Tech remains on the road this week, extending its time away from home to four matches by weekend's end. It's the longest road trip of the year for the Hokies after traveling to the Sunshine State for a pair of matches against both the ACC's Florida teams. The Hokies will look to bounce back this week after breaking their winning streak in Florida.

Series Info

Wake Forest - Tech holds the 25-10 series advantage over the Demon Deacons. The two teams split the series in the 2010 season, and Tech will look to avoid the split again this year after claiming an exciting 3-2 win at home earlier in the year.

The Hokies and Deacons first met in 1977 in Richmond, Va., as Tech took a 2-0 win to open the series. Head Coach Chris Riley is 7-4 all-time against Wake, while the Hokies are 9-6 since the two teams became conference foes in 2004.

Duke - The Blue Devils have had Tech's number since the two teams first met in 1979. Duke took the first match of the series, 3-0 in Knoxville, Tenn., and currently holds the 23-2 all-time edge. Both of the Hokies' wins have come at home, including a 3-1 victory in 2010. Tech fell just short against the Blue Devils at home earlier this season, 3-2.

Since joining the ACC, Duke boasts a 13-2 record against Tech.

First Time Around

Tech split the weekend of play against the Blue Devils and Demon Deacons the first time around this season. Both matches were played at Cassell Coliseum on Virginia Tech's campus. First up was Wake Forest and the Hokies made it back-to-back five-set victories as they claimed a come-from-behind 3-2 win.

Duke was in town the very next night and despite a dominating 25-16 first-set victory for the Hokies, the match went to five for the third consecutive outing. The Blue Devils eventually claimed the match and ended Tech's short conference winning streak.

PLAYER SPOTLIGHT

Cara Baarendse • Junior • Middle Blocker • Mason, Ohio

Junior Cara Baarendse has been redhot offensively for the Hokies recently. She has paced the Tech offense through the last five games. Baarendse has tallied double-digit kills in t each of the last five games and leads the squad with 14 double-digit kills matches this season.

In the last two matches, Baarendse was the only Tech player to throw down double-digit kills, while she also leads the squad with 250 kills and a .312 hitting percentage.

Scouting Report

Wake Forest -The Decons enter the weekend at 5-18 on the season, 2-11 in the ACC. They are also 5-8 at home this year. Wake Forest is in the midst of a six-match losing streak and has only won two sets in the last five conference outings. The Decons recently kicked off a five-match home stand as they fell to VCU, 3-2.

Kadija Fornah leads the Deacons' offense with 285 kills (3.43/s), while Danae Rosendall paces the squad with 810 assists (9.76/s). Dani Thompson's 335 digs (4.14/s) and Carlin Salmon's 90 blocks (1.08/s) are also good for team highs.

Duke - The Blue Devils will host Virginia on Friday evening before welcoming the Hokies on Saturday. They enter the week of play at 15-7 on the year and 9-4 in league action. Duke has only dropped one match at home in 11 outings, falling to San Diego early in the season.

Sophia Dunworth has spearheaded the offense this year with 244 kills (2.98/s), while Christiana Gray's .397 hitting percentage and 75 blocks (0.95/s) are good for team highs. Kellie Catanach has handled the setting duties and tallied 904 assists in the year (11.02/s) and Ali McCurdy leads the defense with 466 digs (5.61/s)

Among the Best

Tech currently ranks among the nation's and ACC's best in blocks and service aces. As a team, the Hokies hold the No. 27 spot in the nation as they average 2.61 blocks per set. The average is also good for third among league teams. Sophomore middle blocker Victoria Hamsher is a big part of Tech's impressive numbers as she is the only individual to represent Tech nationally, ranking 26th in the nation with a 1.29 blocks per-set average.

Tech also currently sits at second among conference teams as it averages 1.26 aces per set on the season.

Top Competition

The Hokies will face some tough competition this weekend Duke ranks among the nation's and conference's best. The Blue Devils hold the No. 37 spot in the country in assists per set (12.96) and the No. 30 spot in digs per set (17.27), while their 13.96 kps average is good for 33rd in the nation.

Individually, Kellie Catanach ranks 27th in the country with 11.02 assists per set, while Ali McCurdy is 11th in the nation with 5.61 digs per set and Christiana Gray's .397 hitting percentage is good for 12th in the country.

Party For Five

The Hokies have been a part of seven five-set matches this season, six of those coming in conference play. They have only dropped two five-set matches this season, against Ohio and Duke. Six of the last nine outings have gone to the deciding set, including Tech's three-match conference winning streak.

Owning October

As a team, Tech went 5-4 through the month of October and has set a new team season high in every statistical category except hitting percentage and aces.

Tech's starting lineup has also prospered through the fall month as Morgan O'Neill has grabbed double-digit digs in all seven matches, including three 20-plus outings. Victoria Hamsher has tallied at least four blocks in each match, while Erin Leaser has tossed up 21-plus assists six times throughout October. Four of Jennifer Wiker's double-digit kills matches have come in October's seven matches, while Kathryn Caine has solidified her spot in the starting lineup and has not missed a set or a start this month. Justine Record's three 20-plus dig outings have all happened this month.

Terps Turnaround

In true dramatic fashion, the Hokies made a huge turnaround when they came from behind to top Maryland 3-2 on the road. The victory was Tech's first in the three matches and the first road win of the season for the squad.

Numerous players put up season and career-best numbers in the match as five different Hokies set new highs. As a team, Tech set new season highs, to date, in kills, assists and digs.

The Hokies kept things rolling as they hosted Wake Forest the very next match and rallied for a 3-2 win over the Deacons. Two players tallied 20-plus digs for the second-straight match while Justine Record and Erin Leaser recorded double-doubles. As a team, Tech set new kills (68) and assists (63) marks.

Raising the Baar

Junior middle blocker Cara Baarendse has been red hot offensively as she has led the squad in kills in six of the last seven outings. After setting a new career high in kills against Maryland, the Mason, Ohio, native has reset that mark three other times, including 17 against Georgia Tech.

Baarendse, who was named to the Preseason All-ACC team, has tallied a team-best 14 double-digit kills matches. For her performance during the Hokie Tournament earlier in the season, Baarendse earned Tournament MVP and Virginia Tech Hardees Star of the Week honors.

Serving Up Greatness

Senior outside hitter Justine Record is currently in fifth place on Tech's all-time career aces list with 160 to date. Record matched her previous career high earlier in the year with six aces against High Point and came up big for the Hokies recently against Clemson as she started the fifth set off with two consecutive aces and nearly had a third as she forced an attacking error.

The Redwood City, Calif., native leads the team with nine double-doubles on the year after tallying two more against Clemson and Georgia Tech.

-Sher Thing

Sophomore middle blocker Victoria Hamsher has spearheaded Tech's net game this season as she leads the team with 119 total blocks. Her 1.29 per-set average makes her the only player on the team to rank nationally in any category and puts her at fourth among league members

The Nazareth, Pa., native tallied double-digit kills in two of the three matches during the Hilton Garden Hokie Invitational, including a new career high, 16, against Chattanooga. Hamsher also set a new season-high with seven blocks in that match, only to later up the total to eight against UConn. For her efforts she was named Virginia Tech Hardees Star of the Week.

Hamsher recently tied her career high at No. 19 Florida State when she got up for 10 blocks for the second time in her career.

Leaser on the Loose

Senior setter Erin Leaser has been Tech's primary setter over the past three seasons and currently sits in third place in Tech's all-time record books with 4,349 assists to date.

Though she is splitting the setting duties this season, the Allentown, Pa., native remains as the starter and has tossed up 20-plus assists in four of the last five matches as well as on 18 occasions this year. Leaser's 34-assist effort against Wake Forest helped the team set a new assists season high (63).

Big Weekend for Wiker

Redshirt-junior Jennifer Wiker gave Tech an offensive boost during the Hilton Garden Hokie Invitational in the beginning of the season when she threw down 10 kills against UVa and 11 versus UConn. Wiker made it back-to-back double-digit kills outings for the first time this season when she tallied a season-high 16 kills at Maryland and 14 against Wake Forest.

Wiker, who has already earned a degree in finance and is currently working towards her MBA, recently went back-to-back again with 10 kills against Georgia Tech and Clemson.

Last Line of Defense

Junior libero Morgan O'Neill has been outstanding for the Hokies after making the move to libero this season. O'Neill set a new career high earlier in the year against Chattanooga when she scooped up 29 digs, and matched the total in Tech's win over Maryland. O'Neill made back-to-back 20-plus digs matches as she scooped up 25 against Wake Forest. She recently nearly matched her career high for a third time this season when she recorded 28 digs against Clemson.

The Atherton, Calif., native averages 4.03 digs per set, good for 10th in the conference.

Jennifer Wiker set a new career high last weekend when she got up for nine total blocks at No. 19 Florida State.

Sophomore Victoria Hamsher tied a career high last weekend when she got up for 10 blocks at No. 19 Florida State. This is the second 10-block match in her career.

Fresh Start

Freshman Kathryn Caine has been a staple in Tech's starting lineup for much of this season and leads all other newcomers with 15 starts so far. The McLean, Va., native wiped out all of her previous career highs when she threw down seven kills and hit at a season-best .429 clip at Maryland. Caine upped her single-match numbers against Wake Forest as she tallied eight kills and got up for five blocks.

Setting Up Early Success

Freshman Jordan Fish made the first start of her career against Virginia and rose to the occasion. While splitting time with senior setter Erin Leaser, Fish tallied a career-high 24 assists in the match, along with six digs. Fish nearly matched that total the following night against UConn when she tossed up 21 helpers.

Fish was part of a new team season high as her 23 assists against Wake Forest helped the Hokies tally 63 total assists in the match. She recently notched the first double-double of her career as she tallied 23 assists and 12 digs against Clemson for her third straight 20-plus assist match.

Career Weekend for Tech

Four different upperclassmen wiped out career highs during the Hilton Garden Hokie Invitational. Headlining the top performers was sophomore Victoria Hamsher who tallied 16 kills against Chattanooga and earned season bests in consecutive matches with seven and then eight block assists.

Junior Cara Baarendse's 16 digs against Virginia set a new personal mark, while senior Erin Leaser's four service aces also set a new bar. Junior Morgan O'Neill set a new team season high as she got down for 29 digs against Chattanooga.

Top Tier in Tournaments

The Hokies ended a 23-match home tournament winning streak this season. The streak dated back to the 2005 season. Tech extended the streak earlier this year as it swept the competition at the Hokie Tournament and seemed to keep things rolling during the Hokie Invite as it swept American in its first match and later Seton Hall the following day. The final match of the tournament did the Hokies in, though, as they fell 3-1 to a talented Tennessee team.

Historic Happenings

The Hokies made history last season when they earned their first-ever bid to the NCAA Tournament after an impressive regular season. Tech also earned its first tournament victory when it defeated Delaware, 3-0, in the opening round. En route to the post season, the Hokies wrapped up the regular season with the 600th win in program history and the 26th win over in-state rival Virginia, 3-2.

Midway through conference play, Tech claimed its first win over a ranked opponent as it defeated then-No. 25 Florida State, 3-2, in Cassell Coliseum.

Just Virginia Tech, Please - While the full name of the school is Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, the school is commonly referred to as "Virginia Tech." Founded in 1872 as Virginia Agriculture and Mechanical College, the university changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1896. Fans of the athletic department, as well as media covering the Hokies, shortened the name to VPI, but it eventually became Virginia Tech. The "State University" was added to bring the official title to what it is today. Those covering Hokie athletics are asked to refer to the university as simply "Virginia Tech." Virginia Tech University, VPI and SU, VPI&SU, VT or VA Tech are not recognized names and should not be used.

What is a Hokie, Anyway? - That's the most often-asked question in Virginia Tech athletics. The answer leads all the way back to 1896 when Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute. With the change came the necessity for writing a new cheer and a contest for such a purpose was held by the student body.

Senior O.M. Stull won first prize for his "Hokie" yell which still is used today. Later, when asked if "Hokie" had any special meaning, Stull explained the word was solely the product of his imagination and was used only as an attention-getter for his yell. It soon became a nickname for all Tech teams and for those people loyal to Tech athletics. The official school colors — Chicago maroon and burnt orange — also were introduced in 1896. They were chosen because they made a "unique combination" not worn elsewhere at the time.
