TECH OPENS ACC SLATE ON ROAD IN WINSTON-SALEM

The weekend series: Tech opens up ACC play this weekend with a three-game set in Winston-Salem, North Carolina against Wake Forest. Started back in 1911, the Demon Deacons hold a 44-38 edge in the all-time series including a 26-16 mark in games at home. The Hokies, though, have won two straight and three of the last four.

Tech in ACC opening weekends: Now in its 11th season in the conference, Tech is 2-8 in opening series weekends in the league and that includes facing six ranked teams in its previous 10 openers, including at No. 15 Clemson last year. The team opened the 2007 and 2010 seasons with series wins. This weekend will also mark the ninth time the Hokies will open league play on the road.

In ACC opening games, the Hokies are 3-7, winning games in 2007, 2009, and 2012. All-time, after the opening weekend, Tech is a combined 8-22.

Perez is the nation's Ironman: Entering the weekend, senior Alex Perez is just one of five players in Division I baseball to have started in every one of his team's games since stepping foot on campus. Perez' 182 consecutive starts is currently the longest streak in the nation and is the longest streak to start a career at Tech. Of his 182 starts at Tech, 130 have been at second base, 49 have been at shortstop and three have been on the mound.

Starting pitching solid through three weekends: Despite the Hokies' 6-6 record, Tech's starting pitching has been solid for the team since the start of the season. The overall staff ERA is 2.81, but the starters have combined for a 1.66 ERA in 76 innings pitched (6.1 IP per start). The starters have also struck out a combined 63 batters opposed to 13 walks and are hitting just .167 against them. Starters have not allowed an earned run in the last 40 innings pitched.

Checking the national rankings: It's early, but some Hokies are currently ranked in the top 25 in the nation in several categories. Perez is third in triples (2), fifth in runs scored (18) and 21st in walks (12). Ricky Surum is seventh in sacrifice bunts (4) and Brendon Hayden is 25th in home runs (3). Jon Woodcock is 24th in WHIP (0.55) and 25th in strikeouts (24).

INTERVIEW POLICY

Off Days - All player and coach interview requests need to be arranged through the Virginia Tech Athletics Communications Office. Players and coaches should not be called directly under any circumstances.

Game Days - Mason and requested players will be available to the media after the game and following a 10-minute cooling off period. Interviews will take place on the field or in the Tech dugout.

#22 Patrick Mason

Head Coach

Second Season

On June 27, 2013, Virginia Tech announced the hiring of Patrick Mason as the baseball program's newest head coach. He became the 24th head baseball coach at the school, but just the fifth in the prior 66 years of the program. Mason took over the head coaching reins after spending the previous three seasons under former coach Pete Hughes.

Mason, who enters his 18th season in the coaching profession, was promoted to the position of associate head coach at Tech in the fall of 2012, and had served as the pitching game coordinator and recruiting coordinator in his three years prior to his promotion. The former Northeastern catcher (1994-97) spent the previous five seasons before coming to Tech as an assistant at Northeastern (2005-10).

Before his arrival in Blacksburg, Mason was the recipient of the 2010 Kevin Burr Award given to the top assistant coach in New England as selected by his peers. He also served as assistant coach at Framingham State in 2004 after four years at Boston College, when Hughes was the head coach there. For the summers of 2003-06, he was a coach with the Harwich Mariners of the Cape Cod League.

Mason has a tremendous history of developing catching prospects and in his previous 13 years of coaching before coming to Tech, he served as a mentor for 10 catchers who were selected in the MLB Draft, including Huskies Matt Morizio and Dan Milano at Northeastern. The drafting of Hokies' catcher Mark Zagunis in the third round (78th pick) of the 2014 draft only continued that trend.

Also taken in the 2014 draft was pitcher Brad Markey, which brings the total number of Tech pitchers who signed pro pitching contracts under Mason to 11, which included six off the 2013 roster - his last of three seasons as the Hokies' pitching coach.

In those three years, the Tech pitching staff registered three straight seasons with an ERA lower than the previous year and posted an ERA no higher than 4.57, which hadn't happened since an 18-season streak that ended in 1980. The last time a Tech squad posted back-to-back seasons with an ERA of 4.20 or lower was the 1976 and 1977 teams, something the 2012 and 2013 teams accomplished.

While playing at Northeastern, the Franklin, Massachusetts, native was the team's captain in 1996 and 1997, and helped NU to America East championships in 1994 and 1997. In his four years, he found his way into the record books on both sides of the ball, as his 19 career home runs rank high in Husky history and, defensively, he holds the NU record for errorless chances in a season with 242 (1997).

DID YOU KNOW?

As of Jan. 1, 2015, the Virginia Tech baseball coaching staff is the youngest by average age in the ACC. Head coach Patrick Mason is the second youngest coach in the league, two years older than Boston College's Mike Gambino, but Tech is the only staff with all three assistants under the age of 30 - the other 13 schools have six combined.

The three youngest staffs in ACC by age

Staff	HC age	Assistants' ages	Ave. age
Virginia Tech	39	29, 26, 27	30.25
Boston College	37	43, 31, 30	35.25

Jenco enjoys first weekend in Georgia: Tech's leadoff man Saige Jenco did exactly what a leadoff man should do, get on base. In all three games at Mercer, Jenco singled to start the game and continued to reach base the entire weekend.

Jenco, a redshirt-sophomore, finished the weekend with multi-hit games in all three contests and reached base eight times for a .533 on-base percentage. He also had an extra-base hit in each game - notching two doubles and hitting his second career HR - the first out of the park.

He has reached base in 11 of 12 games this season and in eight games has been on base at least twice. Jenco is second on the team with a .397 on-base percentage and leads the Hokies with three stolen bases.

Nice start to Hokie career: Redshirt-senior Erik Payne sat out 2014 due to the NCAA transfer rule - he previously played three seasons at South Carolina. Payne opened his Tech career in fine fashion as he helped the Hokies to a weekend series win at Mercer. Payne had three hits, scored three times and drove in four runs in the Saturday's win, then blasted a three-run home run in Sunday's victory to give him an ACC-high seven RBIs for the weekend.

He is currently leading the team with 11 RBIs and has reached base in 11 straight games.

At least taking a split: With Saturday's game scheduled for a doubleheader (or two games in the same day), it will mark Tech's third DH of the 2015 season, in four weeks. Last year, the team played three DHs total, however in 2013, the Hokies had seven, which was the most since the 2004 season. That year, the Hokies played 11 - when DHs were the norm in Big East Conference play. The most Tech played since the team started playing in the ACC, before 2013, was six, during 2011.

Since Clemson beat the Hokies in a pair of games at English Field on May 14, 2011, the team had played 14 DH and were never swept. They won seven and split seven. However, Tech lost a DH at the end of last season to NC State at English Field ending the overall streak.

Ironically, though, Tech has not lost a true DH on the road (to the same team) since falling at Clemson on March 20, 2010 in a pair of games. They are 5-2-9 overall since in true DHs.

Doubleheaders part two: It's kind of a tradition renewed for the Demon Deacons and the Hokies to play a doubleheader. They did it three straight years from 2010-12 with each team getting a win. In 2010 in Blacksburg (March 27), Tech won 2-1 after losing 5-0. In 2011 in Winston-Salem (April 10), Tech won game one, 11-2, but fell in the second 5-3. Then in 2012 in Winston-Salem (April 21), Tech won game one, 8-6, and fell in game two by the same score.

English Field - Home of the Hokies

English Field was officially dedicated during a special ceremony on April 8, 1989 and is named for the late E.R. 'Red' English and his wife, Ruth, who provided financial support for construction of the field.

English, a native of Altavista, Va., played as an offensive and defensive guard on the Tech football teams from 1930-33 and graduated from Tech in 1934. English contributed to Tech athletics for more than 50 years and was one of the founders of The Student Aid Association in 1949. He served as president of that organization two of its first three years. English received the most outstanding alumni award at Tech in 1984.

Through a generous gift from alumnus George Sampson, the home team dugout was named for long-time Tech baseball coach G.F. 'Red' Laird during a ceremony on April 12, 1991. Laird recruited and coached Sampson at Tech.

The Tech athletics department continues to make upgrades to the facility, with its newest completed in the spring of 2012. The natural grass surface was replaced with artificial turf. The $1 million field enables the Hokies to practice even during inclement weather, as grounds keepers can remove snow off of it quickly.

Plus, it also drains quickly, allowing for a speedy resumption of play following any rain delays. Also, as part of this project, the dugouts were expanded to almost twice the size, and a new batter's eye and a new padded outfield fence were added.

The Hokies opened play at their new home with a 7-2 victory against George Mason on March 22, 1989, and went on to post a 17-7 home record during their first season in the facility. Prior to the 2004 season, a new lighting system was installed and the Hokies played their first baseball game under the lights in Blacksburg on April 28 of that year, defeating VMI, 8-0.

The team's year-by-year overall mark in its 27 seasons at English Field can be seen in the graph on the right. Before English Field, Tech played its home baseball games at Tech Park, where it compiled a 431-122-1 (.779 winning percentage) record over 34 seasons. All-time, Tech is 1,207-523-12 (.696) in games played in Blacksburg.

Helping to Strike Out ALS: Starting in the 2013 season, the Virginia Tech baseball team partnered with Bull & Bones Brewhaus and Grill to help raise awareness and funds for ALS research and the two will do so again during the 2015 season as well.

With every strikeout recorded by Tech's pitching staff during the past two seasons, and now this year, $5 is donated for every regular-season strikeout, while $10 is donated for any strikeout during the ACC tournament and $25 for any K registered in an NCAA Regional.

During that first season, the team helped raise almost $2,500 for ALS research, and last year they pushed the grand total to more than $4,000 (see chart on right).

2013	Strikeouts	$$ raised
Reg. Season	347	$1,735

Experience a key for 2015: Looking back at the 2014 roster, it featured just two seniors (pitchers Brad Markey and Tanner McIntyre) and 17 newcomers. A young team a year ago, meant that most of the team would be back for 2015. And even though the Hokies lost a key member of the offense, when catcher Mark Zagunis left early after being drafted in the third round, the numbers the Hokies have coming back for 2015 are ridiculous.

In the field, 424 starts from last year (out of a possible 477) return and 88 percent of the at-bats are back as well. This from a team that led the ACC in batting, overall and conference-only. Looking at the pitching staff, 40 of the starts on the mound returned (out of 53) and 73 percent of the innings pitched are also back.

Happy "Opening" Day: For the first time in program history (since 1892), Tech opened a season before Valentine's Day. And for just the third time the Hokies played a baseball game on Valentine's Day (the earliest start prior to this season). In the 2014 and 2003 seasons, Tech played on Feb. 14 and were 1-1.

Adding to that, the Hokies played those first three games opening weekend, marking the most games played before Feb. 16 in their program history with three. The most prior to that was two in 2003 and 1892. According to the history books, Tech played two games back in 1892 against Newports on Feb. 1 and Feb. 2 - the earliest ever start - and their only two games that season, the program's first year of competition.

WHAT'S A HOKIE

That's the most frequently asked question regarding Virginia Tech athletics. The answer leads all the way back to 1896 when Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

With the change came the necessity for writing a new cheer and a contest for such a purpose was held by the student body. Senior O.M. Stull won first prize for his "Old Hokie" yell which still is used today.

Later, when asked if "Hokie" had any special meaning, Stull explained the words he used had no hidden or symbolic meaning, but had been thought up in an effort to get attention. Hokie soon became a nickname for all Tech teams and for those people loyal to Tech athletics.

Following is the "Old Hokie" yell in its original form:

Hoki, Hoki, Hoki Hy!
Tech! Tech! V.P.I.!
Sola-Rex Sola-Rah
Polytech-Vir-gin-i-a!!
Rae, Ri, V.P.I.

JUST VIRGINIA TECH, PLEASE

While the full name of the school is Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, the school is commonly referred to as "Virginia Tech."

Founded in 1872, as Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College, the university changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1896.

Fans of the athletic department, as well as media covering the Hokies, shortened the name to VPI, but it eventually became Virginia Tech.

The "State University" was added in 1970 to bring the official title to what it is today.

Those covering Hokie athletics are asked to refer to the university as simply "Virginia Tech."

Virginia Tech University, VPI and SU, VPI&SU, VT or VA Tech are not recognized names and should not be used.
