2010 Overall Record: 11-6 (4-3 ACC)
 Last Match: Def. NC State, 3-1, on Oct. 8

ABOUT THE OPPONENTS

Scouting the Blue Devils: The Blue Devils come into this weekend riding a seven-match win streak, all in ACC play. They opened the season with a loss to No. 17 Colorado State, then won eight consecutive matches before falling to No. 12 Minnesota, their only other loss. They currently have a 13-match ACC winning streak, dating back to last season, which they began after losing to No. 16 Florida State on Nov. 6, 2009. The team has yet to break into the AVCA top 25, but has received votes every week and was this week's top vote-getter.

Hokies vs. Blue Devils: Virginia Tech is 1-21 all-time against the Blue Devils and 1-6 at home. Duke has a nine-match winning streak against the Hokies, who last defeated the Blue Devils on Oct. 9, 2005, by a score of 3-2 in Cassell Coliseum.

Scouting the Demon Deacons: After sweeping their home tournament, the Black and Gold Classic, the Demon Deacons went 3-1 on the road to open ACC play, losing only to Duke. They then returned home, where they split their four-match homestand, most recently defeating NC State, 3-1, on Oct. 8.

Hokies vs. Demon Deacons: The Hokies have had great success against the Demon Deacons, going 23-9 all-time and 12-1 at home. The two teams split their season series last year, with each team winning, 3-1, at home. The only time Wake Forest defeated Virginia Tech in Blacksburg was on Sept. 23, 1980.

TECH'S 2010 RECORD WHEN...

Preseason Rankings - The Atlantic Coast Conference picked Virginia Tech to finish eighth in the conference with 55 points. Senior Felicia Willoughby was named preseason All-ACC for the third consecutive year.

Tech Reaches 600 - On Sept. 17, 2010, the Hokies claimed their first victory at the University of Virginia since 1992, which also goes down in the record books as their 600th win in program history. Additionally, the Hokies have 297 wins all-time at home. With seven home matches left in the season, the Hokies need just three wins to reach the big 300.

Newcomers - Tech welcomes six freshmen to the squad this season. Samantha Gostling and Victoria Hamsher both saw action in the first three matches of the season. Gostling, who hails from Charlotte, N.C., stuffed 26 kills at the Comcast Lady Vol Classic, opening her collegiate career second on the team in kills. Hamsher, a Nazareth, Pa., native, made her Tech debut with 13 kills and seven blocks at the tournament.

Laura Misiewicz made her first collegiate appearance at the Hilton Garden Hokie Invitational on Sept. 4 against Long Island, where she recorded three digs and an assist from the back row. After Amy Wengrenovich suffered an injury against Clemson on Oct. 1, Misiewicz made her first appearance at libero where she recorded an impressive 21 digs.

Allison Munter entered her first Tech match on Sept. 18 against Towson, where she notched two assists. Rachel Lindsey and Corrie Sanders are still awaiting their collegiate debuts.

RPI Rankings - On Oct. 4, the NCAA released the first Ratings Percentage Index (RPI) ranking of the season. The Hokies came in at 33rd in the nation, a new program record. Despite the previous weekend's losses to Clemson (69) and Georgia Tech (99), the Hokies' victories over Western Kentucky (34) and Missouri (45) as well as their narrow margin of loss to No. 13 Florida State (14) demonstrated their strength of schedule, placing them in the top 35 for the first time in school history. The Hokies were fifth among ACC teams, three of which made the top 15. Tech will have its next chance to make waves on the national stage this Thursday when the team hosts Duke, who came in at ninth in this week's RPI and 26th in the AVCA national poll.

Ranked Opponents - When the Hokies went down to Tallahassee, Fla., they were looking for their first victory over a ranked opponent in school history. After trailing in the match two sets to none, the Hokies battled back with two 25-19 victories to tie the match at two, taking a ranked opponent into a fifth set for just the second time in school history. However, after a tough battle, the No. 13 Seminoles downed the Hokies 15-13 in the tiebreaking set, dropping the Hokies to 0-23 all-time against top-25 opponents. However, Tech defeated Missouri earlier this season on Sept. 11, who received 16 votes in the AVCA poll the next day to place them 29th in the nation.

Athletes of the Week - For her efforts at the Comcast Lady Vol Classic, Erin Leaser was named Virginia Tech Athlete of the Week on Aug. 30. She was the first Hokie this season to receive the honor. Leaser notched 103 assists, 28 digs, 12 blocks, 14 kills and struck at a team-leading .393 hitting percentage. She recorded a double-double in both matches on Aug. 28, with 45 assists and 12 digs against Xavier and 26 assists and 12 digs at No. 19 Tennessee.

Sophomore Cara Baarendse tabbed the weekly honor on Sept. 7 for her outstanding performance at the Hilton Garden Hokie Invitational on Sept. 3-4. The Mason, Ohio, native led the team with 31 kills and a .491 hitting percentage at the tournament. Her solid weekend also garnered her all-tournament MVP and a spot on CVU.com's national Top Performers list.

Hamsher on the Block - Freshman middle blocker Victoria Hamsher stuffed a whopping 10 block assists on Sept. 18 against Towson, which places her in sixth all-time in single-match block assists and 10th in total blocks. Additionally, she set two new Hokie records for 3-set matches, as every occurrence ahead of her on both lists came in a 4- or 5-set match.

For the Record - Junior Justine Record registered a career-high six service aces on Sept. 26 at No. 13 Florida State. She is the first Hokie to notch that many since Amy Wengrenovich found the floor on six serves on Sept. 13, 2008. There are just six Hokies in history who have recorded more than six aces in a single match and only one in the past 20 seasons. Additionally, she is second in the ACC in aces per set and is 97th in the nation.

Willoughby on Top - Senior Felicia Willoughby recorded seven block assists against Jacksonville State on Sept. 4 to elevate her career total to 375 and set a new all-time record for the Hokies. On Oct. 10, she registered three blocks, which gave her a career sum of 495 total blocks, pushing her past Jennifer Schmidt's 494 mark which had been the all-time record since 1995.

Additionally, the Pleasanton, Calif., native looks to hang on to her top spot in career hitting percentage, currently hitting at .328, ahead of Katie Esbrook's .324 mark, a category in which she is third the ACC and 38th in the nation this season, hitting .375. She is also fifth in career block solos, stuffing 90, and 10th in kills with 1,130.

Leaser on the Loose - Junior Erin Leaser recorded 57 assists on Oct. 1 against Clemson, moving her into fifth place all-time in career assists, passing former-teammate Michelle Lang (2,936), with a total of 3,036. Her career total is now 3,097, 97 assists shy of fourth.

Consistency Key, Baar None - Middle blocker Cara Baarendse vaulted up the freshman record books last season, breaking the freshman school record for season hitting percentage. Baarendse struck at a .354 clip, surpassing the old mark of .333 set by Katie Esbrook in 2003, and ranked third all-time among all Hokies with the .354 season hitting percentage. The Mason, Ohio, sophomore currently holds a .369 career percentage, which puts her in first place on the all-time career list, and her .390 clip so far this season ranks her first in the ACC and 21st in the nation.

Just Virginia Tech, Please - While the full name of the school is Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, the school is commonly referred to as "Virginia Tech". Founded in 1872 as Virginia Agriculture and Mechanical College, the university changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1896. Fans of the athletic department, as well as media covering the Hokies, shortened the name to VPI, but it eventually became Virginia Tech. The "State University" was added to bring the official title to what it is today. Those covering Hokie athletics are asked to refer to the university as simply "Virginia Tech". Virginia Tech University, VPI and SU, VPI&SU, VT or VA Tech are not recognized names and should not be used.

Following the Hokies - Fans and media can keep up with the Hokies via the Internet with live stats. At all home matches and select away matches, play-by-play, up-to-date box scores and stats can be accessed by clicking the livestats link on Tech's home page: <http://www.hokiesports.com/volleyball/live>. Fans will also be able to watch or listen to select home contests thanks to Hokies All-Access. VT fans can access Hokies All-Access through the link on hokiesports.com. Jerry Massey will broadcast the volleyball matches. Single Game Pay-Per-View Licenses for $7.95 will give you access to live audio and video on a single event basis; Monthly Subscriptions will be $9.95 and will give you access to all live and archived radio broadcasts, video highlights and any other content behind the subscription wall; Annual Subscriptions will be sold for $79.95 and will give you access to all live and archived radio broadcasts, video highlights and live video of the Virginia Tech Hokies in action.

What is a Hokie, Anyway? - That's the most often-asked question in Virginia Tech athletics. The answer leads all the way back to 1896 when Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute. With the change came the necessity for writing a new cheer and a contest for such a purpose was held by the student body.

Senior O.M. Stull won first prize for his "Hokie" yell which still is used today. Later, when asked if "Hokie" had any special meaning, Stull explained the word was solely the product of his imagination and was used only as an attention-getter for his yell. It soon became a nickname for all Tech teams and for those people loyal to Tech athletics. The official school colors — Chicago maroon and burnt orange — also were introduced in 1896. They were chosen because they made a "unique combination" not worn elsewhere at the time.

Riley led the Hokies to a 12-3 record in Cassell Coliseum, picking up the most home wins since 1998. It was just the sixth time in Hokie history that the team won 12 or more at matches home. Tech finished with a 19-12 overall record, going 9-11 in ACC play and finishing in a tie with Wake Forest for seventh.

In 2008, Riley took a young squad, welcoming seven newcomers, and turned it into a strong ACC contender. The Hokies went 20-11, 11-9 in the league, winning 20 matches for the first time since 2002, and sat atop the ACC standings for much of the conference season. Tech also won 11 straight matches at one point in the season, matching the longest winning streak in school history.

Riley guided a young Tech squad to a 14-18 record overall in 2007, and an 8-14 mark in the ACC, tying for eighth place in the conference. Riley led the group to the program's 550th victory, coming over Wake Forest on Oct. 20th.

Under Riley, the Hokies earned Virginia Tech records with 611 block assists and 394.5 total blocks as a team in 2007. Freshman standout Felicia Willoughby flourished under Riley's direction, having one of the best seasons ever for a Hokie rookie. Willoughby set a Tech record with 172 total blocks on the season, ranking first in the ACC and 11th in the nation.

In 2006, Riley led the team to its best finish since joining the ACC. The Hokies finished with a 17-14 overall record, their first winning season since 2002, and fourth in the past 14 years.

Prior to coming to Tech, Riley spent six seasons at Towson University, where he led the team to five straight 20-win seasons, three Colonial Athletic Association regular season championships, the 2004 CAA tournament championship and the 2004 NCAA Tournament.
