Building on Success - 2001-02 Performance Wins in 2000-01, the Hokies Are Poised To Continue Building National Respect

If Virginia Tech used the 2000-01 golf season to establish itself as one of the elite teams in collegiate golf, then the Hokies used the fall 2001 schedule to solidify that position. Tech enters the spring 2002 slate poised to make a run at the leaders in collegiate golf and perhaps make this year the finest in the program's history.

Top-notch programs take strong years and build upon them. The fall 2001 season saw the Hokies utilize the benefits afforded them by their eighth place finish in the 2001 NCAA Championship. Invitations to top events led to further honors and opportunities for the team, and by the time the calendar turned to 2002, Tech had improved upon some already lofty expectations.

Tech opened the fall 2001 season with a trip to the Topy Cup in Fukushima Prefecture, Japan. The event, which annually invites the top four returning programs in NCAA competition to join eight international teams, saw the Hokies finish fourth in the field. The second tournament, the Ping/Golfweek Preview, was the most challenging. The field comprised the top 15 programs from the NAAs and was played on the Scarlet Course at Ohio State, the host of this season's NCAA Championship. The Hokies finished fifth in the event, but in the process, placed ahead of the top five teams in the preseason rankings. De Jonge finished fifth individually and held a lead during the weekend.

BIG EAST Conference Coach of the Year Jay Hardwick with all-BIG EAST performers Johnson Wagner, Brian Krusoe and Chris McKeel.

Virginia Tech won a total of six tournaments during the 2000-01 season, including the Wofford Invitational in their final regular season event.

A return trip to the Duke Golf Club proved even more successful than during the spring. Riding Johnson Wagner's excellent play, the Hokies won the Duke Golf Classic by six strokes over Augusta State. Wagner tied for the lead at the end of regulation, but lost in the second hole of a playoff.

Tech made it three-straight in the top five with a fourth place finish at the ODU/SeaScape Collegiate. De Jonge and Ryan Stinnett finished tied for sixth, with Stinnett shooting a final round 67 for the low round of the event.

The final stop on the fall slate was a trip to the Long Cove Invitational (formerly the Golf World Collegiate Invitational) in Hilton Head, S.C. The event comprised another field heavy with top 25 teams. Tech finished sixth overall and de Jonge once again led the Hokies, this time finishing fifth, individually.

The Hokies' roster has the same look as last year. That's a good thing. Head Coach Jay Hardwick has the luxury of returning the top seven players from last season that is a good mix of both experienced and young, aggressive players. Not many schools have the ability to step on the course in the fall with the same group that walked off the 18th green with an eighth place finish at the NCAA Championship.

The two seniors on this year's team, Johnson Wagner and Brian Krusoe, have as much top-level playing experience as any group in school history. Wagner used his summer break to great advantage, as he became just the second person ever to win both the Metropolitan Amateur and Metropolitan Open in the same year. Wagner finished in the top 20 of five of the six Fall 2000 events and played well in the big events last season.

Krusoe had one of the best seasons ever in 2000-01, highlighted by earning co-medalist honors at the BIG EAST Golf Championship. He brings a wealth of experience to the team and is capable of being the low man for the Hokies in any event.

This season's junior class has a history of playing well at key times. Brendon de Jonge is Tech's all-time scoring leader and was top finisher in three of the five events this fall. He enters the spring ranked seventh nationally and has the experience to make noise in conference and NCAA events, finishing 22nd at the NAAs. He set course records at four different venues this fall and may be playing some of the best golf of anyone in the country at this point.

Chris McKeel was the quiet one on last season's team, but probably played the most consistent golf of any Hokie last spring. McKeel was Tech's number-two finisher in the BIG EAST Championship, NCAA East Regional and NCAA Championship.

His opening round score of 67 at the NCAA East Regional put Tech in position to advance to the finals. After a first round 78 at Duke, he finished the event with rounds of 69-73-71. He began the fall by leading the Hokies with a fifth place finish at the Topy Cup.

Three talented sophomores round out the roster. Matt Hollerbach redshirted last year after earning all-conference honors the previous year. He made his way back into the line-up in the fall, playing two events. He will be challenging the top five in spring qualifying.

Ryan Stinnett had, perhaps, one of the most successful freshman seasons of any Hokie golfer. Joining the starting lineup for his first event, Stinnett never relinquished that spot. He had five top 25 finishes, including leading the Hokies to a win with an eighth place finish at Furman last spring. This fall, he finished in the top 20 in all but one event and proved he was a player to watch with a 13th place finish at the Ping/Golfweek Preview.

Scott Wise qualified for his first event as a freshman and has seen limited action in his first year-and-a-half at Tech, but will be a player to reckon with in the next few seasons. He has played well in qualifying and summer events and looks to be poised to enter the starting lineup this spring.

Though the roster is not the largest, it would be tough to find a more talented and balanced group in the country. The program has reached these lofty heights the right way; with hard-work and strong performances on the course.

Virginia Tech tied for fifth at the NCAA East Regional in Williamsburg.

Head Coach Jay Hardwick

Building Virginia Tech into an elite golf program, Jay Hardwick is in his 19th season as head coach of the Hokies' golf team. Hardwick has used strong recruiting and the support of an outstanding group of boosters to bring the golf program into national prominence.

Tech had many successes in the past, but the 2000-01 academic year saw the Hokies reach unprecedented heights, both on and off the course. The Hokies immediately made a major impact on the BIG EAST Conference and took their place among the best in collegiate golf.

In the Spring of 2001, Hardwick led the Hokies to the BIG EAST Conference Golf Championship and an eighth place finish at the 2001 NCAA Golf Championship. Hardwick was named the 2001 BIG EAST Conference Golf Coach of the Year and the Virginia Collegiate Golf Coach of the Year.

Recruiting is an international process and every year Hardwick draws top young golfers to play at Tech. He also has built a solid financial foundation for the program, receiving 17 endowed scholarships over the past 15 years. These scholarships will allow numerous student-athletes to continue their careers at the collegiate level.

A true professional and proven recruiter who emphasizes the ideal of the student-athlete, Hardwick has built the Tech golf program around players who are standouts in the classroom as well as on the golf course. During Hardwick's years, the graduation rate for golfers who have completed their eligibility at Tech is 100 percent. Virginia Tech placed different players on consecutive Academic All-America squads. The Hokies had Jake Allison on the 1985 Golf Coaches Association Academic All-America team and had Mark Teachey claim the same honor in 1986.

A look at Hardwick's accomplishments the past 18 years shows just how successful he and his Hokies have been. His teams have finished in the top 10 of 153 tournaments and have won 21 tournaments, including five conference championships. Since 1992, Hardwick's teams have won the conference championship five times and have placed second three times. His team captured the Atlantic 10 Championship in 1996 and 1997, and in 1993 and 1994 won back-to-back Metro Conference Championships. In 2001, Virginia Tech claimed the BIG EAST Conference Championship in just its first season of competition in the league. In the past five seasons, 11 Tech players have been named to the A-10 all-conference team and three more earned All-BIG EAST honors in 2001. He has had 25 players named to the all-state team, 24 to all-conference teams, and has produced five All-Americans.

Hardwick has received numerous honors during his career. In his first two years in the league, he was chosen the Atlantic 10 Coach of the Year. He was named Metro Conference Coach of the Year in 1992 and 1993. Hardwick also received the inaugural 1993 Virginia Collegiate Coach of the Year award and was selected for the same honor in 1994. In January 2001, Hardwick served as an instructor at the Hall of Fame Teaching and Coaching Seminar at Walt Disney World Golf Resort. He was one of six coaches selected to present the two-day seminar prior to the GCAA annual convention and PGA Merchandise Show.

On July 13, 1994, Hardwick received his greatest honor when he was selected as the 11th inductee to the Virginia PGA Hall of Fame, making him the youngest member of this elite group. In addition, he was named the NCAA Golf Coach of the Year for District 3-North by the coaching members of the Golf Coaches Association of America for the 1993-94 season.

In the summer of 1992, Hardwick was chosen to coach Team USA at the World Junior Team Championship held in Izumo City, Japan. It marked the first time the United States had officially sponsored a junior team in international competition. Team USA won the gold medal in the 12-team tournament, with pre-tournament favorite Sweden finishing second, 18 strokes behind. Four of Team USA's players placed in the top 10, including Justin Roof of Conway, S.C., who captured the individual title.

On January 1, 1988, Hardwick was recognized as one of the nation's Outstanding Young Americans by Who's Who in Society for "distinguished accomplishments which have been demonstrated through unparalleled excellence in professional and civic affairs."

Hardwick has twice been selected by the NCAA to serve as an instructor at the Youth Education through Sports (YES) golf clinic, which is held at the site of the NCAA Golf Championship. He conducted a clinic in 1990 at Innisbrook, Florida and again in 1996 in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Hardwick served on the NCAA Golf District Advisory Committee for three years from 1994-97 and was chairman of District 3-North in his last year. In addition, he also was a member of the GCAA Wilson Coaches Top 25 Poll for 1997.

In October of 1991, Norwegian Cruise Lines selected Hardwick to serve as the golf coordinator in their NFL/PGA Instruction Program. He conducted golf clinics on the five southern Caribbean Islands of Barbados, Martinique, St. Marteen, Antigua and St. Thomas.

Coach Hardwick has been an instructor at the Championship Coaches Golf School since 1986. During that time he has taught at 50 golf schools.

In February 2000, at the Golf Coaches Association of America annual convention, Coach Hardwick was presented with the GCAA 15-Year Service Award for outstanding contributions to the GCAA, his university and the sport of golf.

Coach Hardwick has compiled an impressive list of playing accomplishments. He won the 1981 Spalding International Professional Championship in Castle Harbour, Bermuda, and was low pro in the Virginia PGA State Open in 1976. He qualified for the National PGA Club Professional Championship in 1978, 1988 and 1992 and was selected by the PGA as a member of the Yamaha Cup team in 1988.

In both 1989 and 1992, Hardwick compiled a 72.5 competitive stroke average and was a member of the 1989 winning team in the PGA/VSGA team matches.

Hardwick's biggest victory came in 1995 when he won the Middle Atlantic PGA Head Professional Championship after he birdied the last five holes to win by one stroke. That year, he also won the Bobby Jones/Homestead Invitational at the Lower and Upper Cascades with rounds of 68-65 for a seven shot victory. In addition, he was named a member of the PGA Challenge Cup Team for 1995, 1996 and 1997. Hardwick also holds five course records, two tournament records and has twice shot 29 in competition.

An excellent player and teacher of the game, Hardwick became director of golf at Virginia Tech in the spring of 1983. In addition to his duties as head golf coach, he is also the head PGA professional at the Virginia Tech Golf Course.

A Narrows, Va., native, Hardwick is a past vice president of the Virginia chapter of the Middle Atlantic PGA. He has also served on the tournament rules and regulations committee, the membership committee, and the employment and club relations committee. He has been a head professional for 29 years and is a Class "A" member of the PGA of America. Hardwick is also a Quarter Century Club and Life Member of the PGA.

Hardwick played collegiate golf for the same team he now coaches. During his four-year playing career at Tech, the Hokies posted a 64-9 match play record and won three straight state intercollegiate championships. Hardwick was a four-year letterman for Tech and captain of the 1971 squad that claimed the state crown.

After graduating in 1971 with a degree in business administration, Hardwick turned pro and played for a year on the Florida winter tour. In 1973 he became the head professional at Giles Country Club in Pearisburg, Va., where he developed an outstanding junior golf program. He held that position for 10 years before returning to his alma mater. Upon his departure, the club members presented him and his family with a lifetime membership.

Hardwick, who officiated high school and college basketball for 25 years, retired from the sport in 1997 after working more than 1,000 games.

He is married to the former Celia Martin of Pembroke, Va. Celia is the Executive Assistant to the CEO of Luna Technologies in the Virginia Tech Corporate Research Center. The couple has a son and daughter-in-law, Cris and Emily Hardwick, who reside in Mt. Pleasant, S.C.

Coach Hardwick Says

"After only two years on the scene Brendon has become the Hokies' all-time scoring leader. He finished sixth or better in every tournament this fall and his current national ranking of 7th is the highest of any player to ever play for us. If he continues to improve as he has the first two years he could rewrite the record book at Tech."

Tech Golf Team Maintains A Perfect Graduation Rate

Finding a balance between academic accomplishments and athletic success is the focus for Coach Jay Hardwick's golf program at Virginia Tech, and the Student Athlete Academic Support Services takes a very personal role in the supervision and support of all student-athletes. The advising office continuously engages with other campus agencies to help student athletes in their continuing pursuit of academic achievement.

Student Athlete Academic Support Services (SAASS) provides programming for student athletes from their freshman year through graduation. This includes a comprehensive orientation to Tech, study hall, mentoring, tutoring, academic monitoring, academic recognition and eligibility education.

Tech has made tremendous strides in recent years. The 2000 NCAA Division I Graduation Report states that for overall student athletes who have exhausted their eligibility at Tech, 82 percent have graduated.

The SAASS office has been especially beneficial to the golf team, which consistently posts grade point averages among the best of any athletic team at Tech. The golf team has posted an impressive 100 percent graduation rate for players who have completed their eligibility at Tech under Coach Jay Hardwick.

Last spring, the Athletic Director's Honors Breakfast paid tribute to a record 337 student athletes, student trainers, student managers, cheerleaders and HighTechs who posted 3.0 or greater GPAs in the 2000 calendar year.

Academic facilities for student athletes include the Monogram Room, a large room used as a study hall area adjacent to the SAASS office in Cassell Coliseum. The HEAT (Hokies Engaging in Advanced Technology) Lab houses over 25 computers on the second floor of Cassell Coliseum. Room 160 in Cassell Coliseum provides an area for private quiet study for the athletes' convenience. Additionally, student athletes can use the Center for Academic Enrichment and Excellence site offices located in Hillcrest and Femoyer Halls.

Together, these spaces provide the student athlete with a variety of study environments conducive to success. Athletes can use these facilities between classes, after practice, or in the evenings, with flexible hours tailored to make the most of a student-athlete's limited time.

The Student Athlete Academic Support Services office is comprised of director Chris Helms, associate directors Lois Berg and Colin Howlett, and assistant directors Renia Edwards, Katie Ammons, and Becky Kolenbrander. Terrie Repass is the office receptionist and "first contact" person for SAASS.

Helms is in his third year at Tech and works directly with the golf team. He is responsible for the overall development and leadership of the SAASS. Helms came to Tech from Michigan State, where he served as the assistant director of the Student Athlete Support Services office. Prior to that, he served as the coordinator of academic affairs for the Florida State football program and was an academic advisor at Central Connecticut State. Helms earned a bachelor's degree in psychology at Wake Forest and a master's in athletic counseling from Springfield College.

The golf team is leading the way with excellence. With the guidance and support of the SAASS, it is not difficult to see why.

This Is Virginia Tech

Outstanding University Has one of the Nation's Best Athletic Complexes

Nestled in the rolling mountains of Southwest Virginia, the campus of Virginia Tech has that rare quality — a major, thriving modern institute of higher learning, living in harmony with its beautiful surroundings.

The keystones of the Hokies' athletic complex are Lane Stadium and Cassell Coliseum. The newly-expanded 63,459-seat Lane Stadium/Worsham Field is the home of Tech's nationally-ranked football team that has appeared in nine consecutive bowl games and played in the 2000 Nokia Sugar Bowl for the national championship. Cassell Coliseum houses a 10,000-seat arena as well as athletic offices, locker rooms and training facilities. Other facilities include Rector Field House, site of an indoor astroturf football field and Mondo track; English Field, the home of the baseball team; the Johnson-Miller Track Complex, a women's softball field, Moseley Field soccer and lacrosse fields and the Virginia Tech Golf Course.

The Merryman Center is a two-story building on the west side of the Jamerson Athletic Center in the heart of the athletic complex. It is a 40,000-square foot all-purpose facility. The second floor houses a new entranceway to the athletic complex, the women's basketball offices, a classroom area and a 130-seat auditorium. The first floor includes a conditioning and weightlifting complex, a multipurpose gymnasium and an expanded area for sports medicine and training.

Nearby Cochrane Hall houses many of Tech's student athletes. Also in Cochrane is a state-of-the-art dining facility.

Golfers also have access to the Jim "Bulldog" Haren weight room, located adjacent to Cassell Coliseum in the Jamerson Athletic Center. Here athletes train with free weights and modern Nautilus equipment while receiving expert instruction from assistant athletics director for athletic performance Mike Gentry and graduate assistant Tim Ralph.

Also on the Virginia Tech campus is the Burrows-Burleson indoor and outdoor tennis facility and the War Memorial Gym, which has an Olympic-sized pool and facilities for gymnastics, volleyball, handball, racquetball and basketball.

A new student recreational facility, McComas Hall, is also located on the Tech campus. This facility houses the student health center, an indoor pool, gyms, a jogging track and various other exercise equipment for Tech students.

Virginia Tech's overall athletic complex is, without question, one of the finest in the United States.

10,000-seat Cassell Coliseum is the site of Tech basketball contests as well as many other exciting sporting events.

The Hokies' Home Courses

Virginia Tech Golf Program Enjoys Use of Great Facilities

The Virginia Tech golf team enjoys the luxury of calling two golf courses home. The Hokies play and practice at the Virginia Tech Golf Course and at the Blacksburg Country Club, former site of the Virginia State Amateur and State Open Championships.

"We very much appreciate the outstanding support we have received from the staff and members of Blacksburg Country Club in allowing our team the use of their fine golf course," Tech coach Jay Hardwick said.

Blacksburg Country Club hosted the 1988 Virginia State Junior Girls Championship. It was chosen as the site of the Virginia State Junior Boys Championship in 1986 and 1994 and the tournament will return again in 2003. The Virginia Tech Golf Course, known for some of the finest greens in the state, is located on campus and its location is a benefit to the Hokies for playing and practicing.

The 12th hole at the Blacksburg Country Club (above) is rated the top hole in Southwest Virginia. The ninth hole at The River Course (below) alongside the scenic New River proves to be demanding on this challenging new course.

“The opportunity to have the use of two outstanding golf courses is a great asset to our program,” Hardwick said. “Both courses are always in superb condition and are well known for their fine bent grass greens.”

Virginia Tech’s golfing facilities do not stop with those two fine layouts. The Hokies are extended playing privileges at nearby Olde Mill Golf Club in Laurel Fork, Draper Valley Golf Club in Pulaski and Hanging Rock Golf Club in Salem. The team also enjoys the use of The River Course in Radford, which was nominated by Golf Digest as one of the “Best New Courses of 2000.” In addition, Tech has an indoor practice facility located in the War Memorial Gymnasium. The indoor facility, complete with astroturf mats, practice nets and video replay, gives Tech golfers an edge in off-season preparation.

The golfers also go through an off-season conditioning program in the Haren Weight Room where they train with modern equipment and receive expert instruction from assistant athletics director for athletic performance Mike Gentry and graduate assistant Tim Ralph.

2004 NCAA Championship

Virginia Tech To Host the 2004 NCAA Championship at The Homestead Resort

The NCAA Golf Committee announced in November 1998 that Virginia Tech will host its first-ever national championship in 2004. The NCAA Division I Men's Golf Championship will be played at The Homestead Resort's Cascades Golf Course in Hot Springs, Va., June 2-5, 2004. In addition, Virginia Tech and The Homestead will host the Ping/Golfweek Preview Championship Sept. 22-23, 2003. Tech will receive an exemption into the field for this event.

The Homestead Resort, nestled in the Allegheny mountains, offers the finest in recreation, relaxation and golf. Across its 15,000 acres lie 100 miles of hiking, mountain biking and equestrian trails and three championship golf courses, including the renowned Cascades Course. Fly fishing, shooting sports, tennis, bowling, ice skating, European style spa and more are available at the resort.

Originally built in 1766, The Homestead continues to be America's premier mountain resort. Nowhere will you find a comparable combination of year-round resort amenities, historic elegance, grace, charm and unsurpassed service.

The Cascades Course, designed by William S. Flynn, was ranked 39th in the country by Golf Digest. Established in 1923, the par 70, 6,679-yard course is

Tech Wins More Tournaments Than Any Team in the Nation

The Virginia Tech golf team enjoyed the most successful season in school history during the 2000-01 academic year. The team shattered the school record for wins in a season by winning a nation's-best six tournaments. The team won the final three events of the 2001 regular season, including the BIG EAST Conference Golf Championship.

In the fall season, the Hokies won three of the six tournaments in which they competed. Almost as important, Tech finished in second place in each of the other three events. Individually, Brian Krusoe finished in the top 10 of five of the six events, highlighted by a second place finish at the season-opening G. Gunby/Jordan Intercollegiate. Brendon de Jonge won the final two events of the fall, at the VCU Fall Preview and ODU/SeaScape.

Tech started off the spring with a fourth place finish at the Matlock Invitational and a seventh at the Ironwood Intercollegiate.

Paced by Krusoe's third-place finish, the Hokies finished third at the Cleveland Golf Collegiate Championship before winning the Furman Intercollegiate and the Wofford Invitational.

At the 2001 BIG EAST Conference Golf Championship played at Metacomet Country Club in East Providence, R.I., the Hokies quickly established their program as the top program in the league. The Hokies had three players finish in the top 10, led by Krusoe, who shared medalist honors. It was the school's first BIG EAST title since joining the league as an all-sports member in the fall.

Three Hokies — Krusoe, Wagner and Chris McKeel — were named All-BIG EAST, and head coach Jay Hardwick was selected the league's Coach of the Year.

By winning the BIG EAST title, Tech won an automatic berth in the NCAA Tournament and finished tied for fifth place in the East Regional in Williamsburg, where Wagner placed eighth overall with a seven-under par total of 209.

With the strong finish at the regional, Tech advanced to the NCAA Men's Golf Championships at Duke, where the team finished eighth nationally. De Jonge finished 22nd overall and McKeel finished in 30th place. With the finish, the second-highest in school history, Tech earned invitations to some of the most prestigious events in collegiate golf.

Following the completion of the season, Krusoe and de Jonge were named first-team All-State and Wagner was named to the second team by the Virginia Collegiate Golf Coaches Association. The same group also selected Hardwick as its Coach of the Year.

Chris McKeel, Johnson Wagner, Ryan Stinnett, Brian Krusoe, Brendon de Jonge and Coach Jay Hardwick celebrate the BIG EAST Championship.

Virginia Tech Golf History

The history of the Virginia Tech golf team dates to 1932-33. Since the beginning, the Techmen have been a prominent force among the collegiate golf elite.

Tech's first victory came on April 23, 1933 when it defeated Roanoke College, 10-2.

The Hokies made their first NCAA appearance in 1957 at Colorado Springs, Colo. Several years later, in 1962, Tech returned to the NCAA, and placed 26th at Duke University Golf Course in Durham, N.C.

Tech was a more dominant force in 1965 as the team tied for 11th in the NCAA Championship at Knoxville, Tenn. The next year, the Techmen had an individual, Tim Collins, place 20th in the NCAA.

Tim Collins

In 1985, Collins was inducted into the Virginia Tech Sports Hall of Fame, after earning All-America status in 1965 and 1967. Golfers Neff McClary was inducted in 1994 and Connie Sellers was inducted in 1996.

Also a standout in the mid-1960s, and a teammate of Collins, was Neff McClary. In 1965, he won the Southern Conference individual championship and helped pace the Hokies to three straight Virginia State Intercollegiate championships in 1965, 1966 and 1967.

McClary was inducted into the Virginia Tech Sports Hall of Fame in 1994.

The most remarkable achievement for the Hokies came in 1967 when they finished sixth in the NCAA, their best finish ever. From 1968 to 1971, Tech sent four representatives (one each year) to the NCAA Championship.

Between 1960 and 1995, Tech won the Virginia State Intercollegiate 17 times.

Tech has won its conference title many times over the years. The Hokies won the Southern Conference Tournament in 1961, '62, '63, and '65. The Techmen received the championship trophy from the Metro Conference in 1993, a feat they repeated in 1994. After Virginia Tech entered the Atlantic 10 Conference, the Hokies won back-to-back titles in 1996 and 1997. The most recent conference championship came last year, as the Hokies won the 2001 BIG EAST Conference Golf Championship in the first season of competition in the new league. It was Virginia Tech's first BIG EAST Championship in any sport since the school joined the league at the beginning of the 2000-01 academic year.

In addition, the Hokies have numerous runner-up finishes. They placed second in the Metro Tournament in 1981, '92, and '95 and the Southern Conference Tournament in 1964. Tech was runner-up in the 1998 A-10 championship.

Tech returned to NCAA Championship action in 2001, as the Hokies tied for fifth at the East Regional in Williamsburg and placed eighth in the NCAA Golf Championship in Durham, N.C. In 1994 the Hokies placed eighth in the East Regional and 19th in the NCAA Championship.

Tech has had two players named to the All-District 3-North team. Brian Sharp was named to the team in 1994 and 1995 while Curtis Deal received the honor in 1997.

Since the beginning, the Tech squad has had 29 winning seasons and 22 consecutive winning seasons.

Winning is the name of the Hokies' game.

Brian Sharp (r) and Curtis Deal rank second and third on Tech's list of all-time scoring leaders.

Members of the 1994 Virginia Tech golf team — David Havens, Matt Martin, Brian Sharp, Curtis Deal and Sean Farrell, all among Tech's all-time scoring leaders — celebrate with Coach Jay Hardwick. The '94 squad won three events, including the Metro Conference Championship, and finished 19th in the NCAA Championship.

The Hackin' Hokies

Eighteen years ago, a small group of Virginia Tech supporters traveled to the Metro Conference Championship at Wild Dunes Golf Links on the Isle of Palms, S.C., in a show of support for the Tech golf team. A great friendship developed between this group and the players. As a result, these supporters were affectionately tagged the "Hackin' Hokies."

Today, this group, totaling 76 members, travels annually with the team, and has been the major supporter of the Virginia Tech golf program.

The Virginia Tech golf team wishes to express its sincere appreciation to the "Hackin' Hokies" for their loyal support. As a token of its appreciation, the Virginia Tech golf team recognizes a member of the "Hackin' Hokies" each year with the team's Appreciation Award. Winner of the 2001 award was Buddy Neviaser. Past winners of the award are: Scott Prince in 2000, Howard Stanton in 1999; Ellis Monroe in 1998; Bill Sterrett in 1997; Ray Edwards in 1996; Jack Lester in 1995; Danny Hardy in 1994; George Freeman in 1993; Shannon Hardwick in 1992; Joe Thomas in 1991; Jack Prater and John Moody in 1990; Ken Brugh in 1989; and Jim Mensh in 1988.

The Endowed Scholarships

During the past 15 years, the Virginia Tech golf program has been extremely fortunate to receive 17 endowed scholarships. These scholarships total over $1.4 million and are a vital part of assuring the excellence of Virginia Tech golf now and for years to come.

The scholarships are: The Stanton Scholarship, given by David R. and Mercedes D. Stanton of Richlands, Va.; The Kenneth V. Brugh III Memorial Scholarship, given by Kenneth V. and the late Mary D. Brugh of Greensboro, N.C.; The Thomas Scholarship, given by Joseph C. and Susan L. Thomas of Salem, Va.; The Neviaser Scholarship, given by C.M. "Buddy" and Doris B. Neviaser of Jacksonville, Fla.; The George L. Freeman, Jr., Scholarship, given by George Freeman of Fairfax, Va., "Dedicated to my family, past, present, and future, and to all those who helped."; The Edwin T. and Norma B. Robertson Scholarship, given by Ed and Norma Robertson and E. David and Anne F. Robertson of Rocky Mount, Va.; the Wednesday Morning Golf Scholarship, given by Jack and the late Shirley Lester of Grundy, Va.; The Ray Edwards Golf Scholarship, given by Ray W. and Sallie Edwards of High Point, N.C.; The Watson Golf Scholarship, given by the late W.A. Watson, III and Beatrice P. Watson, of Farmville, Va., in honor of their family; The William M. and Frances W. Sterrett Scholarship, given by Bill and Cynthia Sterrett in honor of his parents; The "More Better Golf Scholarship" given by Charlie and Carole Holden in honor of their son Chris; The John A. Gonsa Scholarship, given by John A. Gonsa; the Scott D. and Patricia S. Prince Scholarship, given by Scott D. and Patricia S. Prince; The William Ward Moseley '51 Endowed Scholarship, given by William W. and Patricia Ann Moseley; the Francis M. DonLeavey Golf Scholarship, given by Mr. Francis M. DonLeavey of Ettrick, Va; The Reynolds Par Tee Golf Scholarship, given by Dixie and Glenn Reynolds; and the Monroe Golf Scholarship, given by Ellis P. Monroe.

Brian Krusoe was awarded the Freeman Scholarship, and Johnson Wagner the Lester Scholarship, in 1998. In the fall of 1999, Brendon de Jonge was named to the Sterrett Scholarship and Chris McKeel to the Edwards Scholarship. In the fall of 2000, Ryan Stinnett was named to the "More Better Golf Scholarship", given by Charlie and Carole Holden, in honor of their son Chris. This past fall, Scott Wise was awarded the Gonsa Scholarship.

"We are very grateful to have such benevolent supporters of our golf program. Their generosity will enable us to recruit top student-athletes and to ensure the future success of our program," Virginia Tech coach Jay Hardwick said.

Stanton, Brugh, Thomas, Neviaser, Freeman, Robertson, Lester, Edwards, Watson, Sterrett, Holden, Gonsa, Prince, Moseley, DonLeavey, Reynolds, and Monroe all have been named Honorary Life Members of the Virginia Tech golf team for their outstanding contributions and commitment to Virginia Tech Golf.
