LAST TIME OUT

Tech stuns West Virginia 1-0 in first round of NCAA Tournament

Kelly Conheeneey notches the game-winner in the 17th minute

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. – The Virginia Tech women's soccer team defeated BIG EAST champion West Virginia 1-0 in the first round of the 2011 NCAA Tournament on Saturday night at the Dick Dlesk Soccer Stadium. Kelly Conheeneey connected on her 13th career game-winner in the 17th minute.

This is the second time in program history that the Hokies have advanced in the NCAA Tournament. In 2009, Tech made it all the way to the Sweet 16, earning the program's first Tournament victories in the process.

The Mountaineers finished with a 17-5-0 record on the season and saw their 10-game winning streak at home snapped. Tech improved to 13-7-1 overall. This is only the fourth time in 12 tries that WVU has not advanced in the NCAA Tournament.

The Hokies came out strong in the first half, creating an early opportunity two minutes into the game when Jazmine Reeves sent a cross into the box to Conheeneey, who was close to the goal. Conheeneey tried to sneak it in, but WVU's keeper was there to make the save.

At the 16:56 mark, the Hokies put the only point on the board when Anne Lumpkin slot- ted a ball into the box to Conheeneey, who sent a line drive past the Mountaineer keeper to put Tech up 1-0. Conheeneey tallied her 11th goal of the season.

Conheeneey's goal was the first time the Hokies had found the back of the net in the first half since Oct. 13 when Tech defeated Clemson 3-0.

Tech outshot the Mountaineers 7-3 in the first, while taking five corner kicks to WVU's one. Both goalies notched one save each, while Conheeneey and Lumpkin led the Hokies with two shots apiece.

In the second, the two teams came out aggressively, as Tech committed five fouls in the first 10 minutes. Five yellow cards were given, all in the second, with the Mountaineers receiving four.

WVU created a number of chances to try to tie the score, but its 11 shots with only two on goal were not enough to find the back of the net. The Hokies took six shots, but fo- cused more on shutting out the Mountaineers.

As a team, the Mountaineers outshot the Hokies 14-13, while Tech out-cornered WVU 8-2. Dayle Colpitts recorded the win for the Hokies, making three saves and recording her 11th career shutout. In goal for WVU was Sara Keane, who made two saves on the night.

Colpitts moved up in Tech's all-time record book, as she sits tied for second in career shutouts as a sophomore.

HOKIES DOMINATE UNC GREENSBORO, 4-0, IN SEASON OPENERS

GREENSBORO, N.C. – The Hokie women's soccer squad opened the 2011 season with a 4-0 road victory over the UNC Greensboro Spartans Friday evening. Kelly Conheeny, Anne Lumpkin and freshman Kelsey Loupee were the point-earners, including two goals from Conheeny for Tech. This is the third year in a row that the Hokies have opened their season with a victory.

The Hokies dominated the ball from the start of the game, outshooting the Spartans (0-1) 7-2 in the first 45 minutes. After a UNCG defender got a hand on a Hokie cross in the box, Tech was awarded a penalty kick. Conheeny buried it with no problem at the 43:05 mark to give the Hokies a 1-0 lead heading into the break.

After the half, the Hokies picked up right where they left off, attacking the goal. Freshman Katie Yensen had the first chance, firing the first two shots of the half, giving Conheeny a chance for a corner kick. Lumpkin connected on the loose ball in the box from Conheeny's corner to make the score 2-0 two minutes into the period.

At the 57:24 mark, Lumpkin set Conheeny up for her second goal of the season as Conheeny fired from the right wing to give the Hokies the 3-0 advantage. Conheeny has scored a goal in every season opener in her career.

Making her first career start for the Hokies, Loupee secured the match with the final goal as she juked the keeper from eight yards back with 11 minutes to go.

TECH CLOSES HILTON GARDEN HOKIE INVITATIONAL WITH A 3-0 WIN OVER LOYOLA

BLACKSBURG, Va. – The Virginia Tech women's soccer team closed out the Hilton Garden Invitational with a 3-0 victory over the Loyola Greyhounds Sunday afternoon on Thompson Field. Brittany Michels, Katie Cramp and Kelly Conheeny each connected on one goal each for the Hokies.

Tech (7-1-0) set the tone for the game early in the first half as it dominated the Greyhounds (1-7-0) offensively and kept control of possession the entire half. Brittany Michels was very active on corner kicks as the Hokies tallied seven in the half, but she was unable to get a hold of anything.

Later in the half Katie Jensen received the ball up the field and fired a shot at the goal, but Loyola's keeper Didi Haracic came up with a big save. Tech nearly had another opportunity when Brittany Popko fired a header at the net but a Loyola defender was perfectly positioned at the post to deflect the ball away.

Towards the end of the half, Shannon Mayrose laid out as she dove at a ball in front of the goal and headed it in attempt to score but Haracic was there again for another big save.

Tech took the shooting edge in the first half 14-1, while it was a true team effort from the Greyhounds in the first half as they recorded three team saves.

The hard work finally paid off for Michels in front of the net as she was able to get a hold of a Kelsey Loupee corner kick and head it into the back of the net in the 49th minute.

On a broken play that saw the ball get served into the box, Kelly Conheeny got a hold of the loose ball in the box and brought it out a few steps to get a better look at the net. Despite the readjustment, Haracic stopped the attempt.

Remaining persistent, Conheeny continued to attack through the second half and eventually put the Hokies up 2-0 in the 67th minute. After Jazmine Reeves was taken down just inches outside the 18-yard box, Tech was awarded a free kick that was lifted over the Loyola wall and soared over the keeper's hands into the back of the net.

Tech tacked on another goal at the 78:14 mark when Anne Lumpkin served in a long ball from the right sideline that Katie Cramp was able to get a head on as she rose above the crowd and redirected the ball into the top left side of the net.

BIG FIRST HALF LIFTS TECH PAST MOUNTAINEERS, 4-0

BLACKSBURG, Va. – An impressive first-half effort lifted the Virginia Tech women's soccer team past the Appalachian State Mountaineers, 4-0, on Thursday night at Thompson Field. Shannon Mayrose led the way for the Hokies with two goals, while seven different Tech players earned a point in the game.

Tech (8-1-0) controlled the game from the start, rarely letting the Mountaineers (3-4-0) touch the ball. Subsequently, Tech was the first on the board after Jazmine Reeves brought the ball into the right corner and crossed it to the middle of the field, connecting with a diving Kelly Conheeny who redirected the ball into the goal for the 1-0 lead, 24 minutes into the match.

Less than five minutes later, the Hokies struck again, this time it was Mayrose with the diving header in the box. Kelsey Mitchell served the ball from just outside the 18-yard box and Mayrose had space to position herself and get a head on the ball to advance Tech's lead to two goals.

The rapid scoring continued for the Hokies in the 31st minute as Mayrose again found the back of the net. Kelsey Loupee was the set-up man as she received a ball from the right side of the field but was unable to turn for a shot so she kicked it back outside the 18 to Mayrose, who buried the strong shot in the 31st minute.

Ten minutes before halftime Tech tacked on another goal when Brittany Michels rose above the crowd and headed in a corner kick from Anne Lumpkin.

The Hokies took a 4-0 advantage, as well as the 10-0 shooting edge into the halftime break.

Possession remained in Tech's favor throughout the second half as it continued to power shots at the Appalachian State goal.

Though the score would not change in the second half, Tech never allowed the Mountaineers to take a single shot in the game, a season-first, and took 14 shots of its own by match's end. The closest Appalachian State came to a shot was the one corner kick it took in the second half, while the Hokies tallied seven in the game.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. – The Virginia Tech women's soccer team fell to the No. 11 Virginia Cavaliers, 4-0, in ACC action Thursday night at Klockner Stadium. The Hokies fell to 11-5-1 overall and 3-4-1 in the conference, while the Cavaliers improved to 12-3-1 on the season and 6-2-1 in the ACC.

Virginia came out strong in the first half, taking the first shot of the game two minutes in, but Tech's keeper Dayle Colpitts was there to make the shot. The Hokies took the first corner kick of the game at the 5:41 mark and the strong Cavalier defense was there to flush the ball out of the box.

The Cavaliers continued to attack as Caroline Miller shot a high ball that ricocheted off the cross bar into the back of the goal over Colpitts' head. Morgan Brian and Erica Hollenberg recorded the assists to help put the first point on the board at the 12:33 mark.

Tech started to come alive taking two shots on goal and a corner kick in the 27th minute, but a foul on the Hokies rewarded Virginia with a free kick at the top of the box about 20 yards out. Julia Roberts fired a high ball over Colpitts' head to make it a 2-0 lead at 30:42. The Hokies recorded four more shots and a corner kick but was not enough to find the back of the net. The two teams would go into the intermission with the Cavaliers up 2-0.

Virginia took the shot advantage in the first half, taking seven to Tech's six, while the Hokies recorded three corners.

The Cavaliers continued the momentum at the start of the second half, as Brian headed a goal off a long cross from Amanda Fancher and Julia Roberts to put Virginia up 3-0 at the 53:11 mark.

HOKIES STUN NO. 8 NORTH CAROLINA, 1-0

BLACKSBURG, Va. – Junior Kelly Conheeny lifts the Virginia Tech women's soccer team over the No. 8 North Carolina Tar Heels, 1-0, in the 49th minute with the game-winning goal. The victory marks the second defeat over the Tar Heels in Tech's program history. Oct. 4, 2009 was the first time the Hokies defeated North Carolina by the same score in Blacksburg.

Conheeny's game-winner was the first time this year she scored on an ACC opponent as well as her 12th career game-winning goal. As a junior, she sits first in Tech's all-time record books in game-winning goals, three higher than the runner-up, former-teammate Marika Gray, who was the first Hokie to score in a win over the Tar Heels two years ago.

North Carolina (11-3-1, 6-2-1 ACC) came out taking the first shot of the game by Courtney Jones but it went wide, while Tech (12-5-1, 4-4-1 ACC) responded with three back-to-back shots and a corner kick. The Hokies had numerous chances to find the back of the net but all went shy of the goal. Tech's keeper Dayle Colpitts made the only save of the half six minutes in when the Tar Heels fired a low shot from 15 yards out.

Tech took the shot advantage in the first half, shooting eight to the Tar Heel's five. Sophomore Jazmine Reeves led both teams going into the break, taking four shots but it was not enough to put a point on the board. The two teams would go into the break still scoreless.

The two teams came out in the second right where they left off, North Carolina recorded two corner kicks early at the start of play but Tech's defense was there to flush the ball out. North Carolina's Meg Morris took the first shot of the half in the 48th minute, before Conheeny was set up by a Reeves cross and fired one low in the far corner past the Tar Heels' new keeper, Anna Sieloff, to put the only point on the board at the 49:13 mark.

North Carolina turned the intensity up finishing the half with eight more shots and five on goal, but was not enough to tie the score. Tech had a chance to make the score 2-0 late in the game in the 84th minute when Reeves dribbled the ball down the field, juking the keeper and firing a hard shot that hit the post and Anne Lumpkin tried to rebound the ball, but shot went just wide of the goal.

As a team, the Hokies outshot the Tarheels 15-14, while North Carolina out cornered Tech 9-3. Reeves led both teams with six shots, while Conheeny and freshman Kelsey Loupee each recorded two. The Hokies' 15 shots marks the first time in six years that Tech has recorded double-figure shots against North Carolina.

Colpitts finished the day recording her 10th career shutout, including six on the season for the Hokies. The sophomore keeper charted six saves this afternoon, while improving to 7-4-1 on the year. Adelaide Gay and Anna Sieloff split time in the goal, while Sieloff tallied two saves and was charted for the loss bringing her to 3-3-1 on the season.

TECH FALLS TO NO. 17 FLORIDA STATE, 2-0

BLACKSBURG, VA. – The Virginia Tech women's soccer team came up just short against the No. 17 Florida State Seminoles, falling 2-0 at Thompson Field Thursday evening. The Hokies honored the team's four senior, Brittany Michels, Rachel Beaumont, Katie Cramp and Brittany Popko, prior to the game as they took to Thompson Field for the final time in their Tech career.

Florida State (12-6-0, 5-5-0 ACC) began the game attacking early as it fired two shots and earned a corner kick in the opening seven minutes of the match. Play would continue on to be back-and-forth from there. Tech (12-6-1, 4-5-1 ACC) first struck in the 21st minute when Kelly Conheaney struck, but the ball soared high.

Though the Seminoles did not dominate the first half, they controlled possession for much of the period and it eventually paid off in the 34th minute when Tiffany McCarty buried a shot into the bottom right side of the net, just beyond the reach of Tech's keeper Dayle Colpitts. McCarty received a pass up the field from Tori Huster and she quickly took off down the middle of the field straight for the goal, releasing the shot just inside the 18-yard box.

Taking that lead into the halftime break, Florida State outshot the Hokies 7-1 in the opening period with McCarty taking three shots as the only player to strike more than once. Colpitts tallied three saves in the half.

The second half began in similar fashion, but the Seminoles were able to capitalize much earlier on as Huster made it 2-0 in the 55th minute. Huster had an open look on net from about seven yards out after receiving a cross pass that was relayed down the field by McCarty and Jessica Price.

Tech upped its time of possession in the second half as play often remained in the middle of the field. Conheaney struck again for the Hokies, this time in the 63rd minute but her shot was blocked from 12 yards out, forcing a corner kick. Kelsey Loupee served the ball in on the corner but the aggressive Florida State defense quickly cleared it out. Balanced play dominated the closing minutes of the match as Amanda Gerhard's shot in the 82nd minute was the only attempt taken by either team in the closing 20 minutes of the game.

Florida State outshot the Hokies 9-3 in the match, though Tech held the Seminoles to just two shots in the second half.

Conheaney finished the match with two shots, while Colpitts played the complete game in net and tallied three saves on the evening.

McCarty led the way for the Seminoles with three shots and three points as she put away the go-ahead goal and assisted the second score. Huster was the only other player in the match to tally more than one shot as she fired twice and finished the day with three points as well. Kelsey Wys got the win for Florida State but was not forced to make a save in the match.

HOKIES BATTLE BUT FALL SHORT TO DUKE, 1-0

DURHAM, N.C. – The Virginia Tech women's soccer team fell short to the top-seeded Duke Blue Devils, 1-0, in the first round of the ACC Tournament Sunday afternoon at Koskinen Stadium. Duke recorded an early first-half goal to secure the victory.

Two minutes into the first half, Duke (17-2-1) found the back of the net after the Blue Devils were awarded a free kick on the near side about 25 yards out. Molly Patham took a shot that the Tech defense deflected and Laura Weinberg dished the ball to Kelly Cobb that sneaked past the Hokie keeper, Dayle Colpitts as the 2:51 mark.

Tech (12-7-1) responded with the first corner kick of the game a few seconds later, but the Blue Devil defense flushed the ball out of the box. Senior Katie Cramp had a chance to tie the game, when Jazmine Reeves dribbled down the far sideline and dished it to Cramp 20 yards out but her shot just missed the goal.

The two teams traded a couple shots before Duke tried to put another point of the board but Colpitts was there to make the big save for the Hokies in the 31st minute.

In the 42nd minute the Blue Devils recorded two shots and two corners but the Tech defense remained strong and kept Duke out of the net. The half would end with the Blue Devils still up 1-0.

In an intense half, Duke outshot the Hokies 11-5, while Colpitts remained strong in goal picking up four saves. Tech recorded two corner kicks, while the Blue Devils charted three.

The intensity picked up right where the two teams left off from the first half, Shannon Mayrose took the first shot of the second but it hit the crossbar. Tech turned up the momentum and had several opportunities to put a point on the board, but the new Duke keeper Meghan Thomas was there to stop each shot.

In the final two minutes, Tech recorded two shots and three corner kicks, including two corners in the final seconds of the game. The Hokies brought all 11 players into the box to try to tie the score but Duke's tall keeper grabbed the ball to let the final ticks run out.

The Hokies recorded nine shots in the half, but the Blue Devils outshot Tech 19-14. Despite allowing one goal Colpitts played strong the entire game, picking up six saves on the day. Tara Campbell started the day for Duke, but left midway through the first due to injury. Thomas recorded the win for the Blue Devils, while stopping three shots.

TECH STUNS WEST VIRGINIA 1-0 IN FIRST ROUND OF NCAA TOURNAMENT

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. – The Virginia Tech women's soccer team defeated BIG EAST champion West Virginia 1-0 in the first round of the 2011 NCAA Tournament on Saturday night at the Dick Dlesk Soccer Stadium. Kelly Conheaney connected on her 13th career game-winner in the 17th minute.

This is the second time in program history that the Hokies have advanced in the NCAA Tournament. In 2009, Tech made it all the way to the Sweet 16, earning the program's first Tournament victories in the process.

The Mountaineers finished with a 17-5-0 record on the season and saw their 10-game winning streak at home snapped. Tech improved to 13-7-1 overall. This is only the fourth time in 12 tries that WVU has not advanced in the NCAA Tournament.

The Hokies came out strong in the first half, creating an early opportunity two minutes into the game when Jazmine Reeves sent a cross into the box to Conheaney, who was close to the goal. Conheaney tried to sneak it in, but WVU's keeper was there to make the save.

At the 16:56 mark, the Hokies put the only point on the board when Anne Lumpkin slotted a ball into the box to Conheaney, who sent a line drive past the Mountaineer keeper to put Tech up 1-0. Conheaney tallied her 11th goal of the season.

Conheaney's goal was the first time the Hokies had found the back of the net in the first half since Oct. 13 when Tech defeated Clemson 3-0.

Tech outshot the Mountaineers 7-3 in the first, while taking five corner kicks to WVU's one. Both goalies notched one save each, while Conheaney and Lumpkin led the Hokies with two shots apiece.

In the second, the two teams came out aggressively, as Tech committed five fouls in the first 10 minutes. Five yellow cards were given, all in the second, with the Mountaineers receiving four.

WVU created a number of chances to try to tie the score, but its 11 shots with only two on goal were not enough to find the back of the net. The Hokies took six shots, but focused more on shutting out the Mountaineers.

As a team, the Mountaineers outshot the Hokies 14-13, while Tech out-cornered WVU 8-2. Dayle Colpitts recorded the win for the Hokies, making three saves and recording her 11th career shutout. In goal for WVU was Sara Keane, who made two saves on the night.

Colpitts moved up in Tech's all-time record book, as she sits tied for second in career shutouts as a sophomore.
