1,292 losses and 26 ties in 115 seasons (no teams in 1894 and 1899) - a winning mark of 60 percent. Tech has suffered just five losing seasons over the past 43 years and has averaged 34 wins a season during the last 28 years. Following is a year-by-year look at Tech's results from 1947 to the present:

FIRST BASEBALL NUMBER RETIRED

The familiar No.1 will no longer be seen on a baseball jersey at Virginia Tech. Hall of Fame coach Chuck Hartman's jersey and number were retired during a special ceremony on Sept. 22, 2006. Hartman retired from coaching in June of 2006, following 28 seasons at Virginia Tech and 47 seasons on the collegiate level. His number is the first baseball number to be retired at Tech.

Hartman earned the highest recognition a collegiate coach can receive when he was inducted into the American Baseball Coaches Association Hall of Fame during the ABCA 2004 annual convention in San Antonio, Texas. The honor came just a little over a year after his induction into the Virginia Tech Sports Hall of Fame in November 2002, and was magnified by the fact that he was already a member of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Hall of Fame.

Hartman's overall coaching record of 1,444-816-8 places him fifth in all-time wins among Division I baseball coaches. His final record at Tech was 961-591-8. He became Tech's winningest baseball coach in 1987 and guided Tech to more victories than any other coach during the university's athletic history.

FIRST BASEBALL JERSEY RETIRED

Virginia Tech retired the jersey of former Tech baseball great Johnny Oates on May 4, 2002, during a special ceremony prior to a double-header against Connecticut at English Field.

Oates was presented with a framed jersey in recognition of the honor and a special display with his name and number has been placed on the outfield wall. Oates' jersey is the first baseball jersey to be retired by Virginia Tech. His number 15 remains available to future Tech players.

Oates came to Blacksburg in 1965 and was an outstanding catcher for the Virginia Tech baseball team. He hit .410 in 1966 and .342 in 1967 before signing with the Baltimore Orioles after his junior season. Oates spent 11 seasons in the major leagues as a player, seeing action in two World Series with the Los Angeles Dodgers and one with the New York Yankees. After retiring as a player in 1981, Oates tried his hand at coaching, and went on to become the major league manager of the Baltimore Orioles and the Texas Rangers.

Oates was inducted into the Virginia Tech Sports Hall of Fame in 1983. He died Dec. 24, 2004.

THIS IS VIRGINIA TECH

Hokie Stone

Hokie Stone is used to construct most of the buildings on the beautiful Tech campus. This natural rock is 475-million-year-old dolomite limestone, mined from a quarry located less than a mile from Cassell Coliseum.

In constructing the buildings at Tech, a stone mason shapes individual stones, arranges them and cements them together with mortar to create walls of great strength and durability.

What Is a Hokie?

That's the most often-asked question in Virginia Tech athletics. The answer leads all the way back to 1896 when Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute. With the change came the necessity for writing a new cheer and a contest for such a purpose was held by the student body. Senior 0.M. Stull won first prize for his "Hokie" yell which still is used today. Later, when asked if "Hokie" had any special meaning, Stull explained the word was solely the product of his imagination and was used only as an attention-getter for his yell. It soon became a nickname for all Tech teams and for those people loyal to Tech athletics. The official University school colors, Chicago maroon and burnt orange, also were introduced in 1896. The colors were chosen by a committee because they made a "unique combination" not worn elsewhere at the time.

A GREAT PLACE TO LEARN AND GROW

Beginning in 1872 with 132 students and two programs of study, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, popularly known as Virginia Tech, has evolved into a comprehensive university of national and international prominence. With about 26,000 full-time students in Blacksburg and more than 2,000 other students statewide, the university produces world-class scholarship in a challenging academic environment. University tradition is firmly rooted in our motto, Ut Prosim (That I May Serve), and our historic land-grant mission is brought to life through learning, discovery, and engagement.

Beginning in 1872 with 132 students and two programs of study, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, popularly known as Virginia Tech, has evolved into a comprehensive university of national and international prominence. With about 27,500 students in Blacksburg and about 2,500 other students statewide, the university produces world-class scholarship in a challenging academic environment. University tradition is firmly rooted in our motto, Ut Prosim (That I May Serve), and our historic land-grant mission is brought to life through learning, discovery and engagement.

LEARNING

Virginia Tech's challenging academic standards attract high-achieving students. Our eight colleges (Agriculture & Life Sciences, Architecture & Urban Studies, Engineering, Liberal Arts & Human Sciences, Natural Resources, Pamplin Business, Science and Virginia-Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine) and Graduate School offer more degree programs - approximately 200 - than any other university in the state. Virginia Tech is one of the nation's leaders in developing and using instructional technologies. More than 85 percent of our departments offer e-learning courses, which have attracted more than 100,000 enrollments since 1998. During this time, more than 700 different faculty members have offered more than 3,500 different courses.

DISCOVERY

The university's groundbreaking research transforms lives and communities. With annual research expenditures of nearly $367 million, Virginia Tech ranks among the top 55 research universities in the United States. The university, which has more than 100 research centers, also consistently ranks among the top institutions in industry-supported research and near the top 10 in the number of patents issued each year. The university's nationally and internationally recognized faculty and motivated students are involved in more than 3,500 research projects in fields ranging from biotechnology to materials, from the environment and energy to food and human health and from transportation to computing information.

ENGAGEMENT

As part of our outreach mission and in adherence to our motto, we serve and engage the citizens of the commonwealth, the nation, and the world. Virginia Tech is involved in a multitude of economic and community development projects. These efforts focus on education and the dissemination of knowledge to the global society in which we live.

Professionals, organizations and communities tap Virginia Tech's vast resources, expertise, and research results through hundreds of continuing and professional education programs and five campus centers located throughout the commonwealth. Virginia Tech has a long history of providing innovative distance-learning techniques to meet the various needs of working adults and other nontraditional students.

The Inn at Virginia Tech & Skelton Conference Center on campus and The Hotel Roanoke & Conference Center in Roanoke, both owned by Virginia Tech, support the university's outreach mission by working with faculty to plan and host conferences and continuing education and professional programs.

Virginia Tech manages more than $46 million in funded economic development projects in 44 countries and encourages faculty members to develop global course content and study abroad opportunities for students. In 2007-08, more than 2,150 students from more than 100 foreign countries studied at Tech, while more than 1,000 Virginia Tech students studied abroad.

Virginia Cooperative Extension, operated jointly by Virginia Tech and Virginia State University, has been helping people improve their economic, cultural and social well being for nearly a century. With 107 city/county offices, tens of thousands of volunteers, and programs across the state, Extension reaches and teaches millions of Virginians annually.

CHARLES STEGER University President

Now in his ninth year as President of Virginia Tech, Dr. Charles Steger has charted a course to bolster the university's research enterprise and compete among the nation's premier research institutions. Under his direction, the university has adopted a strategic plan, which is guiding the growth of the research enterprise, fostering outreach initiatives and increasing quality across all aspects of the academic community.

In his previous role as Vice President for Development

Virginia Tech improves ranking among best values in public colleges

Virginia Tech has again improved its ranking among the top public colleges and universities in the nation that offer a first class educational experience at a bargain price, according to Kiplinger's Personal Finance magazine.

The Kiplinger "100: Best Values in Public Colleges" list, released in November for its December issue, ranked Virginia Tech 15th among 100 institutions "that combine outstanding economic value with a first-class education," according to the publication's editors.

In 2007, Virginia Tech ranked 18th; in 2006, Virginia Tech was ranked 20th.

Kiplinger's top 100 colleges are identified from a pool of more than 500 public four-year colleges and universities, and are ranked according to academic quality, cost, and financial aid opportunities. Schools that make the list traditionally work to keep costs down through a variety of creative financing initiatives, such as funds obtained from licensing fees associated with university-branded apparel and other items, and through private fundraising initiatives.

Virginia Tech continues to be among the lowest-cost public universities in the state, and has the lowest cost for Virginia residents among Virginia public institutions.

"With the economic turmoil of 2008, families of all income levels are feeling the financial pinch," says Fred Frailey, editor of Kiplinger's. "But schools like these prove that an excellent education is still available at an affordable price."

and University Relations, Steger built a critical base of private support when he led the Campaign for Virginia Tech, which raised more than $337 million. Today, private support from Virginia Tech's alumni and friends continues to play an essential role in this university community.

Steger's ties to Virginia Tech span five different decades as a student, professor, dean, vice president and now president. While on the faculty, he twice won teaching excellence awards. When he became dean of the > College of Architecture and Urban Studies in 1981, he was, at age 33, the youngest architecture dean in the nation. His most recent publications include book chapters on the topics of the business of education and the university presidency.

CAMPUS LANDMARKS

The focus of student campus activity and the hub of much of the performing and visual arts at the university, Squires Student Center contains theatres, the Perspective Art Gallery, the Black Cultural Center, pool tables, bowling lanes, restaurants, ballrooms and administrative offices for many student organizations. The original student center, built in 1937, has undergone several major renovations, but the facade of the original building is visible in the second-floor lobby area.

The Duck Pond provides a peaceful respite for students, faculty, staff and visitors – as well as for flocks of ducks and geese. The pond was created in 1937. A smaller pond, just north of the Duck Pond, is known as the Ice Pond – so called because it was the source of ice for the campus until a refrigeration plant opened in 1898-99.

TECH'S HOMETOWN, Blacksburg, Virginia

One of America's best college towns, Blacksburg is a perfect setting for Virginia Tech.

Located in Southwest Virginia on a plateau between the Blue Ridge and Alleghany Mountains, Blacksburg combines the laid-back lifestyle of a small town with the amenities one would expect to find around a major center of higher education. Together, the town and university have worked hard to create a progressive community that ranks among the nation's elite living environments. Virginia Tech and the Town of Blacksburg gained national and international attention by creating the world's first "electronic village." Businesses and industries have been drawn by the potential of the quaint town.

Established in 1798 by John and William Black, the town is surrounded by scenic mountain views that distinguish the area.

The nearly 42,000 residents (including students) enjoy a close proximity to a variety of recreation areas such as the Blue Ridge Parkway, Appalachian Trail, Claytor Lake and the New River. The region features a moderate climate and four distinct seasons.

Blacksburg's location (adjacent to major interstate highways) provides convenient access to most points in the southern and eastern parts of the country.

More information on Blacksburg can be found on the Web site of the Blacksburg Electronic Village, www.bev.net or the town's Web site, www. blacksburg.va.us.

Blacksburg offers a lively downtown (shown above/right during the annual Steppin' Out festival), and scenic surroundings of the New River Valley area.

BASEBALL

Athletics Administration

James C. Weaver, whose innovative ideas and work as a reformer have made him one of college athletics' most popular administrators, is the director of athletics at Virginia Tech.

Weaver, 63, was appointed on Sept. 24, 1997 and has been a tireless leader on behalf of Tech athletics.

In his years on the job at Tech, Weaver has taken steps to place increased emphasis on projects benefiting student-athletes. Under his leadership, the athletics department entered into a comprehensive agreement with NIKE beginning in 2007-08 which provides uniforms, clothing and equipment for all Virginia Tech varsity teams over an eight-year period. He created a comprehensive awards program for letterwinners and has initiated and funded an annual awards banquet. The Monogram Club was revitalized in 1998 and provides several benefits to former Hokie athletes, trainers and managers.

JIM WEAVER Director of Athletics

A top personal priority for Weaver is the continuous improvement of Tech's facilities.

A $20 million basketball practice facility is well underway. It will boast two practice gyms, a 3,000 square-foot basketball weight room, coaches' offices, film rooms and locker rooms. Ground was broken this past summer so the facility can be completed in time for the 2009 basketball season.

Weaver recently renegotiated Tech's multimedia rights contract with ISP Sports, creating an agreement which goes into effect in 2008-09 and extends for 10 years to provide enhanced revenue for the athletics department.

Weaver came to Tech from Western Michigan University where he was director of athletics from January 1996 until he came to Blacksburg. Prior to that, he was AD for three and a half years at UNLV, where he reconstructed a troubled athletic department.

It was with the Nittany Lions' football team that Weaver first made a name for himself in athletics. He was a center and linebacker on Penn State teams coached by the legendary Rip Engle and Joe Paterno.

Weaver graduated from Penn State in 1967 with a bachelor's degree in psychology and rehabilitation education. He received a master's in college counselor education, also from Penn State, in 1968.

Weaver started a coaching career as an assistant at Penn State for six seasons. During that time, the Lions played in five bowl games - the Cotton, Gator, Sugar and Orange (twice).

He later was the offensive coordinator at Iowa State and head coach for one season at Villanova in 1974. He also spent five years as an assistant professor at Clarion State and three years as director of franchise sales at Athletic Attic.

Prior to landing the athletic director's job at UNLV, Weaver spent nine years at the University of Florida. He was a strong force at Florida in the field of compliance and concluded his time there as associate athletics director.

Weaver drew rave reviews at UNLV for his fundraising expertise. He generated nearly $15 million in his time there and built a new athletic complex.

While at Western Michigan, Weaver announced the creation of a $7 million football center, stabilized fluctuating revenues and installed a CHAMPS Life Skills program.

Weaver and his wife Traci have four sons - Josh, Paul, Cole and Craig.

Media Information

ATHLETICS COMMUNICATIONS

Matt Kovatch, Assistant Director of Athletics Communications. and Dave Smith, Assistant A.D. for Athletics Communications, coordinate media services for baseball. Members of the media requesting information on Virginia Tech baseball are asked to contact Kovatch in the Virginia Tech Athletics Communications Office (ACO). Media requests for baseball photos should be directed to Photography Coordinator and Designer Dave Knachel at (540) 231-1838 or dknachel@vt.edu. The ACO is located in room 460 of the Jamerson Athletic Center next to the Bowman Room.

Baseball information, as well as up-to-date statistics, is available to the media throughout the season via the Virginia Tech Athletics Web site, www.hokiesports.com.

INTERVIEWS

All media interviews with players and coaches should be arranged through the ACO with at least 24 hours advance notice. During the week, head coach Pete Hughes will usually be available between 9:30 a.m. and noon except on travel dates and game day. Player interviews will be arranged around the players' academic and practice schedules.

COVERING A GAME

Media members wishing to cover Virginia Tech home baseball games from the English Field press box should contact Kovatch or Smith in the ACO. There is no charge for admission to Virginia Tech home baseball games and a credential is not needed to enter English Field. Seating in the press box, however, is by request only and is assigned on a priority basis in accordance with athletics department media policies. All requests should be made prior to game day. Non-working individuals, such as spouses, dates, friends and fans, will not be permitted in the press box or on the field during the game. Seats in the working

VIRGINIA TECH, PLEASE

While the full name of the school is Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University the school is commonly referred to as Virginia Tech. There is no such school as Virginia Tech University.

Founded in 1872 as Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College, the school changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1895. Alumni and media shortened the name to VPI before Virginia Tech became the primary popular reference. The university officially became a state university in 1970 to bring the official title to what it is today.

Those covering Hokie athletics are asked to refer to the university as simply Virginia Tech. Virginia Tech University, VA Tech, VPI and SU, VPI&SU and VT are not recognized names and should not be used.

Media Information

DIRECTIONS TO ENGLISH FIELD

The Virginia Tech campus is located in Blacksburg, Va., approximately 40 miles southwest of Roanoke, Va. To reach the campus from Interstate 81 take Exit 118B onto U.S. Route 460 West toward Blacksburg. Remain on 460 West, following the signs to Virginia Tech. Take a right turn at the Virginia Tech Central Campus exit marked Rt. 314 and Southgate Drive (first stoplight you come to). Take the first left at the stoplight onto Duck Pond Drive and English Field will be on the right.

BY AIR

Roanoke Regional Airport in Roanoke, Va., is served by major domestic airlines. Limousine services provide transportation between the airport and campus. Private planes may land at the Virginia Tech Airport, near campus.

Tennessee on FSN South, the nation's largest regional sports television network. In the states of Maryland and Virginia and in the District of Columbia, ACC All-ACCess airs on Comcast SportsNet/Mid-Atlantic, and it airs on FSN Florida in the state of Florida.

ACC SELECT

ACCSelect.com is a broadband network featuring live and on-demand webcasts of all Atlantic Coast Conference sports. Annual, monthly and single-game passes are available – visit www.ACCSelect.com to get started. Check the schedule on page 85 to see which Virginia Tech games are scheduled to be broadcast on ACC Select this season.

LIVE STATS

Live statistics will be available via the Internet for Tech's home (and most away) games. Fans and media can view play-by-play and up-to-date box scores by clicking on the live stats link on the ticker at the top of Tech's athletics homepage, or by going to http://www. hokiesports.com/baseball/live/

TECH ON THE RADIO

For the sixth consecutive season, Virginia Tech baseball will have a commercial radio package. This season, the Cumulus Radio Group will broadcast all of Tech's ACC contests. Information on the entire 2009 broadcast schedule, along with stations and times, is available on the schedule on page 85.

Coverage will begin 15 minutes prior to the first pitch with the pre-game show, which includes an interview with Tech head coach Pete Hughes. At the conclusion of each game, the post-game show will include comments from Coach Hughes and a featured player.

Torye Hurst will handle the play-by-play duties again this season. Hurst broadcast Tech's BIG EAST Conference Tournament games for two seasons prior to taking on the broadcast duties four years ago during the Hokies' first season in the ACC. He has also announced selected women's basketball games and served as the Tech baseball public address announcer for three seasons. Prior to Tech, Hurst served as the PA announcer for the Augusta GreenJackets Class A minor league baseball team in Augusta, Ga., and following college, was the play-by-play announcer for University of Southern Mississippi women's basketball for four seasons.

Presence with the Pros

SAUNDERS KEEPS TECH IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Despite cracking the starting rotation to begin of the 2008 season only because injuries left the Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim short-handed on the mound, former Hokie Joe Saunders took the opportunity and ran with it. One all-star game appearance and 31 regular season starts later, the 6-foot-3 lefty was still going strong, eventually pitching in game three of the American League Division Series during the Angels' playoff run.

Saunders is currently the only former Hokie playing in the majors after debuting back in 2005, but he made his presence felt in 2008, compiling a 17-7 record with a 3.41 earned run average and 103 strikeouts in 198 innings pitched.

After finishing the first-half of the season tied for the A.L. lead in wins, Saunders pitched a scoreless third inning in an all-star game that the A.L. would go on to win, 4-3, in 15 innings. By doing so, he became just the third former Hokie to make an all-star team and the second to play in the game itself.

He capped his tremendous season by starting on the mound and earning a no decision in the Angels' game three win over the Boston Red Sox in the ALDS, becoming the fifth Hokie to play in the major league's postseason. He is the only Tech alum to accomplish both feats in the same year.

Saunders pitched for the Hokies from 2000-02, totaling a 27-7 overall record and a 3.43 earned run average. He registered 255 strikeouts and 115 walks in 315 career innings pitched. He left Blacksburg following his junior season after being selected 12th overall by the Angels in 2002.

KNAPP GETS PROMOTED TO THE MAJORS

Rick Knapp, a former standout pitcher for Tech in the early '80s, will be the Detroit Tigers' new pitching coach for the 2009 season. Knapp arrived in Detroit after spending the previous 12 seasons as the minor league pitching coordinator for the Minnesota Twins.

Knapp pitched his junior and senior seasons for the Hokies and still holds the season and career records for best won-lost percentage. He went 10-0 in 1982 with a 3.86 ERA and threw five complete games, striking out 68 batters. He followed his undefeated season with a 10-1 campaign in 1983 to finish his Tech career with a .952 winning percentage. He tossed nine complete games in his final season and fanned 59 batters.

Following his collegiate career, Knapp was drafted in the 41st round by the Texas Rangers and spent five seasons in the minor league system before beginning his coaching career.

RIPKEN BEGINS TRADITION WITH BASEBALL NIGHT IN BLACKSBURG

Baseball icon Cal Ripken, Jr., was the keynote speaker at the baseball team's fundraising banquet, the inaugural Baseball Night in Blacksburg, in February of 2008. The former Baltimore Orioles legend kicked off an event that included dinner, drinks, silent and live auctions, and served as a way to celebrate Virginia Tech baseball with members of the local community.

By his own request, Ripken arrived early to meet privately with the Hokie players, and he spent valuable time sharing stories with and offering advice to the Tech team.

Hall of Famer Jim Palmer continued the tradition at the event's second go-around in 2009.
